

VALLEY VIEW NOTES

Mrs. Fred Holtbaugh of Ashland visited in the community last Wednesday. Mrs. Holtbaugh lived in Valley View for a number of years.

The Valley View-Ashland-Calif. club met at the J. W. Fish dairy farm near Phoenix last Wednesday evening. Those who were in attendance from Valley View were George McCracken and Keith Lennox.

Mrs. J. F. Arnold who spent a few days last week with her friend, Mrs. Geo. Wolton of McCloud, Calif., returned last Thursday evening. While in McCloud Mrs. Arnold was a guest at an excellent birthday dinner, given in her honor.

Ted and Jerry Roe who have been spending the summer with their mother, Mrs. Harry Roe at the Frank Craig ranch, returned last week to Berkeley to enter their Sophomore year at the University of California.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Whitset of Grass Valley, Calif., are making the Craig home their headquarters for a couple of weeks and are taking in the scenic trips of southern Oregon.

Mrs. June Kohler, Mrs. Elizabeth Kohler Gray and son Donald, William Kohler of Santa Rosa, Calif., who are old friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Lennox spent a few hours at the Lennox home last Friday.

Mrs. Albert Arnold and children from Dead Indian were in Tuesday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold.

Last Friday being Frank De Ford's birthday, his family honored him with a party. Mr. and Mrs. Byron De Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Tresham were also present.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Carter and son of Ashland and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Jones of Medford were dinner guests at the Jas. Lennox home Sunday. The men of the party enjoyed a swim at Helman's Baths later in the afternoon.

Miss Freda Hansen of Medford was a visitor at the Davenhill residence Wednesday.

Mrs. Jas. Lennox left Monday morning to spend a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Lansing of Portland, Ore.

Mrs. A. H. Davenhill and Mrs. J. R. McCracken were Medford callers last Thursday.

Mrs. Annie Robinson, who has been a guest at the J. F. Arnold home since Friday, left for Crescent City Tuesday morning.

John Billings was a dinner guest at the J. R. McCracken residence Sunday.

The Geo. W. Nichols family, with their friends, the Fitzpatricks of San Diego, Cal., enjoyed several days during the past week, which included a trip to Huckleberry Mt., Diamond and Crater Lakes.

NEIL CREEK NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Cook of Burney, Cal., have purchased a part of the Kerby-Epperson ranch and are building their farm buildings. They expect to have a first class dairy and chicken ranch.

Samuel Johnson has erected a stand at his home at the Neil Creek road and has all kinds of fresh vegetables for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hamaker of Klamath Falls spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kincaid. The two families and Mrs. Clara Taylor of Ashland picnicked in Lithia Park Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Will Sams, Mr. and Mrs. Will Weeden, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hamaker and Mrs. Marcelle Scribner were dinner guests of Mrs. Alex and Mrs. M. J. McCallister Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Corbet and daughters, Margery and Elizabeth and Mrs. Corbett's niece, Daisy, Kincaid, and Mrs. T. A. Morris made a trip to Crater and Diamond lakes over the weekend, and returned by way of Klamath Falls while there they visited with Mrs. Morris' daughter, Mrs. E. Spannis.

Mary Louise Murphy of Ashland spent the weekend with June and Ruth Elam near the Blair granite quarry.

J. C. Hamaker and Leslie Kincaid spent yesterday afternoon at the home of Louis and Leah Taylor.

Mrs. Alex McCallister and Mrs. Archie Kincaid spent Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Thomas.

Wm. Sams, Henry Taylor and Wm. Weeden attended the ball game at Medford Sunday.

The old-time dance at Klamath Junction was well attended Friday night and a good time was reported by everyone.

Pleasant Journey Along Seashore is Described By Secretary J. H. Fuller

Mrs. Fuller and I started for the sea-shore via Redwood highway and Crescent City, Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. The speed limit being thirty-five miles an hour, you can figure for yourself the time it takes over the paved highway to Grants Pass. Here we stopped to chat a few minutes with Mr. Harvey of the Grants Pass Chamber of Commerce, and get a little information about the roads, "oiled and just like a boulevard except for a few short detours where there is construction work going on," said Harvey, of the Redwood route. Well, we have learned that no two people look on anything even highways alike, and the two people travelling on this trip wouldn't probably tell just the same story of the roads, but I like to get off the pavement, and off the beaten path, and a little detour has no terrors, so I call the road to Crescent City good and its going to be better, and it is a wonderful trip.

We stopped at Patrick's Creek where they have a very comfortable little inn, had a good dinner and retired early for a good long Saturday night's rest, but about ten o'clock we were awakened by the familiar sound of a saxophone and then a piano and I guess a clarinet and I wondered if maybe we had made a mistake in not remaining below, but whether the soothing influence of the sax or the utterly weary condition of body, everything was soon forgotten until the sun came creeping in over the mountain top and we were up and away through the giant redwoods to Crescent City. I have made the trip quite a number of times, but never experienced a more delightful day than this time. We breakfasted at Crescent City and then journeyed by Pebble Beach for a little visit with President and Mrs. Churchill of the Southern Oregon Normal School, who are spending their vacation by the Ocean side. Shall we return to Ashland by the same route, or go on up the Coast via the Roosevelt highway and know for ourselves the condition of this road? was the question, and decided by turning northward, Gold Beach and the Sunset Inn found us hungry and ready to stop although it looked a long way from here on the map, and meant some driving to reach Ashland Monday night, but we decided to stop and found this fun an agreeable and comfortable stopping place. Here we found acquaintances from Medford and Marshfield, and the time passed pleasantly. Monday morning an early start brought us through Port Orford and on to Bandon in time for a combined breakfast and lunch and determined not to return home without at least one meal of sea food. We searched the town until we found a little Cafe, where we were able to breakfast on fried clams and broiled salmon, fresh from the Ocean.

Bandon has a beautiful beach, and a drive to the beach and a brief look about, and we were off again, stopping in Coquille to take on gas for the drive home. This is a lively, and seemingly prosperous little town and the country from here on down through Myrtle Point is one of the best farming and dairying sections. Its always interesting coming across the highway toward Roseburg to notice the method of getting the logs from the timber section down to the mills at Coquille. Water in the river is low at this time of year, but dams all along the river permit the formation of mill ponds to float the logs until the lock is opened, and they are floated down to the next dam, where the same process is gone through again. In this way the small amount of water is made to serve the purpose of a large flowing stream. Except for about 15 or more miles of fresh crushed rock on the Roosevelt highway, which is very tiresome and hard on tires the roads are good and we reached home at 7 p. m. Monday, passed the S. P. at Dillard and beat it home by one and quarter hours. Its too short a time to make such a trip, and the whiff of the Ocean we did get only says come back and stay longer, some day the drive up the Roosevelt highway is go-

No Royal Road To Stardom In Cinema World

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 25.—(AP)—There no longer seems to be any royal road to screen success and relatives of famous screen players are now climbing toward the top, not on the names of kin but via the extra route.

Lori Bari, sister of the famous Theda, has been given her first important "bit," that of a stenographer in "Tea for Three." She labored as an extra on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot for more than a year before she was given her chance.

In the same picture, Harold Murray, brother of Jimmy, has been given a "bit" after a long ing to be one of, if not, the greatest drives in America.

by her own efforts has become a apprenticeship in extra roles.

Sally O'Neil's sister, Suzanne, featured player with First National and is known on the screen as Molly O'Day. A third sister, Isabelle, is doing extra work.

To be the sister or a brother of a star once indicated almost instant stardom. Now everyone must prove merit.

FENCE REPAIR CREW STILL ON MT. ASHLAND

No word from the crew of city workmen who are engaged in renewing the stock fence around the watershed on Mt. Ashland indicates the work is progressing, according to City Water Superintendent Earl Hosler. Eight men are engaged in re-newing the fence and are camped far back on the mountain. Snowbanks made it impossible to start on the work until a week ago.

WILL FIGHT BIG MERGER

Nationwide Battle Against Consolidation of N. P. and G. N.

SEATTLE, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Planning a nationwide fight against the consolidation of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroad system, H. R. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, was in Seattle Wednesday, seeking aid to fight the plan.

Byram charged that the merger is a move to form a monopoly of railroad business in the Pacific Northwest.

"They will throttle the development of this section, injure business and shrivel up the Milwaukee service if the consolidation goes through," Byram said.
