WATER RULES WILL BE MADE MORE SEVERE

Only One Hour Per Week to Be Allowed for Irrigating

SHORTAGE IS ACUTE
Prior Rights of Farm Lands Must Be Observed by City

Effective tomorrow, Ashland faces new emergency water regulations which are expected to remain in effect until the coming of the fall rains.

It was announced today by Earl Hosler, water superintendent, that water for irrigation will be available but one day each week and only one hour when sprinkling is allowed.

The increasing shortage of water in Ashland creek canyon has made this new regulation imperative.

Notices are now being printed and will be delivered to all water consumers tonight and tomorrow. Citizens are notified that they must obey the regulations to the letter.

Farm lands to the north of the city, some of which lie within the city limits, have prior rights to a certain amount of water in Ashland creek. In other words, they are to receive their quota of water before Ashland is permitted to take any. Unless these prior rights are granted by the city water department, owners of these farm lands can make the city liable to any damages they might sustain by reason of the city's failure to permit this water to go down the creek.

In order to protect the city from possible damage suits, it was deemed necessary to curtail the consumption of water for lawns and irrigation purposes in order to provide these farm lands with the water to which they are legally entitled.

Mr. Hosler expressed hope that the one-hour-per-week sprinkling rule might remain in effect for the remainder of the summer, although there is still a possibility that all irrigation water will have to be stopped if conditions become much worse.

Teeth of Germany Very Much Under Pre-War Standard

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The teeth of Germany are 25 per cent under prewar efficiency, although during the war, these same teeth were 25 per cent better than before the war, thanks to alleged sawdust and other ersatz foods, according to Dr. Albert Kadner, who has come here to attend the international dentists' congress. He says his country's present bad teeth are due to under-nourishment.

Reckless Driver Gets Heavy Fine

ALBANY, Aug. 12.—C. F. White paid a $400 fine in justice court here after pleading guilty to the charge of reckless driving. Guy Howe accused White of having caused the ditching of Howe's machine on the Pacific highway four miles north of here, August 1, when both Mr. and Mrs. Howe received minor injuries.

Shoots Own Girl By Sad Mistake

PINE CITY, Minn., Aug. 12.—A 3 year old girl mistaken for a prowling animal was shot and killed by her father. The victim, Elsie Lucille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Kokieppel, evidently walking in her sleep when the fire from her father's shotgun struck her in the abdomen.

OLD TIME AUTO TO BE REAL FEATURE OF RAIL PAGEANT

Horseless Carriage of 25 Years Ago Will Be in Big Parade

HARRISBURG, Aug. 12.—The first automobile to come to Harrisburg, an old Keplinger, will be one of the features of the Trail to Rail celebration in Eugene, on August 19 and 20. The car, which resembles an open buggy more than a modern automobile, is owned by Peter Vilg, a farmer residing east of town. This old-fashioned car was brought to this city by Vilg in 1907 and is, apparently, the only early model in this part of the state.

The open body is mounted on high rubber-tired "buggy" wheels and the engine is concealed at the rear of the body. The car is steered by a tiller, or a lever. It is minus lights, fenders of much proportions, radiator, or any of the modern equipment. The machine has long been discarded by Vilg, who keeps well abreast of new models, but will run it into the shed.

LOCAL SPEAKERS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

J. A. Churchill Will Address Church Meeting at Mt. Shasta

J. A. Churchill, president of the Southern Oregon normal school will be one of the leading speakers at the Interdenominational Sunday School meeting to be held Saturday at the normal school grounds of Mt. Shasta, Calif., at which plans will be laid to start a campaign for week day bible schools in the public schools of California.

Another Ashland speaker will be Rev. Myron S. Woodworth, pastor of the Ashland Baptist church, who will talk on "Introduction to the Study of the New Testament."

Mr. Churchill will tell about Oregon's week day bible school law and the success with which it has met in the cities where it has been started.

The Misses Woodworth will give readings during the opening of the afternoon program. It was Miss Carmelita Woodworth who won the state oratorical contest last year.

Mrs. N. J. Lowther, formerly Miss Mabel Russell of Ashland, appears on the morning program, while her husband, Rev. N. J. Lowther, is one of the afternoon speakers.

It is expected that a large delegation will attend the meeting from Ashland, and those who desire further information concerning the conference are asked to get in touch with Rev. Woodworth. The meeting is to be held under the auspices of the Council of Religious Education in Shastayou county.

Students Enjoy Old Time Dances

EUREKA, Cal., Aug. 12.—(UP)—Humboldt State Teachers' college is unmindful, temporarily at least, of the jazz era. It is turning its attention to the dances of, as some have it, better days. The quadrille, the schottische and the like.

Under the direction of George C. Cass, supervisor of education at the summer session here, more than 100 students are learning the steps of their grandparents, and they like it.

RELIGION AND PROHIBITION TO BE ISSUES

Ugly Mood Now Blowing up in Politics at National Capital

TARIFF DEAD ISSUE
Contrast Shown Between Old Time Politics and Present Day

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(UP)—Although the surface of politics is unusually placid, an ugly mood is blowing up. Religion and prohibition are supplanting other questions as political subjects. Discussion is taking a direction that has some sinister aspects for a country dedicated to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Old Issues Dead
Political heat has been seen before in American politics but usually it has been worked up over economic questions rather than moral and religious ones. Instead of the familiar questions of the tariff, sound money and international rights, personal conduct and belief are uppermost.

Big Contrast
This contrast between the old politics and the new has been denoted in the news of the last week. Out in a small Arkansas town an old man is reported critically ill—William H. Harvey. And who is William H. Harvey? He is the man who as "Coin" Harvey was the chief free silver propagandist for Wm. J. Bryan in 1896. His pamphlets entitled "coin's financial school" with their curious cartoons and diagrams attacking the gold standard were earnestly read by millions—approximately by the farmers seeking cheap money and with alarm by the bankers and all creditor groups, every one was either a free silverite or a gold bug.

WILL'S MANAGER AND DEMPSEY IN WRANGLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(UP)—Amid a barrage of insults, Faddy Mullins, manager of Harry Willis Negro heavyweight, to-day challenged Jack Dempsey to battle, and hostilities were averted by the intervention of friends. The two were ready to fight when friends led them away.

Mullins called Dempsey a "rat" and threatened to strike him. Dempsey told Mullins it was a good thing he was old, whereupon Mullins drew back his arm as though to hit and so did Dempsey. At this point friends seized them.

PILLETTE RETURNS TO ASHLAND LINEUP

Hard Hitting Third Sacker Will Strengthen Club Sunday

Ashland's pennant-winning hopes in the Southern Oregon league loomed a bit brighter today with the return last night of Stan Pillette, hard-hitting third baseman, who has recovered from a badly wrenched ankle and will be in the lineup next Sunday when the local warriors go to Grants Pass.

Another change or two probably will be made. Peterson is slated to return to first base during the workouts this week and may cover the initial bag Sunday. With Pillette back, Marlow can be sent back into the outer garden where his fly chasing has been perfect throughout the season.

Captain Walt Hughes has been giving the boys an extra dose of batting practice this week, with nightly workouts; so the local boys figure they are due to take Michaels, Grants Pass pitcher, into camp.

Other teams in the league are scurrying about for new players for the remaining few games, but Ashland will pin its hopes on the boys who have carried on throughout the season, and they now stand an even chance of being up at the top when the season is over.

NORMAL DRIVE FOR STUDENTS IS UNDER WAY

President J. A. Churchill is Sending Out 3000 Letters

PREPARING CATALOGS
High School Graduates Being Urged to Consider Local School

In a drive for as many students as possible for the first fall and winter term of the Southern Oregon state normal school, President J. A. Churchill is sending out more than 3000 personal letters to high school graduates advising them of the advantages of the Ashland school.

This personal letter is to be followed up with an illustrated catalogue which will be sent to all young men and women who show any indication that they might enroll in the local school this fall. The catalogs are now being printed by the state printing department at Salem and will be ready for distribution next week. The normal school will open for its regular winter term on September 27th.

Following is the letter which Mr. Churchill is now mailing to prospective students:

"On September 27th at Ashland, Oregon, the fall term of the reorganized Southern Oregon Normal School will open. The summer session has been a most successful one with an enrollment of more than two hundred students.

"If you are interested and will write us, a catalogue of this new institution, which outlines the various courses and gives much other information concerning the school, will be sent you.

Fine Surroundings
"We have a beautiful new building, a very adequate equipment, a well prepared faculty, and courses that will function definitely in the preparation of teachers for the elementary grades.

Along with methods and practice teaching for those preparing to teach, we shall offer many cultural and informational courses that will earn college credit. Students who desire to take their full two years of a university or college course in an institution where classes are small, permitting the regular members of the faculty to provide all the instruction, are invited to enroll with us.

"We shall offer courses in college English, biology, physical science, psychology, sociology, education, mathematics, geography, health education, physical education, music and art.

"If you are considering attending an institution of higher learning this fall and winter, we invite you to enroll with us when we open for our fall term on September 27th."
