500 SEEKING POSITIONS AT CRATER LAKE

Every State of Union and Nearly All Colleges Are Represented

INTEREST INCREASING

R. W. Price Says Applications for Jobs This Year Greater Than Ever

Every state in the union and practically all colleges in the United States are represented in the ever-growing list of applications for summer jobs at Crater Lake national park, according to announcement today by R. W. Price, managing director of Crater Lake lodge.

The 500th application for summer work was received after midnight last night from a young university student at Eugene, who called Mr. Price by long-distance asking for a job.

Popularity Grows

The activity shown by the college youths from the 48 states of the union indicates the increasing popularity of Crater Lake national park, and likewise shows that Southern Oregon's famed resort is becoming better known throughout the nation.

Included in the letters of application are requests from approximately 75 per cent of the employees who have been with Mr. Price at Crater Lake for the past five years, and so far as possible these old employees will be re-employed this year.

Sends Publicity

Mr. Price answers each application whether he has a job to offer or not, and incloses literature of Crater Lake and other Oregon publicity in each letter mailed from his office.

Approximately 70 persons are employed at Crater Lake during the summer months, most of them being college students who are thus enabled to help finance their way through school.

This action was authorized at an extended meeting of the directors of the club last night, according to reports from various members today.

LITHIA PARK IS PRAISED; AUTO TOURISTS DELIGHTED; WARM COMMENDATION GIVEN

Auto tourists who linger for a day or two in Ashland's delightful Lithia Park auto camp have nothing but praise for the park and its accommodations. This is indicated by the brief comments which are inscribed by tourists in the register at the community house, where they are permitted to set down in writing their impressions of Ashland and the park.

Following is one written tribute from the pen of Charles E. Pardon of Chicago, who, with his family, was a recent tourist in Ashland:

"The first time we visited this camp was in 1922. It was the best camp in the country then and it is 100 per cent better now. We certainly do enjoy our visits to Ashland and its park, and never stay less than three days. Thanks, folks, thanks."

Mrs. Jane Coffman of Milton, Ore., who is just completing an auto tour of the south, had this to say:

"Lithia Park is one of God's twinkling stars which illuminates the world."

Mrs. Jack Price of St. Louis, Mo., another recent tourist, gave her impressions in these words:

Due to the interest displayed and prompt work shown by Clyde Malone, city manager, a real road sign is now placed along the highway in front of the new Southern Oregon normal school, which informs auto tourists concerning the new normal school building which is now under construction.

The sign originally placed there was painted so poorly and placed so badly that tourists had to stop their cars if they wanted to read it.

Mr. Malone noticed its many defects and got into action yesterday, demanding of the chamber of commerce that a decent sign be placed. As a result the new sign was up today and tourists are able to read it from a distance of several hundred feet from either direction.

PROHIBITION AGENT IN IDAHO IS BOMB TARGET

Federal Sleuth at Lewiston Escapes Injury in Attempted Murder

START INVESTIGATION

Is Second Time Within a Month That Assassination Effort is Made

LEWISTON, Idaho, March 31.—(U.P.)—An attempt to assassinate James Rice, a federal prohibition agent, failed late last night when a bomb placed in his bedroom exploded without injuring him. It lacked sufficient strength to carry out the murderous plans of its makers.

The room was almost totally wrecked but Rice was merely stunned and recovered consciousness within a short time.

State and federal authorities blame bootleggers against whom Rice has been very active during recent weeks.

This is the second attempt within the past month to assassinate dry sleuths, as a state prohibition agent at Bend, Ore., was the target of bombers last month. In the Bend case a house was badly wrecked although a dry agent escaped injury.

Federal authorities today started a searching investigation of the Lewiston bomb outrage.

All field surveying for this extensive improvement work has been completed, and the resolution authorizes the calling for bids for the work.

Considerable discussion was had concerning the grades for sidewalks, but this was left to City Engineer Walker and City Manager Malone. It is understood these two officials will insist that all walks be laid to grade, as urged by Mayor Johnson. Some property owners wanted jobs in the walks in front of their property in order to prevent the destruction of a few trees, but it was thought that Ashland should lay out its new sidewalk improvements according to proper and uniform engineering plans.

D. H. McNair was given authority to put up a gasoline station at his Park Garage. The station adjoins park property and Mr. McNair has agreed to keep the city parking in good condition throughout the year.
