JUST HOW LONG WILL YOU LIVE?
 CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(U. P.)—Toss a coin in the air eighty thousand times and it will land heads forty thousand times; at least this was the result of an experiment by a class at the University of California, June 28th of this year. The experiment was simply to verify what had been demonstrated many times before, namely the law of average. Just keep tossing the coin long enough and it will break even many times before you reach eighty thousand.

So it is with the expectancy of life. The life insurance companies base their investments on the law of average of human life, for your age and generation. Their statistics are derived from life statistics of the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany. It is, therefore, up to you to prolong your average if you can. In the first place, don't believe the wag who said, "Married men don't live any longer than single men, it only seems longer." The statistics for the city of Chicago—for 1925—show that out of 1,000 men, from 25 to 34 years, those who die, included 15 who were divorced, 5 who were single, and only 4 who were married. The ration is even more favorable as they get older. Women as an average live three years longer than men. The average life is now 58 years; you should live 8 years longer than your parents and 12 years longer than your grandparents; and some of our grandparents lived to be pretty old people. However, the average life of people in your grandparents' generation was 46 years, and the average life of those of your parents' generation was 50 years. Your children should live four years longer than you do. The average life in 1950 will be 75 years it is expected. When it comes to long life, try to be a little better than the average. Get the habit of the annual health ex-don't go to a fortun teller, in order to find out how long you are going to live. Go to your family doctor and insist that he keep you well. Here's the table which you should try to beat:

 At 7 years of age, you should live 58 years more.
 At 12 years of age, you should live 53 years more.
 At 32 years of age, you should live 37 years more.
 At 42 years of age, you should live 29 years more.
 At 52 years of age, you should live 21 years more.
 At 62 years of age, you should live 15 years more.
 At 72 years of age, you should live 9 years more.
 At 82 years of age, you should live 5 years more.
 At 92 years of age, you should live 3 years more.
 At 102 years of age, you should live 2 years more.
