COUNCIL GIVES CONTRACT FOR COMPANY O. K.

Perosi-Butler Proposition Is Approved And Franchise Protected Fully Rights Of The City For Future Development—Definite Decision Later

City councilmen met in special session Thursday evening and after discussion of the proposition presented by D. Perosi and G. W. Butler for commercializing the city supply of Lithia water, expressed themselves as unanimously in favor of the proposition and presented to Mr. Butler and Mr. Perosi a contract for their consideration.

The contract is similar to the one presented to the council by Mr. Perosi and Mr. Butler, except that it is more specific in its details.

Main provisions of the contract, according to City Solicitor Wm. Briggs who assisted in the preparation, are for the establishment of the bottling and labeling and marketing of the Lithia water, within a reasonable length of time, this probably to be a period of six months. The contract also provides that after the plant is in operation for six months, a royalty of one-quarter cent on each bottle of water sold, is to be paid this city, the minimum amount of royalty to be $50 per month, which according to members of the council who assisted in the revision of the contract, will mean an average output of approximately 10 cases of the water daily.

Councilmen met in informal session at 7:15 Thursday evening, and discussed the contract in various phases, protecting the rights of the city, and later called Mr. Butler, who said that he could not speak for Mr. Perosi, and that it was agreeable for him to take the contract into consideration before final acceptance by both city and the proposed company.

In formal session, Councilmen, Peters, Bergner, Kay and Thornton and White, expressed themselves favoring the contract, and its presentation to the Butler-Perosi partnership for consideration. Councilman E. A. Woods is out of the city. Mayor C. H. Pierce is heartily in favor of the contract.

In discussing the possibilities of the commercialized development of the Ashland Lithia waters, Mr. Butler said he recently talked with a Los Angeles doctor, who was anxious to secure a large order of the water for prescription among his patients.

The contract provides the partnership the right of commercializing and marketing gasses from the city springs. It also provides that the commercialized product shall be known as "Ashland Lithia Water" thus serving a two-fold purpose—in advertising the town as well as its commercial value.

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., June 10.—(UP)—Indians are searching for the body of Clifford Brown, Salem, Oregon merchant who drowned June 5.

FATAL THREE TO FIGURE IN PROSECUTION

Counsel For State And Defense Make Opening Statements Today—Atrocious Crime Reviewed By State Attorneys—Defense Says Hugh Was Model 18-Year-Old Youth.

The jury which will hear the D'Autremont case, which includes one change in the list published in Thursday Daily Tidings is as follows:

T. L. Farlow, Farmer, Lake Creek.

R. L. Didenar, Dairyman, Eagle Point.

M. P. Carney, Horticulturalist, Central Point.

R. S. Daniels, Engineer, Medford.

Henry Frame, Farmer, Talent.

L. L. Norcross, Rooming House, Ashland.

Paul Martin, Farmer, Central Point.

Earl W. Weaver, merchant, Central Point.

W. H. Hittle, Farmer, Gold Hill.

Frank Nutter, Farmer, Ashland.

Frank P. Dutton, Farmer, Medford.

Wm. F. Darby, Ashland.

Thirteen is the number which plays an unlucky part in many person's lives, but three is the number which may be the unlucky one for Hugh D'Autremont, according to an inference from the remarks of Special Prosecutor George Roberts in his opening statement this morning to the jury in the D'Autremont case.

The Rule of Three will figure prominently in the trial, Mr. Roberts stated. Three knapsacks, three canteens and many other articles and facts of evidence in three—as well as the three D'Autremonts, will be introduced by the state during the trial to emphasize the Rule of Three.

This will be in conjunction with the state's plan to attempt to show that there was a conspiracy between the three D'Autremonts in the robbery and blowing up of Train Number 13 in the Siskiyou tunnel October 11, 1923, which resulted in the death of four trainmen. The murder of Coyle O. Johnson, one of the trainmen, is the basis of the charge against Hugh D'Autremont in the present trial.

Smith Talks
Defense Attorney, Fred Smith, in contrast to the long statement by Attorney Roberts, occupied only a few minutes in his opening statement to the jury.

He said he was convinced that in the entire statement by the prosecutor, the defendant in this case had not been directly connected with a single point of alleged evidence and asked, "Why did the state recount the gruesome details of the holdup in their opening statement?"

He said Hugh had been a model young man, being only approximately 18 years of age when he is alleged to have participated in the Siskiyou crime. He challenged the state to connect Hugh with any evidence showing he had participated in the crime, and emphasized that no claims in the opening statement should be used as evidence in the trial.

Mr. Roberts in his statement to the jury, which followed the swearing in of the jury at the opening of court this morning, recounted the gruesome details of the explosion, shooting and hold-up which brought death to four men, Marvin Berg, fireman, Sidney Bates, engineer, Charles O. Johnson, dead-heading brakeman and E. E. Daugherty, postal clerk in the crew of the ill fated crew.

He told of the searches made over the hills and the discoveries of the possessions—the battery, canteens, knapsacks, camps, overalls

A Proclamation

The city administration takes this means of letting the Ashland public see its extreme friendliness towards the Southern Oregon Normal School and its deep concern for the success of all the activities of this our greatest institution, but more particularly that the Spring Festival to be presented by the faculty and students next Saturday evening at 8:30 at the dance platform in the park (or in event of rain in the Chautauqua building) have the fullest publicity and evidence of our municipal solitude.

With all the assistance we render this is such a costly and elaborate spectacle, no expense being shared in its production, there will be some deppitt for the normal to bear and it is our desire this be reduced to the minimum.

The day and this its closing event commemorate the first graduation at our new Normal school and has real historical significance for Ashland. Let everyone who possibly can attend the evening Spring Festival, urge the ticket sale with friends and neighbors and thus express your appreciation of the first years work of President Churchill and his associates in a manner and in a degree not hitherto possible.

The costuming, the music, the natural open-air setting, the beautiful evolutions and original dances, will be out of the ordinary, and be well worth while.

If this first Spring Festival is well supported by the people of Ashland and the valley, generally it will send the faculty and student body away for their summer vacations as strong boosters for Ashland and will naturally react to our advantage.

Besides, if this first Spring Festival proves a success and has proper support, it will be made an annual event to which visitors will in course of time come to Ashland in large numbers much as they do to Portland Rose Festival.

Please do your bit to stimulate a large attendance next Saturday evening.

C. H. PIERCE, Mayor.

CAPITOL CITY TO WELCOME "LINDY" HOME

Cold, Cynical Washington, Is Mad With Enthusiasm As "Memphis" Speeds On Bringing The Hero Of The Hour Nearer—Honors To Exceed Those Given By Europeans.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(UP)—America's great reception for Charles Lindbergh has started. Six destroyers, nearly 100 planes on the high seas are preparing to meet the cruiser, "Memphis" speeding the great trans-Atlantic flyer home.

Emissaries of nations are planning to take Col. Lindbergh greetings as a foretaste of the tumultuous welcome which this is determined will exceed even the tremendous ovations of Paris, Brussels and London.

Windows everywhere are bearing pictures of "Lindy." The only fear is that enthused citizens and visitors may crush him, military authorities are taking all precaution, even to prohibiting the Lindbergh parade scheduled for Saturday from pausing in its line of march.

The cold, hard-belled city, which snickers at the little faults of the presidents and looks with fishy eye on all heroes, is prepared to break all precedent and take Colonel Lindbergh to its heart at 100 per cent face value.

If the Memphis keeps up her speed, Lindbergh should come down the gantry at Washington navy yard about 11 a. m., Saturday, the center of the most genuine outpouring of honor and affection that has been visited upon a returning hero, within memory.

It will be a tribute not only from the half-million or so persons who will see him in the flesh, but also of the millions of Americans in every corner of the land who will be listening in on the greatest radio hookup ever arranged.

ALBANY, ORE., June 10.—(UP)—No inquest is to be held for Mrs. Paul Lake whose charred body was found in her home by firemen who answered a call for help. She was alone. Details of the fire are unknown.

Governor And Regents Will Attend Meet

Governor I. L. Patterson, members of the board of regents of Oregon Normal School, will be present at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon forum to be held next Tuesday.

A musical program is to be furnished by the "Merrimacs" University of Oregon Orchestra, which "Sharkey" Moore, New Ashland Band leader will bring to this city.

Governor Patterson and the board of regents, E. E. Bragg, Salem, Frank J. Miller, Albany, C. L. Starr, Portland, W. C. Bryant, Moro and Geo. A. Hartman, Pendleton, and J. H. Fuller of this city will be in Ashland Tuesday to attend the commencement exercises of the Southern Oregon Normal school, and arrangements have been made for them to attend the Chamber dinner.

PIONEER IS DEAD

Was Half Century Resident Of Jackson County And Well Known

Andrew Dosier, for the last half century a Jackson county resident, died at his home near the Wagner Soda Springs Tuesday evening, June 9, 1927.

Mr. Dosier, who was past 83 years of age at the time of his death was one of the best known characters in Jackson county. He was a native of Arkansas coming to Oregon many years ago, crossing the plains and enduring all of the hardships of pioneer travel and the heaving of a home in a pioneer country.

His wife was Levina Powell, also a native of Arkansas and quite as much of a character as her husband, whom she survives. Several children also mark the passing of their father. His death followed an illness of several months.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Stock parlors, and interment will be made in the Hill cemetery.

ROSE SHOW STARTS MON.

Stage Is Set For Big Rose Carnival—Late Spring Means Exquisite Blossoms

PORTLAND, OREGON, June 10.—The stage is set, literally and figuratively for the most pretentious Rose Festival in the 20 summers that Portland has been playing annual homage to the beautiful queen of the flowers, the week starting June 13 will be replete with entertainment day and night.

A week of sunshine has brought out the rose blossoms in gorgeous profusion. The city will be in its most beautiful dress for the throngs expected to participate in the week's festivities.

Dress Rehearsal Tonight For "Spring Festival" Perfection

For two days workmen have been busy transforming the beautiful Sylvan Grove in Litchia park where the Spring Festival is to be given tomorrow night—inaugurating what is hoped will become an Ashland institution—a program which in point of beauty and harmony of dance and color, will rival similar entertainments.

The band stand is covered with a miniature forest, the lighting work is practically finished, and a number of lighting effects, which will rival even the moonlight and sunlight, have been effected.

This evening there will be an outdoor dress rehearsal. The 65 members of the cast have perfected their work and the presentation tomorrow night will be a thing of exquisite beauty and charm.

RAY DEPLORES LEAVING WIFE IN SAD PLIGHT

"I Should Have Married Someone Who Wouldn't Have Cared," He Tells Police—Twins Will Be Given Preliminary Arraignment Before U. S. Commissioner—

Bulletin

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, June 10.—(UP)—Roy and Ray D'Autremont today waived extradition when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Barrow and were ordered held in default of $50,000 bond each. The twins are to be taken to Columbus tonight and from there will go to Medford, Oregon as soon as papers can be signed.

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, June 10.—(UP)—Roy and Ray D'Autremont, whose capture climaxed an international manhunt, may be taken to Oregon to testify in the trial of their younger brother, Hugh, before being tried for robbery in connection with the Siskiyou train robbery.

This was indicated when U. S. Marshal W. B. Bartell, Columbus, Ohio, instructed officers to hold the twins in closest custody, temporarily. They are separated and under guard pending arrival of the postal bureau and department heads.

In High Spirits
The twins continued in high spirits, singing French songs, to the delight of crowds of curious persons who lined the alleyway in the rear of the prison.

Ray Visited by Wife
Mrs. Hazel Goodwin, pretty Spanish girl, who says she married "Clarence Goodwin" identified as Ray D'Autremont took their year old baby to the jail today for a brief visit.

She afterwards told of having married "Clarence" in Greenup, Kentucky, and moving with him to Ironton, Ohio. She insists she has been married for four years, and keeping house for the two brothers since they settled here last January.

"My mistake was in marrying Hazel, declared Ray D'Autremont to police.

He then told how he had planned to marry at the first opportunity so that he could settle somewhere and not create suspicion.

"My wife is the finest little girl you ever met," Ray continued, "I should not have married a girl like that. I should have married some one who wouldn't care and one that I wouldn't care so much about. Here I am leaving a young and splendid girl all alone with her baby in a strange town. She just can't and won't understand."

Police were told that the twins were to be given a preliminary arraignment before Deputy Commissioner G. J. Borkowsky today.
