

PLAYGROUND IS DISCUSSED

Kiwanis Told That Lithia Park Enterprise Has Great Future

Speaking earnestly, Miss Faye Carver, supervisor of the Lithia Park Playgrounds, today at noon told the Kiwanians that many advantages of the playground work and reminded them that the citizens who conceived Lithia Park certainly were men of keen foresight who had visioned the great benefit it would be to Ashland in the future.

She said play is a basic instinct in children, and that older persons enjoy it. She said the playgrounds was not only for parents to have a place to send their children when they wanted to get rid of them for an afternoon, but that it was for the building of better citizenship.

Children there are taught to exemplify fairness, and selfishness soon isolates them. The spirit generated in the playgrounds makes for better work in the schools. She said the playgrounds here was doing splendid work, but needs a full-time supervisor and she felt certain Ashland would furnish this and other needed improvements.

Commenting on Lithia Park, she said this was the greatest advertisement Ashland has and told of many questions which the appreciative tourists ask her.

She urged all to visit the playgrounds, which she said had been used by 9,000 children last year at a cost of two and a third cents per child last year. Twenty-two millions of dollars were spent on 700 playgrounds last year to the ideal of Lithia live up to the ideal of Lithia park, she stated.

Dr. R. L. Burdick acted as chairman at the luncheon. J. W. McCoy emphasized the importance of attending the division conference of Kiwanians at Roseburg June 30th. Secretary Walter of the Y. M. C. A. reminded the Kiwanians he had the names of several youths who wanted to attend the Y. M. C. A. camp-ment, but did not have the money. They want work so as to provide the necessary funds, he said. Harvey Woods, with Mrs. Woods accompanying at the piano, gave two enjoyable violin solos. Rev. Mitchelmore, new Kiwanian, was introduced.

HOTEL CHANGE IS ADVERTISED

Multnomah Corporation Gives Ashland Publicity In Hotel Journals

Ashland is receiving considerable advertising in connection with the change in lease at the Lithia Springs hotel. The Multnomah corporation, which now has a 10-year lease on the local property has done considerable circularizing in relation to their management of the hotel.

Besides circular letters which they sent to local stockholders, asking their co-operation in making the hotel a success, the management is now getting considerable publicity in hotel journals throughout the nation.

The Multnomah Hotel corporation, which besides the local hotel has several others, is well-known throughout the nation and is tying the local hotel up with the other institutions they operate on the coast.

National Park Open June 25

TACOMA, Wash., June 17. — Rainier National Park will officially open its gates to the touring public June 25, for its 28th annual season, park officials have announced. All Park hotels, camps, auto parks, transportation facilities and guide services will begin operation at that time. Travel records are expected to be smashed during the new season, when it is predicted in excess of 200,000 tourists will visit the Park during the summer. Visitors from Oregon during the 1926 season numbered 6,958 people and 1,888 cars, ranking second among States other than Washington, in number of visitors.

Health Hints

A recent epidemic of typhoid fever in a small city of eastern Oregon was caused by a break in a defective pipe-line. This should serve as a warning to city officials throughout this state to take immediate steps to survey the water systems and make such changes as will insure safe water for the communities which they serve. It is the sworn duty of every city official to guard the health of the community and in doing this he must see that the people have a safe water supply. When public water supplies are not properly protected, we are likely to find typhoid fever prevalent. Water-borne typhoid is absolutely preventable and therefore absolutely inexcusable.

City water supplies can be rendered safe by chemical purification and filtration. By these methods, any community can assure itself of a safe water supply at a very moderate cost. For the small village using a naturally stored water supply the essential safeguard of chlorination can be secured at a cost of less than ten cents per capita per year. For those who are unfortunate enough to live in communities where the water supply is not properly protected, safety can be assured by boiling the water before it is used for drinking. Similarly in all communities, milk should be boiled or pasteurized, for there is no safe raw milk any more than there is safe untreated water.

The typhoid danger that exists in summer homes, tourist camps and picnic grounds is due to primitive methods of sanitation and sewage disposal. The danger is easy to understand for typhoid fever is an intestinal disease and countless millions of germs are present in the excretions of patients and carriers. From the excretions, the germs may be carried either directly or indirectly by means of flies, fingers, etc., to food, water or milk, when if consumed, may cause typhoid. Finally for those who live or travel in regions where sanitation is still primitive, immunization by the use of anti-typhoid vaccine, is a process which repeated every five years will, in the vast majority of instances, protect against infection with this disease.

Purification of water supplies, pasteurization of milk supplies and the use of typhoid vaccine have done much to reduce the incidence of typhoid, and when generally applied to every community in this state will make it possible to eradicate typhoid fever which now costs the state about $340,000.00 annually.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 17. — Colonel Charles Lindbergh brought his monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," to rest here on its home field this afternoon at 3:36 and thousands cheered as the plane stopped in front of the waiting crowd.

JULY 2 ENDS ALL RENEWALS

World War Vets Urged To Get Insurance Policy Reinstatement

Urging World War veterans of this community and state to avoid the inevitable last-minute rush of war-risk insurance reinstatement, Kenneth L. Cooper, Portland Regional Manager of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau is giving last minute warning that July 2 of this year is the last day that government insurance will be available. He asks that those entitled to government policies, by reason of having had war insurance, take action in this matter at the earliest possible moment in order that every applicant may be taken care of.

"The expiration date set by Congress for reinstatement of war insurance is only about two weeks off," said Mr. Cooper. "There are hundreds of ex-service men in this state who intend to take advantage of this government benefit before July 2, as shown by requests for blanks and forms. Action should not be delayed until the last two or three days. Therefore, it is urged that action on this matter be taken now.

"The privilege of converting term insurance, now held by thousands of veterans throughout the country, into the five-year level-premium or one of the permanent government policies is also limited to July 2. Six forms of endorsement and life policies are available. The fact the private insurance companies highly endorse these policies show their value. Veterans who are hesitating to reinstate because of financial reasons should consider the five-year policy which allows conversion to a permanent policy at a later date."

Application blanks and instructions may be secured from the local Red Cross chapter, American Legion post or by letter from the Regional Office of the Veterans' Bureau, Wood-Lark Building, Portland, Oregon.

Talk Erection Of New School

J. H. Fuller, member of the state normal schools board of regents, returned this morning after attending the regular quarterly meeting of the board. Mr. Fuller said an architect was present at the meeting and presented a drawing of the proposed Eastern Oregon Normal school, but he said there was very little discussion on the new normal school for which the voters last fall approved an appropriation of $400,000. The inference is that the board is waiting until after the June 28 election to see the outcome of the income tax measure, which would provide the money to cover the cost of this school. Otherwise, it has not been decided where the money will be procured.
