

ASHLAND DAILY TIDINGS

Entered at the Ashland, Oregon Postoffice as Second Class Matter

Queen Marie and Her Son

Queen Marie arrived last week to pay us a visit. Quite naturally, she is monopolizing the front pages, for she is an interesting woman.

Royalty has become tolerable since the myth of divine anointment was discarded, and a throne is worth having when those who sit upon it can hold their place through popular favor.

Certainly all mothers can sympathize with this mother whose eldest son is a bad boy who has thrown away his royal heritage for an adventure with a redheaded woman.

High School

A California farmer faces a long term in jail because he thinks high school is a place where boys and girls learn to drink, gamble and forge checks.

We think the father is unduly alarmed about the evil that boys and girls learn in high school. It is regrettably true that a great many things are sometimes learned by the pupil which aren't in the school curriculum.

Nevertheless as between the father with his unreasonable fear of the vicious influence of high school and the superintendent with his intolerance of such an attitude the father's position seems to be the more admirable.

The report that a grandson of the late James J. Hill, railroad magnate, is learning the business by beginning as a section hand at $2.50 a day, is very commendable for the younger generation of today.

Now if there were some means of injecting into the minds of the American people the same brand of enthusiasm over the election that was manifested in the recent world series, the polling places would not be able to handle the crowds at the big nationwide event next month.

It's all right and proper that we should take an interest in others, and not be too self-centered, but if the average individual would be as much concerned with his own future as he is with the past of the new neighbors, what a wonderful success he would be.

Some men inherit fortunes, some get rich by plunging into a risky venture, but the majority acquire independence by the old reliable plan of being industrious, saving and pushing ahead.

A French writer declares that Americans do not smile. It does seem as if the laugh's on us this time.

OUT OUR WAY By Williams

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 26. A particularly interesting and eventful day may be forecast from the prevailing lunar configurations fortified by an intriguing mutual aspect between Sol and Neptune.

Advertisement for 'SAP AND SALT' by 'BYBERT-MOSE'S'. The ad features a graphic of a salt shaker and a bottle of soap.

Law: Something that usually hurts two in order to benefit one. Smartness—Letting only a small fraction of your ignorance show at a time.

What Others Say

(Oregon City Enterprise) In Isaac L. Patterson, the republican of Oregon have the direct antithesis of Mr. Pierce. The republican nominee is no loud-mouthed orator.

Kiddies' Evening Story

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Earle was going to be taken on a trip and stay for several months in a little place far away from his home where there were Indian settlements nearby.

CHAPTER IV.—Patience succumbs to an attack of diphtheria, leaving Lydia feeling that her trust in God is lost and the world has collapsed. She finds comfort in the loving kindness of John Levine.

LYDIA of the Pines

By HONORE WILLIS

(Continued From Yesterday)

CHAPTER I.—With her baby sister, Lydia returned from play to the untidy home of her impoverished father, Amos Dudley, at Lake City.

CHAPTER II.—Lydia, Patience playing by the lake, are Moulton by an old squaw from the nearby reservation. Lydia gives her food.

TURNING THE PAGES BACK

ASHLAND 10 Years Ago

Misses Susanno, Homes and Beattie York, who teach in district 38, spent the week-end with their parents in Ashland.

ASHLAND 20 Years Ago

Among the arrivals of the past week are R. Z. Ferguson and Thomas Ecclefield from Garnett, Kan., father-in-law respectively of W. R. Ecclefield, one of the proprietors of the Eastern restaurant near the depot.

ASHLAND 30 Years Ago

C. B. Watson and wife went over to Eagle Point yesterday where Mr. Watson addressed the McKinley club. They will return to Ashland today.

ASHLAND 30 Years Ago

Mrs. Adams and daughter, Miss Minnie Preadmore, left on today's train for Oakland, Cal., to remain possibly for some months.

THEY WORE ORDINARY SUITS

They wore ordinary suits, they were the games when the Indians shrieked and yelled and the white boys did, too.

Every man having a beard should keep it an even and natural color, and if it is not so already use Buckingham's Dye and appear tidy.

DAILY BIBLE PASSAGE. For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

CHAPTER VI

The Cooking Glass. LYDIA with parted lips and big, staring eyes stood quietly beside Mrs. Tomlinson.