BELLVIEW NOTES

Mrs. W. G. Tucker
Phone 2F14

One of the winners of a first prize at the county fair in the boys' and girls' club work was the sewing of Lillian Johnson.

one of the Bellview sewing club girls. She was rewarded with the pleasure of having her work taken on to the State Fair at Salem.

Mrs. W. L. Moore was leader of the girls' sewing club in this community, and it was through her untiring efforts that the success of this club was realized. A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Neil on Wednesday morning at the Convalescent home. The little girl has been named Augusta Ann, for the mothers of both Mr. and Mrs. Neil.

One of the new features of this community is a silver fox farm which is being added to the Homer Barron place at the upper end of the valley. Mr. Barron purchased a pair of foxes two or three years ago, and has had them cared for away from here until now, and he is equipping his place with all necessities for the rearing of these valuable animals. He now has eight, and the carpenters are building their homes according to specifications on blue prints.

As soon as completed, which will be in a few days, and the animals located, it will be well worth one's time, who has never seen these silver tipped black beauties, to drive out and give them the "once over."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frock of Yreka, spent Friday and Saturday visiting the fair. As the fair in Siskiyou county had just been held, it gave the northern Californians a chance at comparison.

Miss Helen Johnson, whose people moved to Applegate some time ago, exchanging property in this community for an Applegate place near Provoit, has come back to continue her studies in the Ashland high school. Miss Gladys Johnson, who graduated from the high school here, last year, is planning to enter the Normal the first of the week.

A mass meeting of the community and the members of the Upper Valley Community Club will be held at the Bellview school house Thursday night. The plans of the proposed new community house will be shown to the whole bunch, and the beginning of lining up the workmen for the building, will be started.

George Francis Barron, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Barron, who majored in music at the University of Oregon, has returned to Eugene to resume his studies.

Barnard Joy, who graduated from the Ashland high school two years ago, and who took post graduate work there last year, left for Corvallis the last of the week to continue his studies at the Oregon Agricultural College. It is a fine thing to have the young people of any community carry on their college work, and we are particularly fortunate in having our boys and girls determined to go on with their studies at higher institutions.

A number of people have asked who the committee on plans for the new club house is, and so we take this means of making public the names:

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Tucker, Mrs. W. D. Jackson, Mrs. Edwin Dunn, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gottsche. Mrs. Gottsche is also president of the Upper Valley Community Club, and the committee was appointed by her.

Mrs. Kenneth McWilliams who taught the upper grades of the Bellview school for several years, left with Kenneth and their small son, Donald for Portland last week, where they will make their home. They are living in Multnomah, a suburb of Portland, and Kenneth is still in the automobile business, having been transferred there by the Dodge people, with whom he had been in Medford for some time.

Portland exports for August, $6,901,311, broke all previous records for same month.

Marshfield — 2800 feet of North Coos River highway will cost $25,900 to build.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Virginia's resources in the form of national shrines appear to be absolutely inexhaustible.

It makes the most of them, too. They draw tourists.

A single shrine's appeal is limited. It has to compete with other shrines. But in Virginia a tourist can keep on traveling for a month, at the rate of at least a shrine a day, and sometimes a whole cluster no more than an hour or two of traveling apart. Other states with good shrines don't develop them as they should. Virginia cultivates them for all they're worth—which is a great, great deal.

The Walter Reed Memorial Association is about to contribute a new one—the house in which Dr. Walter Reed, conqueror of yellow fever, was born, in Gloucester county, Sept. 19, 1851.

Well, Dr. Reed has a shrine coming to him, if medical men over him.

By proving that mosquitoes were responsible for the spreading of the dreaded yellow jack, he not only saved countless thousands of lives, but reclaimed for settlement vast areas which had been practically uninhabitable, because of the disease.

The Panama canal, probably never could have been finished, such were the fever's ravages among the workers, until he stamped it out.

The old Reed homestead has been abandoned for years.

The Memorial Association has obtained an option on it and will take it over shortly, restore it and fill it with monuments of one of the greatest surgeons who ever lived.

Other shrines are all about it—Yorktown, where Cornwallis surrendered; Jamestown, where the first permanent English settlement in America was established; Williamsburg, the old colonial capital of the state.

In Alabama a drunken auto driver who dashed upon a ferry found that Cheson was in charge.
