EVIDENCE IN AIMEE'S CASE IS STRONGER

Four Events of Major Importance Are Listed by Prosecutor

MORE HOTEL EVIDENCE

Breakfast for Two Served in Her Room - Ormiston Still Sought

BY DAN CAMPBELL

United News Staff Correspondent LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.

While the state drew tighter a net of sensational evidence in an evidence in an effort to prove that Aimee Semple McPherson is guilty of the most monumental hoax in religious history, four events of major importance had transpired as the second week of the perjury hearing neared a close.

1—H. D. Hallenbeck, personal friend of Mrs. McPherson and construction superintendent of the Angelus temple bible school, was named in a report submitted as evidence, as the companion of a woman as "Rose," who was heard addressing him as "Steve." These names were given by Mrs. McPherson as those of her kidnapers.

2—District Attorney Asa Keyes ordered a search Friday for a waiter of the Alexandria hotel, who is alleged to have told other hotel employees that he served breakfast for two in a room which, according to reports, was occupied by the evangelist on May 9 and 10.

3—Squads of detectives were searching in every part of Los Angeles county following what was believed to be an authentic report that Kenneth G. Ormiston, radio man, had been seen passing through the suburbs in an automobile.

4—According to the district attorney's office E. S. Hagmes, of Yuma, Ariz., contractor identified a photograph of Mrs. McPherson as the woman he saw in that place with two men on June 13, more than a week before she appeared at Douglas, Ariz., and told her kidnaping story.

The report of A. B. Marchison, Douglas chief of police, which was read into the records of the perjury hearing Friday made Hallenbeck a central figure in the case.

Picture Identified According to this report a mechanic at a Douglas garage identified a photograph of Hallenbeck as the man who appeared at the garage in company with a woman on June 19, four days before the evangelist "came back from the grave."

The garage man said, according to the report that the woman addressed the man as "Steve," and in turn he addressed her as "Rose." Four days later Mrs. McPherson staggered into Douglas and told how she had been held in the desert by "Steve" and "Rose."

At Same Hotel Evidence alleging that the evangelist and Ormiston were registered at the same hotel in this city for two nights shortly before Mrs. McPherson's disappearance, will be introduced, the district attorney's office announced.

According to this evidence the evangelist registered at the Alexandria hotel on May 9 and a half hour later Ormiston, according to the evidence claimed by the prosecution, registered as "Frank Gibson."

The waiter who is reported to have told of serving breakfast for two in a room which the evangelist occupied, is being sought.

That The People May Know

ENGINEER'S REPORT READY

The complete written report of Frank Dillard, consulting engineer on the municipal water project, was submitted last night to the mayor and members of the council, and starting next Monday afternoon, it will be printed in daily installments in these two columns of The Tidings.

Mr. Dillard's report follows an exhaustive investigation of the water possibilities for this city and includes reports on all possible sites and projects. Exact figures are given, recommendations are made and all possible data is included in his clear and concise summary of the entire water problem. Readers of The Tidings and voters generally are urged to delay any decision on the water problem until they have read every word of this exhaustive report. Not one word will be omitted or deleted. The voters will be given one solution of the water problem as seen through the eyes of an experienced and competent consulting engineer whose reputation on the Pacific coast is unquestioned.

Included in this report are several charts and blueprints which were drawn for the purpose of further enlightening the voters. Under the direction of Clyde A. Malone, head of the electric light department, these charts are now being enlarged and will be placed early next week in the office of the city recorder where all interested persons may inspect them.

The mayor and members of the city council feel that there is a growing sentiment favorable to the proposed water bond issue. It is their belief that the people of Ashland realize that the time has now arrived when some definite step must be taken, and the bond issue proposals, which follow the recommendations of Mr. Dillard, are, in their best judgment, the ones which should be adopted by the voters of Ashland.

They ask that reiteration be made today that they are not seeking to sway the voters through sentiment or any other questionable means. They are simply presenting the question to the best of their ability after obtaining what they believe to be the best engineering advice possible to get, and with this as the sole basis of their argument for the bond issue, they are leaving the fate of the issue in the hands of the voters, confident that calm judgment, coupled with loyalty to Ashland, will prevail.

FAMED EDITOR GOES TO BAT WITH DIVINES

Invites Ball Fans to Get World's Series Results After Church

PROTEST IS VOICED

Preachers Charge William Allen White of Kansas With Sacrilege

EMPORIA, Kas., Oct. 9. - (United News) - William Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette, has gone to bat with local ministers over the question, "when is a ball game a sin?"

The trouble started when White, who has installed an electric scoreboard in front of his newspaper office to show the world series games, published an invitation in his newspaper to "eat a late Sunday dinner and come right down after church."

Fire is Drawn The reference to church drew fire from the preachers. They adopted resolutions deploring mention of the church in connection with Sunday baseball.

When White's turn at bat came he asked, editorially: "How long after church must a baseball game take place before it comes a simple baseball game and ceases to be an act of blasphemy?"

Questions Asked "If it takes place an hour after church, is it still sacrilege?" demanded White. "If it is played two hours after church is the game still the work of the devil? If it takes place six hours later, does it still reek of the pit? Does the smell of brimstone grow perceptibly less as the interval of time increases?"

As for mention of church and Sunday baseball in the same paragraph, White asked: "What other subjects cannot be mentioned in close proximity to church?"

The ministers have not replied, but Emporians are planning on eating a late dinner Sunday, since the Cardinals turned the trick today and trimmed the Yanks.

WANT PERSHING FOR LEGION COMMANDER

Plan to Force Former Head of Army to Take Presidency Next Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. - (UP) - A plan to draft General Pershing for commandship of the American Legion was made known here as legion officials prepared for the opening of the eighth annual legion convention next Monday at Philadelphia. They plan to elect Pershing commander in spite of contrary wishes and to have him head the convention at Paris next fall.

Pershing's popularity would aid in smoothing over the differences and ill feeling the people of that nation have toward Americans.

CARDS TIE UP WORLDS SERIES WITH YANKEES

Sixth Game Won This Afternoon, 10 to 2, in Hard Hitting Game

ALEXANDER IS WINNER

Veteran Pitcher Hurlis Another Masterful Game Against New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. - (UP) - With a vicious hitting attack against spotty pitching, the St. Louis Cardinals drew even up with the Yankees in the world's series when they won the sixth game here today by the lopsided score of 10 to 2.

It was an epidemic of hitting such as struck the Yanks in St. Louis that gave the Cardinals the sixth game and forced the series into the seventh game here tomorrow.

Falls to Deliver

Miller Huggins, manager of the Yanks, was gambling on a pitcher and lost when he put the task up to Bob Shawkey, who was relieved in the seventh by Shocker. Thomas replaced Shocker in the 8th after Shocker had let in five runs.

The Cardinals scored three runs in the first inning on two singles, a double and an infield out and a base on balls. They scored again in the fifth on two singles, a sacrifice and an infield out. They reaped a harvest of five runs in the seventh. A triple by Southworth and infield out scored the final score in the ninth inning.

Managers Rogers, Hornsby could take no chances on pitchers and used the veteran Grover Cleveland Alexander, who won last Sunday's game. Alexander justified his faith and pitched a masterful game. He was seldom in danger and the Yanks got their two runs chiefly because he had a big lead and did not bear down all the time.

COOLIDGE THINKS RADIO BILL WILL SOON BECOME LAW

Measure to Regulate Air Will Be Passed in December

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. - (United News) - President Coolidge is confident that congress will agree on a bill for the regulation of radio soon after it meets this December.

The final measure probably will be a compromise between the White bill, passed in the house and the Dill bill enacted by the senate, upon which no agreement could be reached in conference before adjournment of the last session it was said at the White House Friday.

President Coolidge and Secretary of Commerce Hoover favored the White bill, which placed regulation under the chamber of commerce. The Dill bill provided an independent radio commission, similar to the interstate commerce commission, divorced entirely from the department of commerce.

More than 40 prosecuting attorneys, sheriffs, police chiefs and deputies gathered here at the new Hotel Rogue for one of their regular banquets and business sessions.

Joe Keller, chief of the Portland office of the Pacific Coast auto underwriters, told of his experiences in running down auto and accessory thieves and said that this is becoming one of the major problems of peace officers throughout the country. He paid a high compliment to the state traffic officers by declaring they were the finest bunch of fellows he had ever found. He likewise asserted that the peace officers of Southern Oregon had always shown a remarkable spirit of cooperation with him and his officers.

Elliott Gives Views E. L. Elliott, district attorney of Klamath county, declared that cooperation prevails among the peace officers of Klamath at the present time, this being the first time in many years that they have worked together. As a result, he said, law violations are speedily solved and rigidly prosecuted. He further declared that in his opinion prohibition is not responsible for increased crime. He cited the fact that liquor violations constitute a small minority of crimes and other offenses in Klamath county at the present time.

The peace officers were welcomed to Grants Pass by Mayor Best, termed the biggest mayor in Oregon. Bill Hayes, sheriff of Josephine county, was official host and proved to be a good one. His trombone solo brought down the house.

The young fellow who studies aviation is the one who is bound to rise to the occasion.
