HUNT FOR GOLD THAT COST LIVES OF TWO
A True Tom Sawyer Treasure Hunt is on in China

PEKING, (AP)—A true Tom Sawyer buried treasure hunt is in progress within the secret walls of the Purple Forbidden City of Peking—a hunt for fifty golden bars which cost the lives of two lovely concubines of the Emperor Kwang Hsu.

An aged Chinese woman, who, thirty years ago, was attendant to two concubines is teller of the tale which led to this search.

According to her story as told to officials of the Palace Museum, the late Empress Dowager who is famed as China's last strong ruler, and who ruled the weakling Kwang Hsu with the proverbial rod of iron, resorted to sale of office to gratify her desire for funds with which to carry out such projects as the building of the new summer palace west of Peking. This demoralized the whole Imperial Household, and two concubines accepted a bribe of fifty golden bars from an official of Fukien.

Learning of this, the Empress summoned the concubines and demanded the golden bars. Upon being refused, a refusal made worse by the concubines' counter-charge that she herself had set them a bad example, the Empress ordered them into close confinement and subsequently caused them to commit suicide just before the flight of the Court when the foreign Boxer Relief Force arrived in 1900.

The woman who tells the story was then a girl of 19, and she, as attendant to the two captives, helped them conceal the booty. Several buildings have been constructed on the site and initial search has been unavailing, but with the promise of three gold bars as reward if the treasure is found, the woman is helping in a vigorous hunt.

COMBINES HARVEST WHEAT IN KANSAS

Expect Them to do the Work of 2500 Harvest Hands

KANSAS CITY, Mo. May 11—(AP)—Combines—squat, whirring machines that creep slowly across the limitless acres of waving wheat—will this summer do the work of 25,000 harvest hands, hitherto imported each year from the east and north.

Therefore this season fewer college boys will earn money to pay for next year's schooling by shocking grain behind clanking binders or pitching grain from the header into mammoth threshers and fewer thousands of men will converge in Kansas in June, to spread over the country like locusts to live off the harvest.

By harvest time this year there will be in Kansas alone more than 12,000 combines, which will be able to harvest 8,000,000 acres of wheat without the help of harvest hands. Already popular with owners of large wheat acreages, they are now being purchased by owners of smaller tracts.

Even in Missouri, where the binder has heretofore sufficed, small combines with 9-foot cuts are being distributed in large numbers.

The large combine, drawn by a tractor, cuts a 16-foot swath, threshes and sacks the grain and spreads the straw in it wake, all in one operation. One man drives the tractor, another runs the combine, and a third man hauls the sacked grain to the elevator in a truck. By this system the farmer can harvest 50 to 75 acres a day against twenty acres a day under the old system when he had 20 harvest hands, who had to be fed and provided with lodgings.

Last year, although the coming of the combine was recognized by the Kansas College of Agriculture, calls for hired help were sent out which provided several thousand more men than were needed. As an aftermath, the agriculture department made a survey in the state and found that nearly 9,000 combines were used in the harvest in 1936. Since that time, a survey indicates, at least half that number will be added before the harvesting season this year. Factories are rushing their output on reports from salesmen that combine sales this spring will be greater than ever before. Six carloads of combines were unloaded in one day recently at Salina, Kansas, in the wheat belt.

SOAP, SOUP, CEREAL AND MUSIC ARRIVE

LOS ANGELES, May 11—(AP)—A forgotten wag once said "the essentials of the average American home are soap, soup, symphony and cereal."

Three of the four horsemen of what every home should have simultaneously rode into Los Angeles on the cushions of a Pullman car recently.

They were Andrew Jergens, William Post and Raymond Wur-litzer. Bonnie Mr. Campbell, who represents soap in the quartet, was said to be detained in the east searching for an elusive golf pellet.

Andrew Jergens, who makes soap, was queried on music:

"It's organic," he answered. "I think if my friend Campbell, the soup maker, were here, he could tell you more about it than I."

Raymond Wur-litzer, who makes musical instruments and saxophones was asked what he thought of the soap industry:

"My connection with the soap industry is purely personal," he stated, "but I will say that Jergen's negligence in not putting out a non-skid bath soap is killing off the saxophone players."

William Post, who specializes in breakfast food and other labor saving devices, was requested to make a statement on soap and symphony.

He declined, stating that from personal observation of musicians the two subjects could not be discussed in one statement.

er is less prevalent in Egypt than in this country," Dr. Dolby said, and said this fact was fortunate as facilities for treatment are less in Cairo than here.

Following the round-table discussion on this subject the 1936 meeting was adjourned.
