NORMAL SCHOOL NEWS

CLAIRE PRYBYLSKI Reporter

Miss Beatrice Walton, of the Oregon State Library, addressed the members of Jackson County teachers institute and students of Southern Oregon Normal school at a special session held at the Normal school auditorium, Monday, October 19. Miss Walton's subject was the "Seven Joys of Reading," which were:

The joy of familiarity, surprise, sympathy, expansion, appreciation, shock, revelation.

She revealed a broad scholarship and depth of understanding which was greatly appreciated by her audience.

The assembly the following day was addressed by R. R. Turner, Superintendent of Public Instruction, who urged a greater professional growth in teachers. His advice was especially timely and was received with enthusiasm by the students of the Southern Oregon Normal.

The following officers were elected by students of the Southern Oregon Normal School by regular election Tuesday, October 20.

Glen Hale, Ashland, President. Joseph Mercer, Medford, Vice-President.

Miss Reta Bunning, Cornelius, Secretary. Miss Garnett Burkhardt, Marshfield, Treasurer.

The newly organized dramatic club of the Southern Oregon Normal school held a regular meeting Wednesday evening at the Normal. The name Alpha Tauri, which means the brightest star, was chosen as the most suitable one for the club. The time of meeting was also changed to every Tuesday at four o'clock.

The tennis courts at the Southern Oregon Normal school are now ready for playing. The schedule for players is in room 8.

Stopped in Ashland—W. D. Miller of Enid, Okla., and J. D. Hooper of Portland, stopped in Ashland this morning for a few hours.

Returned from Yreka—C. B. Evans returned recently to Ashland from Yreka, where he has been opening the new Golden Rule store in that city.

Real Fried Chicken

For the noon lunch tomorrow we will have some more of those tender fried chickens which have been so popular during the past three months. They are milk fed, and fried to a crisp, golden brown.

A varied menu is offered each day at our popular lunch counter. That is why Nininger's is becoming more popular day by day.
