POMERENE AS "DETECTIVE"

Holiday Spent in Looking up Teapot Dome Witness

LONDON, Aug. 27—(LP)—Combining detective work with his summer vacation, Atlee Pomerene, government attorney in the Fall-Sinclair - Doheny oil lease case, is in London absorbing the Sherlock Holmes atmosphere.

Pomerene is seeking news of Harry M. Blackmer of the Midwest Refining company, and James E. O'Nell.

Their testimony is regarded as essential by the government in its efforts to prove fraud in transfer of leases in government oil wells to private operators.

Pomerene has several clues. He knows that Blackmer was in Monaco, miniature Mediterranean republic, five weeks ago; that at about the same time, O'Nell was in Nice, and that Blackmer does not need $500 badly. Aside from that, the situation is obscure.

is considering. The plan presented by Mr. Donnelly included a popularity contest for the girls with a trip to Hawaii, diamond ring, Ford car and other prizes as attractions to arouse interest in the carnival. The affair would be held at the armory and merchandise secured from local merchants would be disposed of at the concessions.

Definite decision on the proposed circus will be taken within a few days, after the matter is more thoroughly investigated, according to Clyde Young, head of the organization.

Discussion of the renting of lots and erection of a Lithian club house at Lake of the Woods was discussed, and definite arrangements for the erection of the club house before next year will probably be made at a future meeting.

H. L. Claycomb, chairman of the sign committee reported conferences with sign companies, his report indicating the committee is actively engaged in completing arrangements for their erection.

Arthur Peters, one of the young Lithians whose marriage was an event of recent date was given a rousing reception and extended hearty congratulations and best wishes by his fellow members during the dinner hour.
