

ROUND-UP IS VERY POPULAR

Seat-Sale Indicates Pendleton Affair Will Lose No Prestige

PENDLETON, Ore., Aug. 27.—A day and night vigil is being kept at Pendleton by proxies who will get tickets for the 1927 Round-Up, September 14, 15, 16 and 17, when the box office opens September 1. J. J. Hamley, Pendleton, for many years the first in line for tickets, put a proxy in line on August 22, and thus continued the tradition of being first. The ticket office has not yet been placed, yet the proxy is here and will remain day and night until after September 1 when he will get the pick of the pasteboards.

The first choice means first choice only as Pendleton people are concerned, for the Round-Up fills small orders first and gives the best tickets to out-of-town visitors. Pendleton stands back and takes what is left.

September 1 marks also the donning of Round-Up apparel and the dressing of Pendleton streets in gay holiday attire. The business men are getting their costumes in order and casting interested eyes at Round-Up and shirt styles, for everyone must wear sombreros and loud shirts.

Judges for the 1927 Round-Up have been chosen, and are Dan Clark, of Portland, livestock agent for the Union Pacific; Allen Drumheller, former Round-Up performer and son of George Drumheller, of Walla Walla, and R. S. Dixon, stockman of Klamath Falls. Mr. Clarke and Mr. Drumheller were judges last year and Mr. Dixon has served three terms as judge; indeed, when the latter accepted he said "Being a judge at the Round-Up has become a habit with me." All three are popular with performers and with the crowds.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

LONDON, Aug. 27. — (AP) — England's great national winter pastime was given a kick-off in all parts of the country, today, with the official opening of the association football season, which will last until the end of April, 1928.

Today saw the first clashes between the giants teams when 88 opposing groups were matched against each other in practically every city of any note in the kingdom.

An accurate estimate of the number of football "fans" in this country has never been compiled, but judging from the different "gates," something like three-quarters of a million people turned out this afternoon to witness their favorites fulfill their hopes or admit their first defeat.

To some of these "fans," watching today's games was like patronizing a new team, for practically without exception, each of the 88 clubs has a new line-up containing new registrations or "transfers."

A NEW TRACK COACH

DAVIS, Cal., Aug. 27.—(AP)—H. Kent Farley, former captain and sprinter of the University of Missouri track and field team, has assumed his duties here as head track coach, assistant coach of football, and director of publicity of the California Aggies. He finished his collegiate competition this spring. He was graduated from the Missouri school in June.

During the past year Farley was credited with running the 100-yard dash five times under 10 seconds, once being clocked in 9.6 seconds. His record in the furlong is 21.1 second. His records in these two short dashes places him alongside such sprinters as Scholz, Paddock, Locks, and Borah.

BUY MOLAR

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 27. — (AP) — A tooth with grinding surface as large as a man's hand has been found in a ditch near Lebanon pike.

The molar was brought to a zoologist by J. D. Perry, who said it was similar to mastodon teeth. Mastodons dwelt in this section during pre historic times.

The tooth, Perry said, was in such excellent state of preservation, he was inclined to cast doubt on its age, but couldn't imagine an animal big enough to own it.

Conan Doyle Talks Spiritualism and Tells of Strange Psychic Experience

LONDON — (AP) — Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, having withdrawn for all time the character of Sherlock Holmes from future stories, has more time to devote to spiritualism and the first result of this increased interest has caused English scientists to smile while psychists are impressed.

In a document published by Conan Doyle that famous writer told of an experience in which he and his wife saw the face of a woman transformed into that of an old man.

The famous creator of "Sherlock Holmes" explained how he and Lady Conan Doyle with their guests, Mrs. C. A. Wickland and Doctor Carl A. Wickland, noted psychic investigator of California, had a strange psychic adventure at Doyle's country home in Sussex, using Mrs. Wickland as their medium.

After a visit to an old moated grange, Mrs. Wickland is said to have suddenly exclaimed: "There is such a strange old man walking beside us."

A moment later, she answered questions concerning the appearance of the "strange old man," explaining that he came from the moat which the party had just left, "through that door that opened."

"We had driven home," wrote Conan Doyle, "and were seated among the roses on my verandah, the Wicklands, my wife, any myself. We were talking of other things when the Seer suddenly gave a start. 'He's here.'"

"Then came the amazing moment. Before our eyes she changed in an instant into a heavy-faced, shllen old man, with bent back and loose, senile lips. The whole expression was utterly different. She choked and sputtered in an effort to express the thought of the control."

It was this statement which, in effect, means that a living woman suddenly and visibly became a man, which caused the widest and most varied type of comment throughout England.

Psychics, of course, are almost unanimous in lending absolute credence to the report, which, they claim, is but one more demonstration of those spiritual powers which, in our generation of scientific progress, of quasi-supernatural scientific devices like wireless telephony, are sneered at by many.
