BIG DECREASE IN DEATH RATE DUE TO PURE MILK

By Fitch C. B. Mattison, M. D. Member Gorges Memorial Institute (Written for United Press) CHICAGO, May 23.—The lives of many thousands of babies are being saved every year through the application of knowledge developed by physicians of the country. In a short period of years the infant death rate has been cut one-half. A large share of the credit for this remarkable saving in human life must be given to the dairymen as well as to the medical profession.

In the production of "Certified Milk" few people realize the rigid sanitary and hygiene requirements that are enforced, so that babies and growing children may have fresh, clean, pure milk of highest quality. The dairy which produces "Certified Milk" is as clean and sanitary as a hospital. Each cow is thoroughly washed and scrubbed with brush and water, rinsed and dried with clean cloth before being milked. No dirt of any kind is allowed to remain. The barns are immaculately clean. Ceilings and walls are painted a bright, clean white. The concrete floors are scrubbed twice daily.

The milkers are as careful about their persons as are the nurses in a hospital. They wear clean, white suits and caps while milking. A clean suit is worn each day. All pails, bottles and apparatus which come into contact with the milk are thoroughly sterilized by steam sterilizers at a temperature of 212 degrees for two hours. No chance for disease germs with such treatment.

It takes but a few minutes from the time the milk leaves the cow at a temperature of 96 degrees, until it is cooled to a temperature of 36 degrees, automatically bottled, capped and sealed. This accomplishment is worthy of mention because it is one of the secrets of the freshness and wholesomeness of Certified Milk.

The cows which produce Certified Milk must have an absolutely clean bill of health from the Medical Commission's veterinarian. The whole herd must be tested semi-annually for tuberculosis. Each animal is free from this terrible disease which affects such a great percentage of the dairy cows of the United States. All new cows, before being allowed to enter the Certified Milk

Because disease may be spread through the milk, even though the milk itself is pure, every precaution is taken with the workers. These precautions are even more severe than those affecting the cows. All handlers of milk must undergo a thorough medical examination upon employment, and this examination is repeated every thirty days. Cows and men employed in the dairy are clean and healthy. The word "Certified" as applied to milk is registered in the United States patent office, the object being to protect it from being degraded by dairymen not under contract with a Milk Commission appointed by a Medical Commission.
