THE DANCE REFERENDUM

Last night the city council diverged from routine siness long enough to stir up another turmoil within

The Daily Tidings regrets this action by the city chencil; regrets it sufficiently to state emphatically that as unnecessary and that it should be refuted when their crendum is held.

Further than this, The Daily Tidings states that the ble of Ashland should take definite action at the earlpossible moment to get this question settled definand finally, and that then we should work forward, ackward, that we should construct, not try to tear n the few attractions and advantages which we have. More will be said in connection with this question The Daily Tidings wants to extend to the Lithians the other progressive, clean, constructive organizaas of Ashland, who conduct most of the dances in this tv. its complete and unequivocal support in their effort be taken with the emergency get this question, which oreates a spirit of unrest and clause was held. ertainty in our city, settled once and for all time.

"HELPS SOLVE "FARM PROBLEMS"

One out of every six farmers in the country now has radio set. A good one, too; a recent survey made by the partment of Agriculture shows that the average cost seen $175, and they can be tuned in for distant stations. Up in Alberta and Saskatchewan, Canada, on the ly wheat farms, the proportion with radio sets is even!

In many cases, grain and live stock scalpers have cted to this radio growth; they say it gives the farmer a chance to know from the colleges and federal authorit the real prices as early as the dealers themselves and they can no longer speculate on the farmers' igice of walkies! This is an important fact in explainhe general presperity frend of farming - to know s and actualty get what products are worth.

Jo Coffman, former Klamath Falls prize fighter, will again stand trial in Yreka on the charge organization, but said he felt the dance in the park would be only a stepping stone to other dance, which were not conducted as carefully as the Lithians conducted the necessary signatures.

Intensive discussion of the dance question prevailed throughten.

Councilman Taylor, in response to Nim's questioning, said he had never attended a pavilion dance and agreed that it was proper to submit the question to a vote of the people, as he did not want to push anything through with ap emergency clause, which would make it appear that the council was atraid.

Councilman Wiley candidly stated he favored the ordinance because he did not approve of public dancing and said he felt that, if the dances were permitted in the park, they would prove a temptation to people taking their children into the park. He admitted he had never seen any thing objectionable at the dances.
