Franklin The Business Man

For National Thrift Week (January 17-23) we are quoting the following paragraph from Benjamin Franklin's autobiography relative to essentials for business success:

"I took care not only to be in reality industrious and frugal, but to avoid all appearances to the contrary. I dressed plainly; I was seen at no places of idle diversion. Thus, being esteemed an industrious, thriving young man, and paying duly for what I bought, the merchants solicited my custom and I went on swimmingly."

The right use of a banking connection can be made most valuable in establishing that credit standing which is essential to success in business.
