spring
Rose from the kiss of young lover's lips
Mist spray from the wind-swept hills
Sleek silver from out the laughing lake
Clear blue from an eye's bright wink
White from the highest cloud of heaven
Cool green from the forest pine
Red from the glowing heart of a star
Dim gold from the mountain depths
Thread of Dreams we spin and weave
And fashion a fabric rare
For those who know what the fairies sing
When they come from the land of dreams.

Camp Tula Hillus Meets With Arvilla Harris
The members of Camp Tula Hillus, a group of the Ashland Campfire Girls organization, met Thursday afternoon, August 25, with Arvilla Harris at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ralph Bowen on Holly street.

Misses Maxine Gearhart, Jean Cadzow and Hazel Duncan, the three girls from this group who spent a few weeks this summer at Camp Namamu, located about a mile and a half out of Bull Run, Oregon, on the Sandy river, gave very interesting talks on their stay in camp, telling everything that they had done while there. Eleven girls from the different groups of Campfire Girls in this city were present in camp, this being the largest number of members present from any city in Oregon except Portland.

At the end of a most pleasant afternoon, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Bowen, served delicious refreshment to the following guests: Misses Maxine Gearhart, Arvilla Harris, Jeanette Stearns, Marion Hitchcock, Gladys Hanson, Carol Clark, Maxine Emert and the guardian of Camp Tula Hillus, Miss Edna Goheen.

Mary Ethel Small Honor Guest
The Misses Janet and Jean Ballis, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Ballis, were charming hostesses Wednesday afternoon, August 24, when they delightfully entertained a group of friends at their pleasant home on Allison street, in honor of their house guest, Miss Mary Ethel Small, who expects to leave soon for her home in San Rafael, Cal., to resume her studies at Dominican college. Miss Small has been visiting in Ashland for the past two months, and greatly regrets having to leave this city.

An attractive color scheme of green and orange was carried out in decorating the rooms of the Ballis home, this color scheme also being used in serving elaborate refreshments during the course of the afternoon's entertainment.

Singing, sewing and jolly games occupied the time. Miss Dorothy Baughman winning a pretty prize in the latter and Miss Louisa Hanson being awarded the consolation.

Janet and Jean's guests were the Misses Lois Hanson, Louise Hanson, Genevieve Swadenburg, Eleonore Swadenburg, Edith Dodge, Oma GeBauer and Dorothy Baughman of Medford, Trila Radner of Phoenix, Betty Brown of Talent and the guest of honor, Miss Mary Ethel Small of San Rafael, California.

Young Women's Missionary Society Meets
The Young Women's Foreign Missionary society of the local Methodist Episcopal church met at the home of Miss Cora Mason last Tuesday evening, August 23.

Sewing and conversation occupied part of the evening and after the devotional and business sessions, interesting reports were given by Misses Isabella Wattenbarger, Beulah Hussey and Eva White. Miss White told about her visit and conversation with Miss Marie Church, a returned missionary from Korea, which was very inspiring and enlightening. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Those who enjoyed this delightful occasion were: Misses Eva White, Katherine Parsons, Helen High, Leonora Godfrey, Pearl Monroe, Hazel Bruner, Minnie Beaver, Clara Huek, Helen Walker, Janie Walker, Isabella Wattenbarger and Beulah Hussey; Mesdames Homer Billings, E. B. Hunt, George Scribner, Larkin Deer, Steiner Mason, and L. H. hostess Miss Cora Mason.

Plans and Arrangements Being Completed
According to Mrs. Cedric Myer, chairman of the Labor Day dance, which is being given at Jackson's Hot Springs on the evening of Monday, September 5, by the Auxiliary to the American Legion Post No. 14, the members are busy making final plans and completing arrangements.

This event is expected to far excel in entertainment and amusement, anything ever sponsored by the local American Legion Auxiliary, even their red letter "buggy ride dance," given last year at Jackson's.

The dance has been advertised throughout the Rogue River valley and patronage from all sections is being looked for. Dickey's Dance Band of this city has been engaged to furnish the music.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS About Fashion Hints
NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Velvet and velveteen combined with contrasting fabrics will play important roles in fall millinery. Plain, embossed and printed velvets will perhaps be most important although the following combinations are also frequently shown: velvet and felt, velvet and boneline, velvet and brocade and and gold leather.

It is thought that velveteen and felts will prevail in millinery work while velvets and combinations of velvet and other fabrics will rule for afternoon wear.

Perhaps it is due to the vogue that gypsies of the type are returning to fashion that sees many turbans among the French millinery as well as American models.

In selecting a dress trimmed with tiers, select one which has diagonal tiers rather than horizontal tiers as the former types are newer.

The slightly raised waistline is suggested in many of the advanced fall gowns, outlining the raising of the waist being suggested at the front only. A horizontal drapery or tuck may be all that is necessary to suggest the raising of the waist.

Black lace used as a lingerie item, for trimming or instead of fabric is emphasized in fall collections. Entire step-ins of black scalloped lace with the scallops forming the borders are shown for dress wear. When black lace is used for trimming it is generally combined with pale pink georgette or net and this combination is repeated often.

Brown is to be one of the outstanding fall fabric shades. Almost all of the darker browns will be used as well as woodbrown tones and reddish browns. Shoes, hosiery and handbags of brown will be important due to the vogue for costume harmony.

Carnelian and jade jewelry will replace the popular pinkish rose quartz as fall advances. Both real and imitation stones of carnelian and jade are being made into chokers, bracelets, rings and earrings.

Home Hats
Cutting Down The Household Expenses
I am sure we are all vitally interested in cutting down the household expenses because in many cases, the housewife is spending out of her large proportion of the family income.

It is the French people who say the Americans know enough out of the back door to feed another family. Why should we, even though a progressive nation have such a name?

Every housewife regardless of her wealth, should know and realize the value of a dollar and how it should be spent for good nourishing food for her family. We see one type of a housewife who is so economical she buys food because it is cheap, regardless of whether she knows just when she is going to use it and in many cases it spoils. This is not true economy, but what you need, and see that you are getting good return for the amount of money spent.

In the first place, see and know what you are buying. Occasionally it may be permissible to phone your orders in, but it is much better to visit the markets yourself. This is especially true when purchasing fresh fruits, vegetables and meats. These fresh fruits and meats must be selected carefully.

When you buy foods, and I might say this applies to everything, ask the price first and then decide if you are going to buy.

So often you see people ordering food and never ask the price per pound, or carton. It is never economy to go into a meat market and say, "give me a steak" and let the butcher cut what he pleases. Unless you have made a study of food prices and you know the price per pound, cut of docket, you are not able to estimate what you should buy.

Many housewives make the mistake of buying and serving foods out of season, then wonder why their grocery bills are so high. There are other foods which can be substituted until the fresh ones are more reasonable in price.

Buy those foods which are highly advertised because they are standardized and you can always count on their quality. Large advertising means a demand for that food and this increase in demand means greater production and this in turn reduces the cost.

Non-advertized and cheap foods do not always mean economy, the quality must be inferior.

WORKER, West, Aug. 27.—(AP)—With his right arm partly paralyzed and a leg bruised, Fred Lennas, 37, of Ashburn, is in a hospital here after being buried alive for 30 hours at the bottom of a 40-foot well. He was pulled from the well after all been left abandoned. He was weakened but quickly responded to treatment.

AUBURN, Miss., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Two more cave-ins at 7 o'clock Friday night delayed the work of rescuing Fred Lennas, who has now been trapped at the bottom of a 40-foot well for more than 24 hours.
