

W. C. T. U. LEADERS PLAN FOR ELECTION

In the belief that the next presidential campaign will be fought out entirely along wet and dry lines, Mrs. Ella A. Booie, New York City, National President W. C. T. U., today sent out a final message to the delegates to the 52nd annual convention of the W. C. T. U., Los Angeles, Cal., September 26—October 2 to attend the convention prepared to make up a plan to carry on the fight against modification of the Volstead Act or nullification of the 18th amendment.

"Despite the announcement of Representative Tilson of Connecticut and other political managers of campaigns now in progress that 'prohibition' has no part in politics, American voters are lining up on one side or the other of the prohibition question and all major political strategy is directed toward that division. The next congress will be dry if every dry voter votes on election day; but after that the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment will reorganize for a final assault on the 18th Amendment. Their aim will be to elect a wet president and it is to avert that possible calamity that the W. C. T. U. convention will send its efforts."

Young people will have a large part in the convention program and will formally present the Patriotic Roll signed by more than half a million young men and women of high school and college years.

Additional signatures are being received daily, many young people saying that they are especially desirous of signing so as to make protest against the general indictment of American youth fostered by the wets. Signing the Patriotic Roll means that the signer agrees to uphold the constitution of the United States, assist law enforcement in the community.

A featured event of the convention will be the children's pageant, which will be a vivid and colorful interpretation of the recent statement of President Calvin Coolidge, "Every child should be taught reverence for nature reverence for law and God." This pageant will be presented by 1,000 children and 200 young people.

Pat Neff, ex-governor of Texas, will address the convention Sunday evening, September 25. Señorita Ernestina Alvarado of Mexico, president of the Mexican W. C. T. U. will speak on World's Night. Miss Anna Gordon, president of the World's W.

They're All Taking "Poo-ee" Courses Now

The nation's crack hog-callers "started something" when they held their championship contest in Omaha. The Omaha city fresher even quit their checker games to learn the pork-permading art. Here's Charley Hyatt, one of the firemen, demonstrating that he can lure a pig just nine weeks old right away from its milk bottle with his "poo-ee" cries. At the upper left is Mrs. E. C. Warner of Warnerville, Neb., one of the best of the women performers.

C. T. U., Mrs. M. C. Munar, World's treasurer and Dr. Valeria H. Parker, president of the National Council of Women, will also speak.

"Canada's Experiments in Liquor Control" will be the subject of an address by Dr. W. Peck, educational secretary of the Prohibition Federation of Canada.

Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, the George cyclone, Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, Mrs. Eva G. Wheeler, president of the W. C. T. U. of Southern California, F. W. Richardson, Governor of California, George W. Cryer, Mayor of Los Angeles and leaders of National and California women's organizations and clubs, will address sessions of the convention.

The central feature of the exhibit prepared for the Sesqui-Centennial will be on display at the convention church, as will exhibits of twenty departments of W. C. T. U. work including Child Welfare, Americanization, Legislation, Social Morality, Scientific Temperance Instruction, Soldiers and Economics of Prohibition.

Miss Legion

Miss Gernadine Harmon, 17-year-old McCook (Neb.) high school senior, is buddy to the American Legion men of that town. She won a bathing contest they held, and then helped them put on a membership campaign. The Legionnaires plan to boom her for the title "Miss Legion" at the national convention in Philadelphia this fall.

Government Endeavors to Show Why Merton Put Across Gigantic Deal

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 22.—(UP)—Contrasting the speedy manner in which a claim of $7,000,000 presented by Richard Merton, German financier, was allowed by the alien property custodian, District Attorney Buckner today presented evidence of other lesser claims which were bound around by much government red tape. The government claims that a bribe of $441,000 to the late John T. King, a friend of Daugherty and Miller, ex-officials now on trial, supplied the needed influence to circumvent the usual red tape.

speaker. She brought to her audience, the program of the health work in the public schools and what the parents may do to forward that work.

With a brief resume of the situation as it existed a few years ago, quoting the eye-opening statistics gathered during the world war, and the wonderful impetus given physical education in the schools, by these surveys, she met all possible objections to health work in the schools and stated that now three fourths of the schools provide for health education.

In her splendid address, the speaker outlined the points stressed in the program; first: community welfare, with its training in unselfishness. Second: group approval, with positive health emphasized, the concrete means for measuring health and rules of the game.

Prevention is the keynote, accompanied by education. Health protection secured by common sense methods.

Examples Cited
The speaker cited concrete examples and called attention to the splendid showing made by the schools at the fair, in the health posters displayed.

By health chores in the lower grades, slides and talks in the upper and the seven rules of the game, is the work carried on through the schools. First aid demonstrations and nutrition classes in the upper grades are some of the forward looking plans in this year's work.

Keeping contagion out of the community is an important part of the work of the school nurse. Concrete instances were cited.

After the illuminating presentation of the health program, no one could retain the slightest doubt of its importance in the school curriculum.

County Work
The "Health Work" in the county was epitomized by Miss Mildred Carleton, county president of the Health Association.

Who compose the County Unit and the Executive Board which meets once a month; how the county is districted and work organized and in what way the work is supported the speaker told in introducing the subject.

How this money derived from the Christmas Seal sale and membership in the association is utilized, was stated. The nurse's car, the supplies, the milk and clothing purchased were some of the items named.

"All the work is educational. The clinics are an important factor in the work. The Ashland clinics were given a strong need of praise as the most successful in the county, but the speaker suggested more than 48 members of the association would make a better showing for the community."

"Health is the cheapest thing, in the long run for which to spend money" said Miss Carleton. "Making children fit for intelligent living was surely a worthy objective."

In closing, Miss Carleton outlined the work done for mothers and introduced Mrs. Gammil, who was chosen to attend the Portland meeting as secretary of the Home Economics work in Jackson county.

Home Makers
Mrs. J. A. Gammil called attention to the Home Makers Institute to be held in October in Medford, asked the assistance of the Ashland ladies in making it a success.

The phase of the work in which Mrs. Gammil's interest centers is the "Little Mothers' Clubs" and this she presented, with the aims—to interest children to conserve and preserve health, to improve the individual and community life and last to prepare for motherhood.

With so enthusiastic a leader, the work along that line will be carried on successfully.

An initial musical number was given in a delightful violin solo by Chester Woods, Mrs. E. A. Woods at the piano. Enthusiastic applause brought in response a beautiful Swedish melody.

Rummage Sale
Announcements were made of the Rummage Sale, October 8 and 9, with the attendant food sale and flower exchange and for the contemplated reception for teachers of the Normal and the city schools in which the P. T. A. and Civic Club will unite.

Mrs. Harris Dean, presided at the meeting. Mrs. G. G. Eubanks was in charge of the program and Mrs. P. K. Hammond and Mrs. A. H. Pracht served tea during the social hour which followed the program.

to leave instead of Ashland's. I venture the prophecy that at the end of this year every merchant in this city will find that his books will show an increased profit this year over last year. We have lost some mighty fine people, but we have lost nothing in a business way.

V. V. Mills—I was born and raised in Ashland and for the past 20 years I have been hearing what would happen when the Natron cut-off was completed. Well, the catastrophe has fallen, and I, for one, cannot see where it has hurt anybody. We have heard the pessimistic stories for years. We have at least lost a lot of pessimism so now we can forge ahead without any hindrance of any kind.

J. H. McGee—What this town needs mainly is more faith on the part of its people and a better display of optimism naturally, we are genuinely sorry to see these railroad folks moving away, but the new normal school, the new settlers and general increase in population will more than offset the damage done by the railroad. It is the pessimistic talk and lack of faith which is hurting Ashland more than anything else.
