A COMMUNITY PROBLEM

The drowning recently of Bennie Rehkopf has brought another demand for better protection of those who swim in Rogue river. It is not always the inexperienced swimmer who drowns - many times the expert is unable to help himself.

Many urge the purchase of a pulmotor, a means of artificial respiration which has often proved effective in restoring heart action in cases of drowning. Several years ago the Red Cross advised this city against such a purchase, believing the adopting of first aid as taught by them to be more effective.

Certainly something must be done to bring an end to the deaths by drowning in the Rogue. If a pulmotor is practical for this locality, no delay should be experienced in obtaining one.

There is one thing which must be done. This is to take steps to eliminate the whirlpools in the White Rocks rapids. This one place has claimed at least 10 lives in 15 years time and has been the worst place in Rogue river.

Red Cross classes in life saving will be held here, in the near future. Attendance at these might some day prevent a recurrence of the tragedy of Wednesday night.

CONSTRUCTIVE JOURNALISM

No feature of newspaper work is recognized as more important than the constructive force of journalism in promoting goodwill and cooperation among all classes and all sections of our country.

Their influence in either direction is tremendous - possibly greater than many editors are willing to admit.

Newspapers are an institution of democracy, but their power and influence can be no greater than the thought prompting and supporting their editorial policy.

CAN CONGRESS REGULATE THE TIDES?

Judging from the recent election in Iowa, it is the idea of the voters in that state that the government must do something to stabilize crop prices. A long time ago, a supposedly smart man had the sea lashed with chains in his determination to prevent the tide from rising.

AN HONEST MAN

Howard A. Harrison, proofreader on a Washington newspaper, found a $1000 bill in his pay envelope in the place of the usual $100 one.

To one of his long practice in the art of detecting mistakes, it was not especially hard for him to find that he had been overpaid. The hard part of it was taking it back to the cashier.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES F. STEWART, NEA Service Writer, WASHINGTON, President Coolidge is like a trainer in a cage of lions.

The lions mind the trainer so long as they're afraid of him. But they don't like him. That is, they don't like him in any other sense than that they'd like to eat him up.

Perhaps they could, too, but they're not sure of it. They're suspicious that he's got a gun on something up his sleeve.

But once let just one of those lions give that trainer a good scratch or take a bite out of his leg, and then let the rest of 'em see that he hasn't got a gun or anything, and it's Mr. Trainer, good night.

President Coolidge's lions are getting out of hand. How much so, it's as yet a little too soon to say. Between now and next November we shall find out.

In other words, his own national party leaders, with mighty few exceptions, never did like Calvin Coolidge.

But they were afraid of him. Or, rather, they were afraid of what they believed to be his popularity with a big majority of the voters.

Now, beyond question, his popularity has waned. Has it waned to a point where they can safely chew him up. As previously remarked, it will take a few more weeks or months to show.

Married - Moore-Olsen - The following account from the Woodburn Independent of the wedding of Miss Violette Olson and Mr. Henry W. Moore will be of interest to the many friends of the family of the bride, who are now residents of Ashland.

"Culminating a romance starting in their high school days was the wedding at nine o'clock last evening of Mr. Henry W. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore of Donald, to Miss Violette Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Olson of Ashland, formerly of this city.

"The event was held at the Olson home, 147 Central avenue, the Rev. H. F. Pemberton, of the Ashland Methodist church uniting the couple.

"Proceeding the ceremony, the bride's sister, Miss Lillian Olson, rendered a solo, "At Dawning," by Charles Wakefield Cadman.

"The bride, wearing a dress of cream georgette over cream colored satin, carried a beautiful bouquet of sweetpeas and Cecil Brunner roses sent by her brother, Oscar O. Olson of Breithaupt's, Salem.

"The bride, a lovely and talented girl, was a member of the class of '23 of Woodburn high school. For the past two years she has been teaching in the Butteville public schools.

"Mr. Moore, also a member of the same class, is an employee of the Standard Oil company at Molalla. He went south as a sergeant to Camp Jackson at Memphis, with the Howitzer Company and the day previous to his wedding his enlistment expired. They are both very popular young people and have a wide circle of friends who wish them much happiness.

"Only the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom were present: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore of Donald, his parents; the bride's sister, Mrs. Wayne Gill and children, Corinne and Herbert of Woodburn, and her parents, and sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Olson, Miss Lillian and Carroll of Ashland.

"After the wedding the young people departed in their car, for a trip to Marshfield, expecting to reach their new home in Molalla the forepart of next week.

Ashland friends also extend congratulations and good wishes.

Past Matrons Club Have Picnic - A delightful picnic by the members of the Past Matrons' Club and a number of their friends was enjoyed in Lithia Park, Thursday afternoon of last week.

This was by way of a closing number in the series of pleasant gatherings held during the winter. For the next two or three months the organization will not meet, reassembling in the fall.

The club met at two-thirty in the afternoon and spent the time very happily until six o'clock, when the delicious picnic supper was served by the hostesses for the afternoon.

Over the repast, guests lingered long, enjoying it, and the social hour very much. A business meeting was held after supper.

All present felt this meeting marked another of the red-letter occasions so frequent in the annals of the organization.

Those present were: Ch. Madame Elise - Churchman, Frank Jordan, E. D. Briggs, F. F. Whitte, Eugenia Atkinson, Ellen Wagner, Elizabeth Van Spant, Hal McNair, L. S. Brown, C. W. Nims, Leah Caldwell, Ella B. Mills, Edith Sackett, Walter Everton, August Schurman, Miss Georgia Coffey, Miss Lydia McCall, Miss Gertrude Engle, and special guests, Mrs. S. A. Peters, Sr., Worthy Matron, Mrs. Nathan Bates, Associate Matron, Mrs. Weeks of Portland, sister of Mrs. Havin Deans, Mrs. Newell Wright, of Carlin, Nevada, Mrs. Herbert McCarther, and Mrs. A. C. Briggs of Oroville, California, of Geoville, Calif., J. H. Turner.

The hostesses who arranged the happy affair were: Mrs. Ella B. Mills, Mrs. August Schurman, Mrs. Edith Sackett, Mrs. Walter Everton, Miss Gertrude Engle.

Special Honor Accorded Mrs. Josephine Crocker - Mrs. Josephine Crocker was accorded special honor at the meeting of Grand Chapter O. E. S. which convened recently in Portland.

She was one of the committee to carry greetings to A. F. and A. M. Grand Lodge and the Floral Degree was conferred upon her by Mount Scott Chapter in Grand Chapter O. E. S.

Alpha Chapter is the oldest in the state, and as its Worthy Matron, Mrs. S. A. Peters, responded very happily to the address of welcome given by the youngest chapter in the state at the reception Monday evening. Those attending from Ashland were: Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Blake, Mrs. S. A. Peters, Sr., Mrs. Nathan Bates and the Past Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Josephine Crocker.

Mrs. Crocker just returned from a month's visit at her daughter's in Snoqualmie Falls, Washington. During the time she was entertained at a week-end visit with a friend, Mrs. M. E. Kellogg at Cannon Beach, who is also Past Worthy Grand Matron of O. E. S. She visited friends in Seattle and in Portland, rounding out a vacation filled with pleasant experiences.

Program Planned - The program committee of Mt. Ashland Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution met with the Chapter Regent, Mrs. Harriet Fielding at the Ashland Public Library to arrange the year-book for the coming year.

Forward looking plans for the meetings were to be discussed and hostesses arranged for the year-making a busy afternoon.

When the schedule is completed announcement will be made and year books made ready for the opening session in the fall.

Notes of Interest to Club Women

(From the "Federation News" of June)

Mrs. G. J. Frankel, newly elected president of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, has been one of the foremost women in Oregon clubs for a number of years.

She has been treasurer of the state federation for the past five years. She is a past president of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. George T. Cochran of La Grande, who was elected vice-president, has been a member of the board of the federation for a number of years, serving a short time under Mrs. Ida T. Callahan as director and for the past three years under Mrs. Sallie Orr-Dunbar as auditor. She was the unanimous choice of the La Grande delegates.

Mrs. A. Y. Meyers of Marshfield, who was elected second vice-president, is best known to club women as the president of the Marshfield City club when it was hostess at the state convention last year. She has been for the past year chairman of one of the divisions of the American home department of the federation.

The new recording secretary, Mrs. Charles N. Blyden, has long been a prominent worker in the Dallas Woman's club. She was chairman of Folk county in the department of press and publicity of the federation during the past year and is well remembered as the winner of the $10 cash prize for the best advance news story given by that department.

Mrs. Charles E. Wells, who was chosen treasurer, is the president of the Hillsboro Coffee club. She has for many years been on the school board of that city and is now chairman.
