Members to get back from their vacations, for the big guns of the diplomatic corps to reappear at their various embassies and legations and for numerous visitors on political business to come pouring into the city for all sorts of conferences, now that the right folk are here once more, to be conferred with.

Several committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives will meet soon, too, so that there will be increased activity at the legislative as well as the executive end of Pennsylvania Ave.

Committee work will be considerably interrupted until after election, but at least a start will be made.

The Coolidges came back to a very spruce looking White House.

It's true that Maj. Grant, director of public buildings and public parks of the national capital, says the roof is liable to fall in, but superficially the executive mansion appears as substantial as any structure in Washington.

It's clean, at any rate. If the roof holds out, the Coolidges intend to stay in it until Congress adjourns next March.

Tourists are being admitted to it again, likewise—that is, to the rooms which usually are open to the public. The whole thing was closed during the process of renovation, with the exception of the executive offices.

An Exceedingly Pleasant Thought For Every Woman

EVERY modern housewife knows that Mazola is an absolutely pure vegetable oil—from the hearts of full-ripened corn kernels.

If you like corn-on-the-cob you can't help liking Mazola, for this delicious oil is as good to eat as the corn from which it comes.

This is an exceedingly pleasant, appetizing thought for every woman—whether she uses Mazola for shortening instead of butter—or for frying instead of animal fats—or for salad dressings instead of expensive imported oils.

The tremendous and ever increasing popularity of Mazola throughout the country is based on this very definite knowledge on the part of the thinking housewife.

We invite every woman to give Mazola a most severe test—for shortening—for frying—and for salad dressing.

Its quality and the very satisfactory results obtained will appeal to your desire for the best—whereas the economy of Mazola will always appeal to your purse.
