CHAPMAN DEFENDS SENATOR STANFIELD

During the past week one of the candidates for the nomination for United States senator has broadcasted from Portland what is purported to be a record of Senator Stanfield's absence from his seat in the senate in 1921 and 1922.

In a political campaign there is a constant temptation for even the fair-minded man to tell half truths about his opponent—to stop just short of giving the complete record. It takes a very fine sense of honor and justice to resist this temptation, and candidate Stelwer has evidently succumbed to the temptation, when no doubt citizen Stelwer would have resisted.

The OREGON VOTER has not been a supporter of Senator Stanfield in this campaign, but Mr. Chapman's sense of justice and fairness prompted him to write an editorial in defense of Senator Stanfield, which is printed below: STANFIELD DIDN'T SIT Candidate Stelwer comes out and brands Stanfield as a "trustful senator" because of Stanfield's frequent absence from Washington during senate sessions in the early part of his term.

Where was Stanfield worth more to Oregon, as an office boy sitting on a chair, or doing exactly what he was doing in helping to rescue the agricultural and livestock industries from the 1920 smash? Was not Stanfield originating, initiating and organizing the $50,000,000 pool the bankers put up for agricultural relief in December, 1921? Was he not the man who finally put over the plan for the War Finance Corporation to come to the rescue of agriculture. And force tariff adjustment? And was not his work at this time of far greater benefit to Oregon than his mere voting and listening presence in his seat at Washington?

And take the personal side of it into consideration. In the spring of 1920 Stanfield was worth $3,000,000 or more. He was backing the movement to make a wool center out of Portland. He bought $1,500,000 of wool at 40 cents and shipped it to Portland, and went on over $2,000,000 of other sheepmen's paper. He also put something like $1,750,000 into feeding. A few days before the primaries which nominated him for the senate, the wool and sheep market went to hell, and Stanfield was not only wiped out, but found himself owing $1,000,000 or $2,000,000. He was tempted to decline the nomination and confine himself entirely to his own affairs, so as to pull himself and his creditors out of the hole. But his advisors told him he would have to see it through, get elected . . . Paid Adv. 193-1

WHAT 1800 FAMILIES KNOW ABOUT ELECTRIC COOKING THEY will tell you it is a new kind of luxury—one that doesn't cost more to enjoy. Of course you have always appreciated the advantages of cooking by electricity. You know that it means no more fuel to carry; no more ashes to lug. You know that electricity is the ideal cooking heat; economical because it is turned on when you need it—not before; turned off when you're through—not later. But perhaps you would like to know exactly what it costs—in dollars and cents. The 1800 satisfied families who now use electric ranges served with electricity by this company would gladly show you their bills, if they could. We have made an average of these bills, so that we may give you the facts. The average cost of electric lights alone in all homes served by this company in Oregon is $2.20 a month. The average cost of their electric lights and electric cooking together is $5.62 a month. For the difference, could you buy ordinary fuel for cooking? And if you could, would you want to? Whenever you decide to investigate this question of electric cooking closely, your nearest dealer will tell you many interesting things. And he is prepared to install your new electric range at once, on convenient terms. THE CALIFORNIA OREGON POWER COMPANY YOUR PARTNER IN PROGRESS
