

MRS. COOLIDGE NEEDS MANY WINTER CLOTHES

Economy Preached by President Not Carried Out by His Wife

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—President Coolidge may preach economy, but his wife can't get through a Washington winter with less than a couple of dozen brand new outfits. Mrs. Coolidge has at least that many this winter, coats, street costumes, afternoon dresses and evening gowns.

Burgundy red and white are the outstanding notes in her winter wardrobe. But she has garments of almost every other color too.

Her newest winter coat is gray caracul with fox collar and cuffs. With this she sometimes wears a grey chiffon dress, all flimsy and fuzzy with long trailing wing sleeves, a grey hat and grey slippers. And at other times she wears a strikingly vivid blue dress of georgette crepe.

She has a beige coat for warmer days which is part of a beige ensemble. Beige satin hat beige fox scarf, beige dress underneath and beige slippers.

And she has a winter suit of deep red velour, tailored very simply. With it she wears a black velvet high crowned hat and a silver fur. She also has a "wrap around" coat with a collar which buttons up tightly around the throat and a tan seersucker sport coat, several tailored street suits and a black coat trimmed with a narrow band of white fur on the collar, besides the all white costumes which she wears in almost all kinds of weather.

Her prettiest evening dress of the season is white satin. It has a round neck, a narrow train, and no trimming except two rhinestone ornaments, one on the left shoulder and one at the low waist line.

Another striking, but less becoming evening dress is heavy white taffeta trimmed with gold lace and embroidered in gold. Still another in pink taffeta, made in a period style with wired hoop effect and bead embroidery.

A MAIN STREET IN BEARDSTOWN, ILLINOIS AT "HIGH TIDE" THE TOWN IS STILL UNDER WATER.

Catastrophes While Not Greatest in Number, Set Record in Magnitude and Fury

WINDS whirling like giant columns of smoke, winds that mow down trees and houses as a scythe cuts wheat, angry rivers swollen by rains—all the terrible forces of the unbridled elements—fire, wind and flood—have concentrated their fury for twelve months upon the North American Continent. Never in the history of the American Red Cross has there been recorded a disaster period to compare with the year 1926.

Not perhaps in the actual number of catastrophes, but in the magnitude and fury of those visited upon the United States, has the year set its record. Nearly sixty disasters have occurred in this country during the last twelve months and seventeen foreign countries suffered disasters serious enough to call for help from the American Red Cross.

Approximately 700 persons have been killed in the United States, and hundreds injured. The list of the homeless soars into thousands and millions of dollars have been expended by the Red Cross in its efforts to bind up the wounds of those who were hurt, to care for the destitute, repair and rebuild homes, replant orchards, and establish trust funds for widows and orphans.

Many Disasters
Two months, September and October, witnessed an unparalleled outbreak of Nature's wrath. During that period occurred the Florida hurricane, the worst disaster in the annals of the Red Cross Disaster Relief since the San Francisco earthquake and fire; the Illinois River Valley flood, the Kansas flood, the Iowa flood; two fires in Alaska which destroyed whole villages; floods in Oklahoma, a tornado in Kentucky, Ohio; the Cuban hurricane, as destructive as the Florida storm; a flood in Mexico, and hurricanes in

75-YEAR OLD SALE BILL IS REPRINTED

G. C. Chase, who lives just east of the city received a paper from his home town the other day, which contained a reprint of a sale bill 75 years old. It varies from the present day sale bill in so many articles that show the trend of the times that the Argus couldn't resist the temptation to print it.

Walter B. Forward, when he had his bills printed for his Shorthorn state, brought along a copy of a sale bill which was published in the Anderson (Ky.) News in February 1849, more than 75 years ago, says the Prophetstown, Ill., Echo. Following is the bill as it originally appeared:

Having sold my farm and leaving for "Oregon Territory" by ox team, will offer on March 1st, 1849, all of my personal property, to-wit:

- All ox teams, except 2 teams, Buck and Ben and Tom and Jerry; 2 milch cows, 1 grey mare and colt; 1 pair of oxen and yoke; 1 baby yoke; 2 ox carts; 1 iron plow with wood mole board; 800 feet of poplar weather boards; 1,000 three-foot clapboards; 150-foot fence rails; 1 60-gallon soap kettle; 85 sugar troughs made of white ash timber; 10 gallons of maple syrup; 2 spinning wheels; 30 pounds of mutton tallow; 20 pounds of beef tallow; 1 large loom, made by Jerry Wilson; 300 poles; 100 split hoops; 100 empty barrels; one 32-gallon barrel of Johnson-Miller whiskey, 7 years old; 20 gallons of apple brandy; 1 40-gallon copper still; 4 sides of oak tanned leather; 1 dozen real hooks; 2 handle hooks; scythes and cradles; 1 dozen wooden pitchforks; one-half interest in tan yard; 1 re-

A BLOCK OF STORES, FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA, DEMOLISHED BY HURRICANE SEPTEMBER 18, 1926

Here is a wire from George A. Parks, Governor of Alaska, telling the story of the fires:

"Two communities in Alaska were visited by disastrous fires this year, the Indian village Kaka, where twenty-two homes were destroyed, leaving one hundred persons homeless, another at Douglas, where eighty-five homes were destroyed, leaving one hundred seventy-five homeless. Immediate relief was afforded by the local chapters of the Red Cross and a representative of the local Red Cross was present in each place in charge of relief work. National Headquarters responded with funds sufficient to meet all requirements and shortly thereafter a representative of the National Organization was in Douglas and assumed complete charge of work. Because of the immediate response of your organization, there was no suffering and the confidence Alaskans have in the American Red Cross is best shown by the willing co-operation they have given your representatives and their response to annual Roll Call. Your assistance is appreciated."

Workers Still Busy
In the flooded area, containing around Beardstown, Illinois, a large part of the countryside is still under water with little promise of its receding soon. Consequently workers are still busy in the area and much of the work is still in the emergency relief stage. The Red Cross is at work now in the following disaster-stricken communities: Princeton, Indiana, scene of Francisco mine explosion; Southwestern tornado area, covering sections in Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana, Alabama and Missouri; in Florida and in the Philippines.

Appreciative notes from individuals aided and from Governors of States in which disasters have occurred, attest that the work of the Red Cross is appreciated. In almost every instance, State and city officials have co-operated actively with the organization, giving it complete charge of the situation.
