FACTORY GRABBING

Indiscriminate efforts on the part of American cities to grow a forest of smoke stacks by locating new industries within their limits were condemned by the conference of industrial managers of chambers of commerce held recently in Washington under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

These trained specialists declared themselves committed in a practical way to the principle of seeking to locate in their cities only those industries for which there is prospect of economical and profitable operation. They concluded that the uneconomically located factory is a loss not only to those who have invested their money in the enterprise but to the community in which it is located.

The conference discussed among other things, the industrial survey as the basis for the determination of economical factory locations. Information thus obtained is drawn upon in presenting the situation from the viewpoint of a particular industry. It covers the natural resources of the community, its industrial resources; its condition of industrial operation, including cost of labor, fuel, water power, materials, transportation; its social conditions and conditions of trade; its financial conditions and available factory sites.

If the conditions disclosed do not fit the industry, it is better for the community, the conference decided, to do without it rather than suffer the ill effects its subsequent failure would entail.

AMERICA'S GROWING WEALTH

The first government attempt to inventory the dollar value of the wealth of this country is that just finished by the Federal Trade Commission.

It reveals that the United States is richer than France and Great Britain combined. The total is set down at 353 billions!

Its annual rate of increase is fifteen billions. Agriculture is first in the inventory at a total of sixty-four billions. Manufacturing and mining come next at forty-nine billions. Railroads and utilities are third—fifty-six billions. Government property—federal, state and local—is the fourth item on the asset side of the balance sheet, at forty-two billions. All other wealth—personal property, wholesale, retail and shipping properties grouped together in one jack-pot make up the balance, 152 billions.

Amazing as is this array of figures thus stated, it is commonplace in comparison with the fact, adduced by the Commission's investigation, that in ten years the total increased 72 per cent. Or, stated in terms of billions, from 205 billions in 1912 to 353 billions in 1922, the closing date of the inventory.

Every business man will remember that 1922 was an abnormal year — perhaps subnormal is the better way to state it — for it was the year following the depression of 1921, the year of deflation. The total stated, therefore, is without doubt lower than it would have been had there been no depression, and materially lower, it is reasonable to suppose, than a similar inventory for the current year would disclose.

UNITED STATES HAS CHEAPEST GASOLINE

While no exact comparison can be made, domestic gasoline prices are both relatively and actually much lower than prevail generally in other parts of the world, it is shown by a Department of Commerce tabulation of retail gasoline and kerosene prices in various countries throughout the world on or about April 1, 1926. Factories making for inequalities in prices include distance from sources of supply, quantity consumed, transportation costs, import duties, excise taxes, distribution and marketing costs, quality of gasoline sold, and many others.

Foreign prices a gallon range from 15 cents in Bucharest, Roumania, to 98 cents in British South Africa. Average of tank wagon prices in 30 representative American cities on April 10, was 17 cents a gallon, with taxes on the various states ranging from one to five cents; and service station prices two to four cents a gallon above the tank wagon price, plus taxes, where levied.

The Dual Throne

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Pennsylvania and Illinois are normally so strongly Republican that a Democratic nomination to the United States Senate in either one of them generally is a mere gesture.

Due, however, to the activities of Senator Jim Reed's slash fund investigating committee, the sentiment among Democrats in Congress is that George Brennan stands a reasonably good chance of election in Illinois this year and that William B. Wilson is at least a possibility in Pennsylvania.

Of course, so far as Illinois is concerned, this is conditioned on the testimony the Reed committee succeeds in digging up. That there was widespread corruption in connection with the Republican senatorial primary in Pennsylvania has been shown already. That the Illinois Republican senatorial primary was just as bad, or worse, has only been charged, not established.

Assuming that the committee does establish the substantial truth of the Illinois charges made by Senator Caraway, there are various reasons why politicians think more of a lift will be given to Brennan, in that state, than they believe has been given to Wilson in Pennsylvania.

For one thing, Illinois is not so rock-ribbed a Republican state as Pennsylvania. While Republican most of the time, the Sucker State always is a little doubtful.

Quaker Oats "stands by" you through the morning

Has the "bulk," too, that makes laxatives seldom needed

THOUSANDS have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with breakfasts that lack in certain important food elements.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 50% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

the Keystone State almost never the least bit so.

Then, too, the prohibition, from all indications, will be the main issue in both states, and, according to the political sharks' calculations, it will be a good issue for Brennan and a bad one for Wilson.

This is on the theory that both states are wet. Election may prove one or both of them to be otherwise. Nevertheless, such is the "dope," here in Washington.

Madrid has a plague of white ants. Picnics around the outskirts of the city would rid it of the pests.

When a poor man gets married he knows it's just his winning ways.

Home today is where the family isn't.

If a man isn't moral by choice, he can never be made moral by law.

Never waste time arguing with a man for whose opinion you have no respect.

A business man's character is estimated according to the kind of goods he carries.

Hez Heck says: "Many a fellow feels able to build a garage when he don't feel he kin afford a house."

OREGON FILMS ARE SHOWN IN EAST

Through the auspices of A. A. A. clubs throughout America, the Oregon State Motor Association is distributing the new pictures made in the Pacific Northwest on the tourist centers of America that more interest may be created in the state than at the national conference of secretaries of more than 500 affiliated clubs in the A. A. A. organization, held in Washington, D. C., last winter. Geo. O. Brandenburg, general manager of the Oregon State Motor Association, showed four reels of the Oregon films that created a great deal of interest.

As a result of that showing, calls have been coming in for the films to be shown by the various A. A. A. clubs interested in the co-operative work in the A. A. A. clubs in the tourist industry.

The latest demand for the Oregon films came from the Warren Automobile Club of Warren, O., under a request from William A. Korth, assistant secretary of the Warren club. In his request Mr. Korth says: "On July 14th our club is holding its annual meeting and we would like very much to use a set of your films at this meeting."

A complete set of films taken by the educational and publicity department of the Oregon State Motor Association was sent the Ohio club for their showing. These films have created no little interest in Motor Club circles as the Oregon State Motor Association is the only organization of that nature which has incorporated into its organization a motion picture department for the education of the general resources of its district.

"Let Me Express My Appreciation" writes a client, "for the manner in which you conducted the funeral of my beloved husband."

It is just one of the many such letters we are constantly receiving. We value them highly for they tell the story of a sacred mission, properly performed. In each case, it means that we have done what we could to lessen the pain of those remaining behind. Our staff is trained for just this very thing—to serve, quietly, efficiently.

What a dog's life some poor old pipes lead!

POOR OLD PIPE! Looks like he's gone to the dogs! He was a good pipe, too. The pick of hundreds. . . But he's never had a chance. All his life he's been abused. . . neglected. . . treated like a dog!

It's no way to bring out the best that's in him. A good pipe must get good tobacco. . . it should get Granger Rough Cut. No other tobacco is so certain to make the most of any pipe.

For Granger is made solely for pipes. . . made of the finest pipe tobacco that grows. . . mellowed by an old-time secret recipe that takes out all "bite" and "harshness" and makes Granger mild. . . spicy. . . and mellow!

Being "rough-cut," too, its large flakes burn slowly and smoke cool. It brings joy into the life of any pipe. Brings perfect pipe-satisfaction into the life of any smoker.

GRANGER ROUGH CUT

The half-pound version is 40¢ per pound, the full-pound version, 35¢ per pound. Both in 10¢ packages.

Granger Rough Cut is made by the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company
