A VALUED TRIBUTE

A WOMAN has just written us: "Words cannot describe how grateful I am to you for the many acts of helpful service which you rendered during my recent great sorrow. I shall never forget them." In this instance, as in many others, we not only handled the various details with care and consideration, but we offered friendly counsel. This is all part of our service. Our foremost desire is to remove every possible burden from the minds of the sorrowing relatives and friends.
