MY RAINIER

The mountain lifts its white veil of head.
 A sentry by the sea.
 She stands there like a nun at prayer,
 In holy ecstasy.

A halo plays about her head
 At morn and twilight's glow.
 Her countenance is calm and sweet,
 The storms have made it so.

Our own madonna, suffering,
 Wise,
 Her head on heaven's breast,
 And looking down on field and town,
 The Mother of the West.

 Sedro-Woolley, Wash.

Elaborate Affair—The Elks' Anniversary ball, which will occur Wednesday, March 16, will be an elaborate and brilliant affair.

Preparations are now well under way and the decorations it is thought, will far surpass any preceding ones. A great deal of time, patience and energy is being expended to complete the arrangements.

The following ladies are in charge of the decorations: Mrs. Domino Provost and Mrs. Victor Mills, the ballroom, which will represent when finished, a huge dome of bright colors; Mrs. Sylvan Provost, the banquet room, which will represent a rainbow of soft pastel shades and Mrs. Henry Vaupel, the clubroom, which will be carried out in purple and white with a number of beautiful table lamps, floor lamps, ferns, silk cushions and candles forming a cozy and pretty background.

Morehouse Home Scene of Happy Gathering—The Morehouse home on Third street was the scene of a happy gathering Friday evening, March fourth, marking the fourteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. Morehouse. Plans for the affair had been kept as a surprise and little did they suspect the nature of the event when they opened the door and found a host of relatives waiting to congratulate them.

During the evening an original story, "Housewarming Forty Years Ago," was read, during which the guests supplied the missing nouns. Afterward, each guest told the date and place of his marriage and by whom performed, the husbands being required to describe the wedding dresses worn by their wives.

Mr. J. C. Barnard had charge of a guessing contest which had to do with modern inventions that sawed forty years ago knew nothing about. Mrs. Marie Robinson read "The Grown He Died to You," and Riley's "An Old Sweetheart of Mine" was given by Miss Corbett Morehouse.

Refreshments were served, after which the lights were turned down and all enjoyed an hour of music and story-telling by the open fireplace.

Upon leaving, all declared their intention of coming back in ten years to help celebrate the Golden wedding. The beautiful and useful gifts received were much appreciated.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Howard and son Billy George, M. P. Welch and Mrs. Nellie Brock of Medford and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barnard, Joseph Welch, Mrs. Emma Becker, Mrs. Marie Robinson and Mrs. Harry Smith of Ashland.

Where Men Are Skycrapers

New York has her tall buildings, but Texas and Kansas claim the honors for growing men. Young Jack Edmich (left) is here to build up his one of the high spots you ought to see when you get to El Paso, Tex. In the center is Miss Florence Klein, of El Paso, a state American Legion Auxiliary officer. To the right is State Senator H. W. Behrens, of Lubbock, Kan. He is 6 feet 7 inches above all and one of the reasons why the Kansas legislature is trying to have all their bills made nine feet long.

Vital News

Nothing so vitally concerns you in every-day life as the urge and necessity to buy or sell—to give or take—to borrow or exchange. Look through the advertisements of this paper and you will find that they embody the chief impulses of living.

The nation's life is clearly depicted in the national advertising.

Our individual lives depend upon this advertising to a remarkable degree.

A newspaper is a clearing-house for ideas and commodities. Reports of the shifting phases of life come to you through its news and editorial columns. But reports of the material things upon which you depend for sustenance, comfort and happiness come through the advertisements.

If you read only one side of the paper, you gain only a half-knowledge of the activities, the aims, the character of the community.
