

SENATOR STANFIELD PREDICTS VICTORY

Declares People Will Re-elect Him at General Election Nov. 2

"Sentiment favoring my re-election in the United States senate is growing daily in every part of the state, and I honestly expect to win out by a substantial vote at the general election next month."

This was the note of confidence expressed in Ashland yesterday afternoon by United States Senator Robert N. Stanfield, who was here for a brief visit en route to Bend, where he is scheduled to address a public meeting tonight.

"I want to make it plain that I have not bolted the republican party," continued the senator. "I am simply voicing my protest against the unwarranted interference of the Oregonian and its hand-picked political machine. If I am elected, as I fully expect to be, I will continue to be a staunch member of the republican party."

"My fight is on behalf of Oregon and her citizens. My own political fortunes are of secondary consideration, but my re-election to the senate will give this state the chairmanship of the all-powerful public lands committee, as well as a high place on the finance committee."

"The passage of my land tax refund bill during the closing days of the last congress has benefited this state more than all other measures which have passed in congress in a score of years. It means the return to the taxpayers of all the land grant counties of more than $7,000,000 in back taxes. It is needless to say that this bill could not have been passed had I not been chairman of the public lands committee."

Senator Stanfield took occasion to thank the people of Jackson county for what he termed their gratifying plurality in the primary election. Senator Stanfield said he would return to Ashland some time during the present campaign to address a public meeting. He spoke before four gatherings this week at Klamath Falls and was given a splendid reception.

SOUTHERN OREGON PIONEERS OBSERVE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY AT MEETING AT JACKSONVILLE

The Pioneer Society of Southern Oregon observed the golden anniversary of its organization at the annual reunion in Jacksonville yesterday. The society was launched fifty years ago as a result of the efforts of the pioneer editor-founder of the Tidings, the late James Sutton, and the first reunion was held at Ashland in the fall of 1876. It is told in the history of the Society that on the occasion of this first reunion more than 300 people gathered before the restaurant in the grove in Ashland Park, whose beautiful trees served as God's first temple in this town, and listened with rapt attention for two hours to the address given by the late Miss Applegate. Followed then the big basket dinner, the reminiscences, the memorials to the deceased, and the social amenities incident to the coming together of such a representative gathering of the citizenship of this part of the state of Oregon. The late General John H. Ross presided as the first president and the late William Hoffman, both of Jacksonville, served as the first secretary of the organization.

Every year since, the organization formed at that time has met in annual reunion, the place alternating between Ashland and Jacksonville. Yesterday the program carried out was along the lines of the original reunion fifty years ago, though perhaps the personnel was greatly changed. Few of those present at the original reunion were among those at yesterday's gathering, for life's journey has taken a big toll in fifty years and many, many have taken to the long, long trail. But the sons and daughters and their families carry on the traditions of the Society, and yesterday's program, attended by perhaps three or four hundred persons of Oregon pioneer stock, was a notable one and greatly enjoyed, reflecting the wonderful, wholesome hospitality of the society itself and of the old pioneer community of Jacksonville. Miss Alice Hensley of Portland presided over the program with grace and dignity. The secretary, Mrs. Mamie Day Nelson, and the native daughters of Jacksonville, as well as many of the pioneer ladies and their daughters, lent color to the occasion with their old fashioned dress. The orator of the day was Mr. Irving E. Vining, son of one of the old and distinguished pioneer families of Southern Oregon, president of the State Chamber of Commerce and a resident of Ashland. This part of the program was given in the historic hall of Warren Masonic

Judge of Jacksonville, which was chartered in 1855, and whose walls are lined with portraits of its early masters, conspicuous in the pioneer life of this region. Mr. Vining's address held his auditors literally spell bound for nearly an hour, and spoke as one inspired by the historic surroundings. The eloquent message was a wonderful tribute to the day and to the occasion, and added it possible to the laurels of Mr. Vining as a public speaker already so widely acknowledged. There was most appropriate music interspersed in the program which included a message of greetings from the State Rexent of the D. A. R., Mrs. Edith McCracken of Ashland, on behalf of that organization. Followed then the big basket dinner, served by the Jacksonville ladies. Long tables fringed with every variety of delicious food, and twice and thrice they were spread before all were served.

The exhibit building maintained by the Native Daughters of Jacksonville across the street in one of Jacksonville's historic brick buildings, served as an attraction between dinner and the afternoon program. Notable features of the afternoon program included the reading of an original poem by Capt. O. C. Applegate, who had made a similar contribution at the program at the first reunion fifty years before. Capt. Applegate, now a resident of Klamath Falls, was present. Another contribution to the afternoon program was a poem by John B. Griffin, noted bear hunter and also a pioneer of this section.

The annual election of officers resulted in the selection of S. Patterson of Ashland as president for the ensuing year. The society will hold its next reunion at Ashland.

Shetland Ponies With Owner Are Seeing Country

Two Shetland ponies are transporting I. Sacks, retired Tennessee farmer, on a trip through the United States. The 40-year old man and his two ponies passed through Ashland early this afternoon headed for Portland, where he will spend the winter. Mr. Sacks says he sold his farm a year ago and started out with his ponies to see the country. He says he averages about 30 miles a day.

Practical advice on HOME DECORATING

Miss D. M. Smith will be here Saturday, Oct. 9 only to give practical advice on home decorating.

The popular demand for more colorful homes brings with it the necessity of a better understanding of color harmony and a wider knowledge of the application of the various paints, enamels, lacquers and varnishes.

We are fortunate in being able to offer to you the services of one who is thoroughly experienced in home decoration, and we invite you to bring your home decoration problems to her for solution.

Possibly you are not satisfied with the present color scheme of one of your favorite rooms, or maybe you want new ideas for your breakfast set. You may have tables and chairs that are scratched and marred. Do you need advice on refinishing them?

On such problems as these it will pay you to use the services of this special Fuller representative. It will obligate you in no way.
Remember the dates.
