ASHLAND TEAM IS GIVEN BIG CHICKEN FEED

Ball Players Feted as Result of Leading Southern Oregon League

ORATORY IS SPILLED

"Duke" Marlow and Others Give Talks; Team Spirit is Praised

Ashland's fighting baseball spirit reigned at the Lithia Springs hotel last night when members of the team were tendered a fried chicken banquet by the club management as a testimonial of appreciation for the way the boys have fought their way to the top of the Southern Oregon Baseball league.

There were talks and poetry and good-natured jesting as well as a few serious moments. As orators some of the team proved themselves to be blamed good baseball players, but everybody had a good time, and the boys promised to step out during the next five weeks and win every remaining game of the league schedule.

Forgets His Speech

The only casualty of the banquet was when "Duke" Marlow, the blushing center fielder, forgot the set speech over which he had labored for many hours, but he came through in a pinch and knocked the boys for a row of chicken wings with a remarkable outburst of oratory.

Much to his sorrow, P. H. O'Brien arrived 30 minutes after schedule. What delayed him he refused to say, but Sunny Mohler, with his napkin tucked under his chin, said he wished a few more of the busters had forgotten the banquet hour, because he had cajoled a waitress into slipping him O'Brien's portion of fried chicken, and he was casting an eager eye around for a third helping when Manager Richardson of the hotel arrived just in time to save the hostelry from bankruptcy.

Enders Presides

John Enders, who presided as toastmaster, gave the boys a good, peppy little talk in which he declared that they had helped Ashland to attain the impossible. He recounted the discouraging start of the ball club back in May when the local team was taken into the league, not because it was expected to win a game, but because it was needed to fill out a four-team league. He praised the players for being gentlemen both on and off the field and declared their splendid conduct had made it possible to put baseball on a permanent basis in this city.

On behalf of the team, Captain "Red" Watts thanked the club management and the fans generally for their splendid support. He declared that the players had given him remarkable cooperation and he pledged himself and his fellow players to be in there fighting during every remaining game that Ashland might continue to perch on top of the ladder.

Leaders Praised
Walter Hughes cautioned the players that they must pull together and obey to the letter every order of Captain Watts if

Additional Steps Added in Attempt to Check Boozing Smugglers

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The treasury department announced today that 235 additional border patrolmen have been appointed, bringing to 545 the federal border police force which battles the smuggling of liquor, narcotics and merchandise into the United States.

Frank Dow, acting dry czar, said the reinforcements would make "a wall of arms and men," around the entire border to prevent customs law violations. Revenues collected by the patrol will virtually pay the salary and expense of the organization he predicted.

34 in New York

New York City was given 34 of the new officers. These men will assist regular customs officers in inspecting freight and passenger steamers and tourist luggage for contraband articles.

Forty-five patrolmen were assigned to the Ohio-Michigan district because of the great liquor traffic on the Great lakes and along the Detroit river.

Florida Gets 20

Florida was allotted 20 agents. Twenty-four were assigned to Montana and Minnesota got three because of the cattle and wheat smuggling and the leakage of liquors into the dry central states from the wet provinces of Canada.

Washington was assigned 15 patrolmen, San Francisco 15, Los Angeles 15 and Boston 10.

To prevent smuggling from Mexico, Dow assigned 10 officers at Galveston, Tex., and three to San Antonio.

BITTER ATTACK ON MELLON BY BRITISH PRESS GROWING MORE MODERATE TODAY

LONDON, July 23.—(UP)—As Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's boat from the United States brings him nearer to Great Britain, the Daily Mail has altered its attack on the American debt policy to suggestions to the American finance chief himself.

"Mr. Mellon's opportunity," is the caption of the latest article of the Mail's series of the United States. After referring to Mellon's landing the Mail bids him welcome "for his presence on this side of the Atlantic during such critical hours may result in immense service to the world."

The editorial strikes a calmer note than two preceding articles regarding the United States.

"We do not suppose that Mellon personally is responsible for the statement regarding the British debt which Churchill had to contradict Monday," the Mail continues. "It probably was supplied for him by home Washington bureaucrats."

"Mr. Mellon has a reputation for fair-mindedness and justice. We hope that his presence here will bring about discussion of the whole debt question."

IOWA INSISTS FARMERS WILL HAVE RIGHTS

Republicans of Corn State Go on Record Praising Frank Lowden

COOLIDGE CRITICISED

Keynote Speech of Leader Strikes at Present G. O. P. Program

DES MOINES, Ia., July 23.—Iowa's state republican convention today was like a firecracker which failed to explode and the powder in it is being saved for future demonstrations before congress.

Touched off by the keynote speech of Dan W. Turner of Corning, it sizzled and adjourned after adopting a set of harmless resolutions. The most vociferous of these rejoiced "in the prosperity of industrial America," and insisted that "equal opportunity for prosperity be extended to agriculture."

Jardine Scored

Turner's address, full of things which might have been made political dynamite, made a louder noise than did the action of the convention group itself. The keynote praised Lowden's leadership in the struggle for agricultural equality, criticised the Coolidge attitude on the same question at the same time lauding his record of economy, welcomed Brookhart, scored the agricultural policies of Mellon and Jardine, threatened the tariff if it fails to protect agriculture and told the country that Iowa and the middle west "have just begun to fight," for the farm relief.

Those who arranged for the show are highly gratified with the result of their efforts as they have received splendid cooperation from the people of Ashland. The exhibit will continue until late this evening.

Broken Pump Causes Shut-Down of Mineral Water Supply Here

CRITICISM IS HEARD

Tourists Object to Lack of Water; Will Be Ready By Tomorrow

Ashland's sparkling lithia water and other mineral waters will be available to tourists and others by late tonight or by tomorrow at the latest, was the assurance given today by Earl Hosler, city water superintendent.

The mineral water supply was shut off several days ago due to a break-down of the pump supplying the water from the springs. This pump was repaired this morning and is now being installed and unless the unforeseen occurs the mineral water should be available by early tomorrow.

Since the various fountains supplying lithia water were shut off from their supply "considerable criticism has been directed at the city because of its extensive advertising of this health-giving mineral water and subsequent failure to provide it for tourists and vacationists.

Mr. Hosler said the fountain at the Southern Pacific depot is now supplying a small amount of the mineral water but the stream should be larger as soon as the repaired pump is in operation again.
