

LADY MOUNTBATTEN HELD BEST DRESSED

DEAUVILLE, (U. P.) — Lady Louis Mountbatten has been voted the best-dressed woman at Deauville, which means the best-dressed woman of the world. The competition in dressing-up or dressing-down is keener at Deauville in August than anywhere else. This seaside resort, with its beautiful harbor and famous Casino, is the fashion-center of the world when the season is on.

Lady Louis Mountbatten, whose husband, Lord Mountbatten is the "best pal" of the Prince of Wales and who accompanied the Prince to the United States, has achieved her eminence in style at Deauville by dressing simply. Her gowns are magnificently fitted without being ornate and she decorates herself only with a string of simple pearls and a ring or two on her fingers. Her restraint in the use of jewels is noticeable because other women at Deauville this season seem bent upon hanging on every gem and jewel they possess, all at the same time.

The Mountbattens are staying aboard their yacht, the Shrimp, in Deauville harbor, giving many brilliant parties aboard and going ashore often for bathing, polo, or to the Casino. Lady Louis Mountbatten is heiress to the Cassell millions, probably largest inheritance in England.

PROTECTS MASTADON BOTH DAY AND NIGHT

BY THOMAS B. MORGAN
U. P. Press Staff Correspondent
CASERTA, (UP)—A huge monster, generally thought to be the fossilized skeleton of a mastodon, was recently discovered near here and visitors from all over Italy as well as many tourists, are crowding every day to see the bones of the giant beast.

The Caserta mastodon has two tusks nearly eight feet long, one of which is perfectly preserved, though the other is broken, probably owing to the work of the excavators.

The skeleton lies at a depth of some 26 feet below the ground, and is so far only partly excavated; the work having been temporarily suspended in order to allow the government experts to decide on the best method of raising it.

The proprietor of the land where the mastodon was brought to light is stated to have become quite unbalanced by his find, and lives in dread that the precious brute will be carried off. He sleeps beside it at night in the field where it lies, with a gun his side, and during the day pockets the small fee he asks to visit the mastodon from the crowds of curious visitors.

Who Wants to live on blubber?

One of the scientific results of Stefansson's explorations in the "livable Arctic" was establishment of the fact that it is quite possible to live in health upon an exclusive diet of blubber.

The blubber seems to acquire a creamy, nutty flavor. Very agreeable, according to this intrepid investigator! After living upon it for some time the craving for a varied diet passes completely away. To this astonishing simplicity may all your tastes be reduced. But it would be retrogression of a most serious sort for humanity to revert to such simplicity.

In the Arctic, where Eskimos live in a vast wasteland, there is no progress. Progress depends upon ideas — fresh impulses — the stimulus of changing desires. Our modern progress has been stimulated to the greatest degree by means of advertisements. Daily advertisements awake new desires; and desires, capable of fulfillment, tend to diversify life, enrich it, and add considerably to its joyousness.
