

BELLVIEW NOTES

Mrs. W. G. Tucker
Phone 2F14

Joan Nell, who has been a business visitor in Portland the past few days, returned late in the week to his home south of Ashland.

What might have been a very serious accident happened to Go. Edwin Dunn at his ranch on the Pacific Highway south last week. While separating cattle in his fields, the horse which he was riding, stumbled and fell, not throwing Ed, but falling on him, and bruising him up generally. He has had to take life pretty easy, while recovering, but is about himself again.

A. Ray Brown, from the Upper Valley accompanied a shipment of lambs, belonging to Ed Barron, to Portland last week. Mrs. Brown drove through with their fine Flint sedan, and brought her husband back after the lambs were sold on the Portland market.

Mrs. A. C. Joy and Mrs. W. G. Tucker were business visitors in Jacksonville and Medford Saturday. While in the county seat they were dinner guests of Mrs. Lesame Carter, county superintendent of schools at her home.

At a business meeting of the Executive Committee of the Upper Valley Community Club composed of Mrs. Betty Gottsche, Mrs. Nell Dunn and Mrs. Belle Jackson held Sunday afternoon, it was decided to let the building committee proceed with building plans at once. The plans decided on were less in size than the ones originally planned, and will come within the fund on hand, and with the liberal donations already promised from without, the skill of the building can be completed, ready to be equipped with the earning of more money.

At a mass meeting and community club meeting held jointly at the school house a week ago, the committee was authorized to proceed. But minor details have held them up. Four members of the committee appointed by the Pres. to serve, wished to be released from the responsibility. The committee realizes that all the various clubs in the Upper Valley and Bellview, wants is to get the thing going, and then every one will be satisfied, and so with this in mind they are ordered to go ahead.

The writer of these notes has never yet been able to get the straight of the accident, when one of the big city to city buses, and the car belonging to the Talent Irrigation district collided at the junction of the road at the Mountain View Cemetery and the Pacific Highway south. But we do know this that the Co. Ford was a complete wreck, though the occupants were unhurt, with the exception of a few minor scratches.

Misses Adena and Beth Joy have been in attendance at the State Fair as reward of merit, for club work well done. We are glad to see that Beth is following in the footsteps of the older Joy children, and making her mark in clubwork also.

before midnight on May 3. This was the night that Mrs. McPherson said that she last saw Ormiston at the temple, in her story to the grand jury.

Ryan testified that the register indicated that the Bible teacher checked out the following morning, but registered again late that same night.

Rents Love Cottage
It was three days later, according to Carmel witnesses, that Ormiston appeared in Carmel and rented the "love cottage."

The doorman at the Clarke hotel had previously testified that he saw the evangelist enter the hostelry on the morning of the day she disappeared.

A haberdasher corroborated this testimony and said that Ormiston entered a few minutes after the evangelist.

Ormiston was registered at the Clarke hotel, and stayed there until a few hours before Mrs. McPherson disappeared. He was seen at Carmel the next day, according to testimony.

Chambermaid Testified
A chambermaid at the Ambassador hotel testified she saw Ormiston enter Mrs. McPherson's room in that fashionable hostelry at least six different times. A house detective corroborated this testimony, but Mrs. McPherson maintains that she stayed at the hotel only during the time her Bible school was being erected and that Ormiston never visited her there.

Frequent Washing Preserves Curtains

It has been found that frequent washing of curtains in soap and water preserves their life to a marked degree for it has been observed that curtains in hotels which are washed many times more than those in the average home last much longer.

Sunburn is what causes curtains to deteriorate. The sunburn or carbonization forms an acid which eats the curtain material. The alkali in the soap neutralizes this acid thus stopping the deterioration.

Our recently installed curtain machinery insures satisfactory curtain service without additional expense.

File Petition With Supreme Court Urging Another Hearing

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 5.—(UP)—In an oral opinion this afternoon the supreme court denied the petition filed by Cammeron and Wetterer asking for a rehearing in the county removal litigation.

SALEM, Oct. 5.—(UP)—William W. Cammeron and Joseph B. Wetterer, Jacksonville taxpayers, have appealed to the supreme court to recall the peremptory writ of mandamus issued recently in the case of E. D. Briggs of Ashland against Deilla Stevens, Jackson county clerk.

The writ would require the county clerk to recognize as sufficient the petition filed asking that a measure involving the removal of the county seat to Medford be placed on the November ballot.

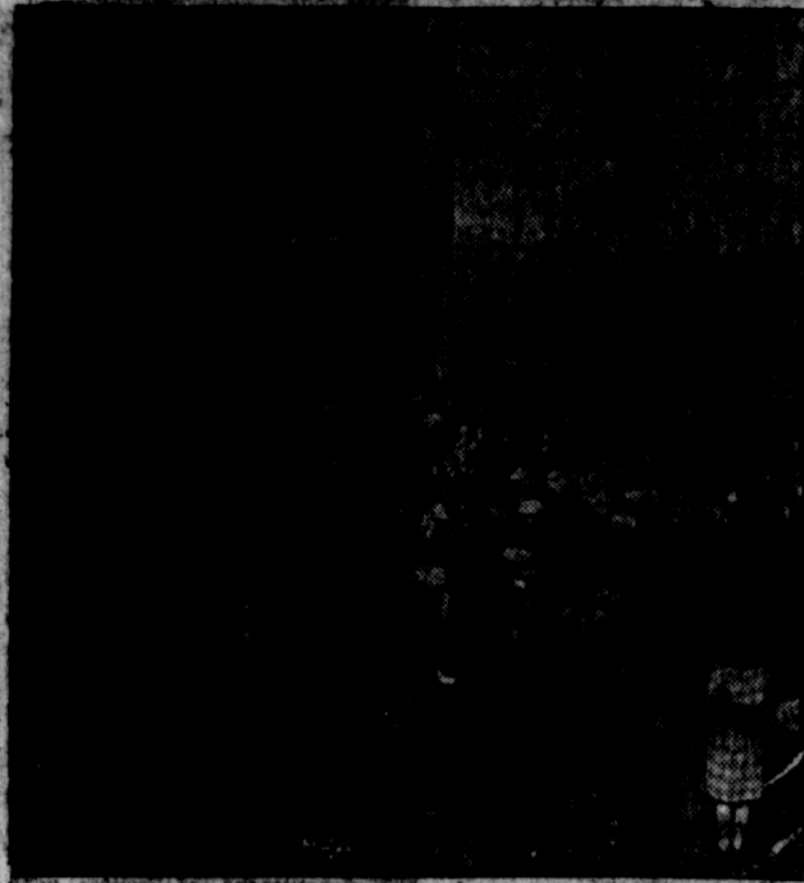

Cammeron and Wetterer in their petition declare that an opportunity for a full presentation of facts was not given in the recent case before the supreme court. They ask that the case be remanded to the circuit court on injunction proceedings to stop the proposed election on the county seat removal.

Ashland Man is Awarded Divorce

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 5.—(Special)—A decree of divorce was granted to A. McCann, of Ashland, against his wife, Alice B. McCann. The complaint in the case charged Mrs. McCann with having deserted her husband in February, 1925, and refuses to return and live with him as his wife.

Three men were instantly killed and 43 more trapped far below the surface by a cave in at the G. P. Pabst iron mine in Ironwood, Mich. This picture shows relatives of the entombed men grouped about the mine shaft as the bodies of the three dead men were brought to the surface.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

ASHINGTON — When, after twenty years of tarrying outside the fold, Alice Roosevelt Longworth suddenly put on her best bib and tucker one day last winter and went to a congressional ladies' tea, it did mean something after all.

People suspected it then. And they were sure when up popped none less name than that of Princess Alice a few days ago for the job of Ohio representative on the Republican national committee.

Of course, that in itself was nothing. A person as vitally and intelligently interested in politics as Alice Longworth gets quite accurate at having her name up for this and that and then politely refusing to hold the job.

Effect on Nick's Chances
But it looks very much as if Mrs. Nicholas Longworth from Cincinnati has no intention of refusing this job—she hasn't done so yet. She knows that she is definitely selected, and she's the sort of lady who is quick on the trigger with her "yeas and nays."

Alice Roosevelt Longworth as members of the Republican national committee isn't the half of it.

Those birds in the know, known as political experts, say— "That means Nick Longworth for president!"

In fact, ever since that day last winter when, breaking a vow made more than 20 years ago to the effect that just because she was marrying a congressman, she had no intention of going to all the frumpy congressman's wives' affairs, Alice did so to her first congressional tea in 20 years. They've been saying that she was out plugging for Nick for president.

Some go farther than that— "Nick nothing!" say they. "Alice Longworth is a chip off the old block. She wouldn't mind being the first woman president of the United States they talk about!"

An arrangement of table and books under a light... a couch, its cushions, the picture it faces. You know what things look like in your home. You know where to find them, what they mean to you. When you read advertisements, you can imagine what the objects they picture would look like in your home; you can know where to find them; what they will mean.

Advertisements put things frankly before you. They show how that radio would make that corner happier. How much more attractive your windows would be with just those sheer glass-curtains. How your mantel needs that mahogany clock or those tall, thin candles. They tell you definitely where you can buy latest good things to increase your pleasure... help you know them intimately—as if already in your living-room, bedroom, bureau drawer. They tell of values that won't wear out in a hurry. Honest pleasures you might otherwise miss.

Read the advertisements. With their help you can buy with economy the best you'd like to enjoy
