CHAMPION TENNIS PLAYERS COMING TO UNITED STATES

BY HENRY FARRELL (U. P. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, (UP)—All hope of getting Mlle. Susanne Lenglen, the French tennis queen, to visit the United States this summer and play in the woman's national tennis championship was abandoned when she broke down at Wimbledon.

That hope, it might be remarked in passing, was never any too lively even if she did tell the writer in Paris that she had no objection to playing in the United States and hadn't made up her mind finally about her summer plans after Wimbledon.

There is no doubt that Mlle. Lenglen was ill at Wimbledon and in no condition to play. What brought on her breakdown offers a field for argument but there is no doubt that she couldn't continue. She is, of course, a great actress but all the acting and all the are of theatrical makeup could not make her look as thoroughly worn out as she was at Wimbledon.

While a second visit on Mlle. Lenglen to this country, with the prospect of another battle with Miss Helen Wills, would be the greatest drawing card that could be arranged for Forest Hills, the national woman's championship title this year will not be without features.

Mlle. "Katrinka" Bouman, the pretty young Holland champion, told the writer at Wimbledon that she was going to play at Forest Hills and Senorita d'Alvarez, the dazzling young Spanish champion, said she hoped to get over this year. Mrs. Kathleen McKane Godfrey, the British star also wants to play at Forest Hills, but she said the decision would have to be made by "friend husband."

If Senorita d'Alvarez (who pronounces her name devarey) comes to Forest Hills, American fans will see something that probably will cause them to forget Mlle. Lenglen both as a player and a personality.

She is a strikingly beautiful girl with all the mannerisms and traits of a Spanish girl of the pictures. She is a great showwoman, even more so than Mlle. Lenglen, as she put herself over without any of the affectation and the forced manner of the French star. She has clothes and wears them like a mannequin and she speaks five languages, all of which she sometimes uses in expressing herself when a shot refuses to follow orders.

As a tennis player she is just as much of a picture. She has the grace and speed of a cat, a dashing smashing style of attack and a pace in her strokes almost as fast as that of Mjils.

Many critics, prominent among them being Miss Mary K. Browne, captain of the American team, believe she is certain to develop into a world's champion and some of the gossips around Wimbledon said it was the fear of her that brought on the unfortunate breakdown of the French queen.

"She has the prettiest and best strokes I have ever seen and her forehead is nearer that of Billy Johnston's than any player in the game," Miss Browne said.

SWEDISH COOPERATIVES

SERVE THIRD POPULATION STOCKHOLM, (UP)—The bread and butter problem for 15,000 families in Sweden, or over one-third of the entire population, is now handled through the Cooperative societies which manufacture, mill flour, bake bread, prepare meats and distribute these products through over 2,000 retail stores, scattered all over the country.

Its wholesale business is by far the largest in Sweden and it also runs savings banks, writes insurance, both life and fire, publishes books on economic topics and in order to keep its members informed on market news, publishes a weekly newspaper whose circulation of 228,000 is the largest in Sweden.

THE NUDE IN ART INVADES PEKING

PEKING, (UP)—Chinese art critics are for the first time surveying, with mingled feelings, studies in the nude at an exhibition of paintings by professors and students of the Yi Kuang She, or National Fine Arts College.

When it became known just before the show opened the nudes were to be displayed, the Peking police, horrified at this departure from old Chinese precedent in art matters, protested that public morals would be corrupted. Their clamor suddenly subsided when it was learned that the Vice-Minister of Education was a patron of the exhibition.

In a speech delivered at the opening of the display, the vice-minister pointed out that it was an epochal event. Large crowds are attending, the vernacular press prints long accounts, and reproductions of some of the pictures appear in Sunday editions.

Salem — First unit of new Junior High School, to cost $125,000.
