Rev. T. L. Jones Died Recently—

Rev. T. L. Jones, the last of the early Oregon Circuit Riders, recently died in Portland. Most of the "old timers" in Jackson county knew him and he probably had a greater acquaintance than any minister in Oregon. His record is fifty-five years as a successful preacher.

If you want it done right take it to White's Wed. 1f

Children's vacation books—

Elharts.

Visiting in Ashland—

Frank Greenwood, his wife and two daughters, of Del Rio, Texas, are at the Lithia Springs Hotel. They formerly lived in Ashland, moving to Texas eighteen years ago. They are pleased to see the many improvements that have been made in our city since their removal.

Pauserud's Suits look better, last longer. 260-1f

Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pens—McNair Bros.

Enroute to Portland—

Mr. and Mrs. Orange Mattoon passed through Ashland the first of the week, enroute to their home in Portland, after having spent some time visiting in California with relatives.
