"BOYLESS" VILLAGE REJOICES IN BABY BOY

LONDON (IP)—The "boyless village of England" has a boy at last. Beanworth, in Hampshire, northeast of Winchester, was known because it did not boast any boys in its population. The parish vicar had to content himself with a choir of girls. Now he soon can have a boy soloist, since Mr. and Mrs. Knight have a son.

The trouble is said to be a lack of cottages. None have been built in Beanworth for more than 50 years, so when the young men want to settle after marriage, they must usually find homes elsewhere. The young Knight boy has a slightly elder sister, but the next in age among the young men of Beanworth is sixteen years old.

Railroad Plans To Employ Radio

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad is radioizing its entire system in the interests of safety. Along its 11,000 miles of tracks, the Milwaukee will soon have a system of radio communication which will afford uninterrupted contact between all moving trains and all stations. Tornadoes, landslides and washouts, which frequently paralyze land communication, will not affect the radio "lines."
