

History of Pioneer Family Told by Jacksonville Woman

By Fred Lockley

"I was born in Yoncalla valley, said Mrs. H. H. Sergeant when I visited her recently at her beautiful home in Jacksonville. The Applegate brothers, Charles, Lindsay and Jesse came to Oregon in 1843. My father, Lindsay Applegate, was born at Lexington, Ky. My mother, whose maiden name was Elizabeth B. Miller, was born in East Tennessee. Father and mother had 12 children. In the following order: Elsie L., Warren, Jesse Theresia, who married Captain J. N. McCall of Vancouver; Ivan and Lucien — born prior to their coming to Oregon. The first born in Oregon was my brother Oliver C., who lives at Klamath Falls. Then came Ann Miller Applegate and Francis Marion. I was next and was christened Alice Catherine. Jerome B. came next, then Rachel, who married M. S. Alford, city recorder of Medford. My uncle Charles Applegate had 16 children, Uncle Jesse had 12 and my father 12.

"Michael Thomas and associates, in 1857, was granted a 20-year franchise for a toll road across the Siskiyou. In 1859 father bought this road. The original toll house was a log cabin, with a fireplace of rough stone. Its doors were of heavy planks, and were fastened with wooden bars fitting into iron brackets. Father built a new toll house, with two fireplaces, and much larger than the former house. It is now known as the Dolanridge house. Keeping the toll road was not merely a matter of collecting toll from those who passed over it, but also of keeping the road clear of trees that fell across it, clearing the snow with several yokes of oxen and a Mr. Bobbed, removing slides in the spring, and, in fact, keeping constantly busy improving the road. We were there nine years.

"My first teacher was my brother Jesse, and later I went to school at the Ashland public school, my teacher being my brother Oliver. Later I attended school to J. M. Jacobs.

"When I was nearly 18 I ran away and got married to Olney Mickelson. I was married to Lieutenant H. H. Sergeant in 1886. I met him at Fort Klamath. At the time I married him he was a second lieutenant and had been out of West Point three years. Shortly after our marriage he was detailed as instructor in military science at Urbana. I had never before been out of Oregon. We spent a year at Urbana, when my husband was sent to Fort Bidwell, Calif. After a year and a half there we were ordered to Walla Walla. My husband was a lieutenant and in command of Troop M of the 2d United States cavalry. We marched from Fort Bidwell to Walla Walla, about 500 miles. I rode horseback part of the way, and the rest of the way in an ambulance. We were 21 days on the road, and found a foot and a half of snow in the Blue mountains. I could not help thinking as I passed through the snow how my mother had walked over the Blue mountains in 1843, through a heavy snowstorm, carrying the baby and leading her little boy 3 years old. She said when she got tural college of Texas. From Texas we went to the regimental headquarters at Fort Des Moines, Iowa. From there my husband was ordered to Washington, D. C., to attend the army war college. In 1909 we went to the Philippines on our second tour of the islands. General Pershing was in command. My husband was in West Point, recommended Jack Pershing for corporal. At the time Pershing was a private and my husband a sergeant. During the World war my husband served on the board of strategy at Washington, D. C. The last book he wrote was "The Campaign of Santiago de Cuba," in three volumes."

New Premier

Pan Fu (above) is the new premier of China. At least he was so appointed by Chang Tiao-lin, one of the war lords, at the first cabinet meeting after Chang had named himself China's leader.

BELLVIEW NOTES

Mrs. W. G. Tucker Phone 2714

Mrs. W. L. Moore spent Monday visiting at the home of Mrs. C. I. Homes on the Boulevard in Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Barnes entertained old friends the Gordons, from Grants Pass, over Sunday. They have visited here before, and a time or two helped to swell the old time dancing crowd both in Bellview and in Ashland.

The Landriault family, who have lived in Bellview the past year and have specialized in the raising of turkeys, took several hundred over to the range across Bear creek from Ashland, where Mr. Landriault has an orchard which he is caring for, and on which the turkeys will be kept for some time.

Mrs. Earl Hamilton and family who have been living on the home place during Mr. Hamilton's absence in the eastern part of the state, it is reported, are leaving soon to be nearer the center of Mr. Hamilton's work. Though every one is so busy it seems that each is too occupied with his or her own affairs to visit people much, nevertheless we are all sorry when some long time resident leaves for other fields.

The Moon Lumber Co. is planning the building of another mill in connection with their present interests. Bellview is indeed glad to have this splendid asset. The addition to the present plant will be just across the street, on the land recently acquired by the

How to Protect the Throat When Smoking

What 9651* Doctors say on this subject

The signed statements of intelligent men and women whose voices are to them what the hands of the day laborer are to him—the means indispensable to livelihood or success in life—are convincing. Actors and actresses, great singers, men conspicuous in public life, radio announcers, testify that they like LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes because of their finer flavor and because they do not irritate the throat.

Before such statements by laymen were published, questions had been addressed to a number of physicians in various sections of the United States—many of them leading physicians—and some replies had been received. The following is the result of the questionnaire:

Q1—In your judgment is the heat treatment or toasting process applied to tobaccos previously aged and cured, likely to free the cigarette from irritation to the throat?

9651 doctors answered this question "YES".

Q2—Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES".

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

Titta Ruffo, Noted Metropolitan Star, writes:

"Like scores of others whose everything is their voice and a clear throat, I, when I smoke, prefer the toasted cigarette—Lucky Strike."

*WE HEREBY CERTIFY that we have examined signed cards answering Questions One and Two and that there are 9,651 affirmative answers to Question One and 11,105 affirmative answers to Question Two.

His Highness Gets Ready to Rough It

The Prince of Wales will turn "ranch boss" again soon. He will take personal charge for a short time of his 4000-acre "P-P Ranch" at High River, Alberta, in the Canadian Rockies. Here are splendid photos of the ranch house, some of the prince's fine sheep, and the prince himself attired for "roughing it."

company from Earl Marry of Long Beach, Cal.

Not long ago the writer was asked by a prospective buyer in this community, "What have you got in Bellview worth while?" He already knew, but without hesitation, the reply was given "Ashland has located a fine golf course in our midst. Several acres of land has been acquired by Los Angeles men, and a brick-kiln has been built and is being operated there. The Moon Lbr. Co. is operating a sorting and retreating plant in connection with smaller lumber mills in the mountains about us, and beside all this, we have one of the finest home communities in the world—what more could you want?" And let us add, the man agreed with us.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hofer of San Francisco who visited here last year, called in at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Tucker Tuesday and stayed for a time. They are returning to San Francisco after a two weeks vacationing in Salem, Newport, and taking in Southern Oregon attractions, Crater Lake and Diamond Lake. Mr. Larry Hofer is a son of Col. Hofer of Salem, the publisher of a well known western magazine, "The Lariat." He is also a personal friend of W. Kelly, who is living at the Tucker home this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Newby and family have been entertaining relatives from Idaho for a week or two. While the days were pretty hot during their stay, so many pleasant diversions were planned that they had little time to be uncomfortable and were happy in their visit here.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Homes who was reported as doing well, has failed to make required gain, and they are staying with Clarence's sister, Mrs. J. H. McKenzie in Medford, in order that the child may be more closely watched by the attending physician, who is a baby specialist.

A. W. Moon, head of the Moon Lumber Co., has been in Sacramento for several days looking after business affairs. He is expected home Tuesday.

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by Siskiyou School district No. 38, for three year contract to transport all school children to Ashland schools during school year. Erection requirements, bus must be up to date and must have a capacity for 25 children or more. Bids will be received up to 3 p. m. August 15th, 1927. For further information see LeRoy G. COACHES' SUMMER SCHOOL, EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 3—(AP)—With football hanging the list of subjects, coaches from minor and major schools of the middle west and some from distant places will gather at Northwestern University here from Aug. 17 to 27 to perfect their technique in sports under expert instruction. K. L. Wilson, athletic director, announces that many inquiries as to the meeting, sent from all parts of the country, are reaching him.

Dick Hanley, football coach at Northwestern, will head the football staff. With him will be such men as Arnold Horween of Harvard; Duke Dunne, Harvard line coach; Walter Steffen of Carnegie Tech; and John Schommer, sports official. Herb Stegar, former Michigan star, and Tim Lowry are on his field staff.

Basketball men will listen to and watch Arthur Lomborg, head basketball coach at Northwestern, who got his training under one of the leading basketball men of all time, Forrest Allen of Kansas.

Tom Robinson, who has developed most of the tank stars at Northwestern, will teach swimming and in addition give life saving training. K. L. Wilson will conduct a course in theory and organization of athletic departments. The work will be done in and around Patten gymnasium at Northwestern.

NOT A THING

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 3—(AP)—"No sir, there ain't a darn thing in a name," was a general comment here not long ago when Emma Friendly was divorced from her pleasantly named spouse.

Julius O. Friendly, a retired merchant, wasn't like his name at all, the complaint related. A decree was granted upon the allegation of cruel and inhuman treatment.

ONE PICTURE WON'T MAKE A FILM

What makes motion pictures move? Hundreds of single pictures thrown on the screen one after the other.

What makes a savings account grow? Steady deposits one after another.

Action—repeated action must be the keynote of your drama of success.

Save and keep saving.
