MODERN HOMES ARE SCORNED IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW. (By mail to UP)—"There's no place like home," the peasants of the village Lugansk in the timber district of Northern Russia, told the state timber trust which wanted to take over the village land for its work and proposed to build the peasants new and more comfortable houses in a locality a few miles away. The only condition on which they consented to move at all was that the new houses should be exact duplicates of the old with few and small windows and dark, smoky interiors. They watched the architects closely at their work; and one old peasant woman raised such a disturbance when she found that the ceiling in the new house would be higher than it was in the old that the engineers had to raise the floor at great trouble and expense, in order to still her outcries.

She Walked Home From Airplane

At last it has happened—a girl has had to walk home from an airplane! Emily de Voe, of San Francisco, went up with Harold L. Baymouther and had to kick his ignition switch off to force him to land because he swore he'd carry her to Los Angeles and make her marry him. But after having him arrested she felt sorry for him—and here she two are, planning on the marriage that she says will occur shortly.

Fruit Harvest To Be Big This Year

country. Conditions in the Kootenay district are promising. MEXICO CITY, (UP)—Manuel Carlos Reyes, a Mexican inventor, has developed a gyrocopter for airplanes which he claims will enable them to land vertically. He calls the device a "helicoptop" and has left for San Antonio where he will demonstrate the machine. It is reported to differ from the Cierva invention in Spain and not to conflict with Cierva's patents.

BLOUSE BACKS TO BE LATEST STYLE

BY HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, July 7.—(UP)—Bloused backs will put a crimp in the straight-lined silhouette this Fall. Nearly all of the cloth coats and many dresses designed for late Summer and early Fall wear have bloused waist effects; the blouse extending at the rear only, at the front only all the way about. Coats, as a rule have the blouse extending low over the hips at the back only, the front being plain and straight-lined. Even some of the Winter fur models used the bloused back. The skirts of bloused-back coats are invariably very scant and short having no flare to them. The full upper portion and scant skirt portion gives a very youthful line to the garment. On cloth models fur is used on the collar and cuffs mostly although in some cases it is repeated in border effect at the hem. Dresses are bloused all the way about, in front or at the rear. Evening models as well as street models show these tendencies. Even the tailored jumper dress is becoming a bit bloused being held in by a narrow belt at the hips. Most women will find the bloused blouse becoming. Straight lines, such as we are familiar with, feel no one after all. If the figure is plump straight lines tend to accentuate the curves. This is particularly true when the rear of the straight-lined gown is considered. The dress that is bloused at the back and for this reason alone the stout person will find it becoming. Slender persons will welcome the dress that is bloused both in front and in the rear after they have become accustomed to seeing it, since it offers us something new in the way of silhouette.

The blouse always extends low over the hips to give the desired long waist effect. In soft materials such as chiffons, silk crepes, chiffon velvets, etc., the bloused line makes a youthful evening contour.

Oper a Singer is Real Farmerette

SEATTLE, Wash., July 7.—(UP)—How hay happens to grow in stocks and the proper method of approaching a setting hen are no mysteries to Margurite Cobbe, who in October will sing with Challapin in the coloratura role in "The Barber of Seville." She is spending her summer on a farm just as she used to spend them before a famous opera critic visiting in her home town, told her parents she had a type.

That was on the Cobbe farm near Fresno, Cal. Her father has since come to Saget Beach to live. Years on the operatic and concert stage have not dulled Miss Cobbe's recollections of farm life. However, the artistic manner in which she wears her overalls and sundresser smocks more of Broadway than the old childhood farm.

Miss Cobbe will be the only American principal in the company when the opera opens in Montreal October 9. She was selected from about 60 other singers by the famous Challapin.

GERMAN CABARETS BERLIN, (UP)

German cabarets are struggling desperately for survival. In Berlin alone, the number of amusement haunts numbering 2000 during the post-war inflation period, has now shriveled to three large and nine small vaudeville houses, 38 cabarets and 11 dance halls.

With a million less inhabitants Paris has about three times as many places of entertainment.

CIVILIAN AVIATION LIMITED IN JAPAN

TOKYO, (UP)—Under the new aviation law for Korea, to be put into force in December, no civilian planes will be permitted to cross over the Korean strait, because so much of these waters are included in the strategic zones. Only army and navy flyers will be allowed to take this short cut from Korea to Japan or vice versa.

SWEDISH PRIME MINISTER A FORMER STONE CUTTER

STOCKHOLM, (UP)—A former stone cutter, Carl Gustaf Ekman, is now prime minister of Sweden. The democratization of Sweden in the past hundred years is illustrated by the fact that until 1928 a commander had ever served as member of the royal council, whereas in the present cabinet not a single nobleman is included.

California To Revive Racing

SACRAMENTO, Cal., (U.P.)—A determined effort to return horse racing to California is being made by a committee composed of a large number of Californians prominent in all walks of life.

Years ago, California ranked with Kentucky and Maryland in the horses it bred, and the races it ran. California thoroughbreds appeared on tracks the country over, and were entered in all worth while stakes.

Wagering on racing became a felony by action of the California Legislature in 1912. That spelled death to racing.

Relentless racing was tried two years ago on the Tanforan track. Two 30-day race meets were utter failures.

A campaign is now under way to place an initiative measure on the November ballot for the revival of racing under supervision of a state racing board.

The measure, as drafted, would provide that racetrack profits exceeding nine per cent a year on the actual investment would go to the state for the benefit of agricultural fairs and the veterans' welfare board.

Half going to the veterans' board, would be used for purposes designated in the existing veterans' welfare act. The other half, going to the board of agriculture.

Oh! I Thought You were Mr. Jones

It's a bad moment — when you realize you've spoken to someone you don't know. Everybody makes mistakes, of course, but no matter how much poise you have, you feel a bit silly anyhow.

The chances are you didn't know Mr. Jones really well — or you'd never have made the blunder. You've never seen anyone you'd actually mistake for your brother or sister or husband or wife, have you? It's casual acquaintance that leads to errors.

People look alike; so do razor strops and flower seeds and hats and pianos. If you want to buy a Jones hat and you know all there is to know about a Jones hat, you're not likely to blunder and get some other hat. The same is true for a Jones piano or a Jones razor strop.

The easiest way to know everything there is to know about such things is to read advertising. The advertisements in this newspaper are here to tell you quickly and truthfully the main facts about the things you buy and use. They are here to prevent you from making mistakes. Mistakes that may be costly.

CTC Extra Tough Tread Built to Stand Rough Roads

CTC tires out-demonstrate all other tires on rough, rocky, rutted mountain roads. These tires give greater mileage under chopped-up road conditions because CTC tires are built differently and better. Two of the eleven exclusive CTC features which make them a superior tire are the scientific tread design and the extra-tough secret process tread. And before a tire leaves the factory hard task masters test it 20 ways. Have a talk today with the CTC dealer in your town. He will tell you more about the extra mileage CTC gives and how they actually save money.
