RESISTANCE

Making an even pattern of the days.

I find an art in laziness and a laughter.

Only that memories come tumbling after

A color or a phrase:

Only that when the light plays

On a young face my heart leaps up in wonder.

This is a peace that I create to save

My soul from Michael's sword,

God's thunder,

Devil's rack, and plumed wave

Of angel's wings, for I shall not drift under

Oppression of acceptance till my time comes.

Days come up and break like waves,

Even, rain drums,

And sun faces, color and color.

Grass grows

And grass dies, and under it lies

Blind moles,—and unborn rose.

And of this laziness and laughter

I take courage and win faith—

Only that echoes ride the rafters,

And smoke rises—like a wrath.

Campfire Guardians Elect Officers

The Ashland Campfire Guardians held their first business meeting of this year on Wednesday evening, September 28, at the home of Miss Carter and Miss McLeod on Oak street. Plans for the beginning of the year's work were made and the following officers were elected: President, Miss Waters; vice-president, Miss Carter; secretary, Miss McLeod.

Guardians present at the meeting Wednesday evening were the following named: Miss Waters, Miss Gohsen, Miss Berg, Miss Clark, Miss Carter, Miss Ward and Miss McLeod.

State President of W. E. A. Here

A called meeting of the local Women's Benefit Association was held last evening, Wednesday, September 28, on the mezzanine floor at the Lithia Springs hotel, at which Mrs. Julia B. Ward of Portland, Oregon, state president of the W. E. A., was present.

The time was spent in discussing plans and preparations for the big rally and class initiation to be held in this city on Wednesday evening, November 2. Mrs. Ward gave a most interesting and instructive talk on "Insurance" and also urged the ladies to increase the membership of the local organization.

Those who attended the meeting and enjoyed the opportunity of hearing the state president were: Mrs. Charles Brady, Mrs. O. W. Long, Mrs. Henry Reid, Mrs. Cedric Myer, Mrs. Walter Prulan, Mrs. Jack Ruger, Mrs. Clara M. Bomar, Mrs. Cliff Payne, Mrs. W. H. Bams, Mrs. Mabel Moore, Mrs. Marcella Scribner, Mrs. Susie Dyrud, Mrs. Paul Mars and Mrs. W. J. Wallace.

Miscellaneous Shower For Doris Sparks

Miss Veeda Gideon was the charming hostess Tuesday evening, September 27, when she entertained with a miscellaneous shower at her home on North Main street, the occasion being in honor of Miss Doris Sparks, who will be married sometime during the winter months. Miss Sparks attended the Southern Oregon Normal in Ashland last year.

A most happy evening was spent playing games, in conversation and having a good time in general, until a late hour when the hostess served a delicious waffle supper. The honor guest was the recipient of many beautiful, as well as useful, gifts.

Miss Gideon's guests included: the Misses Thelma Hervey, Catherine Pittenger, Helen High, Madeline Stevens, Rosetta McGee, Irma Beck and Doris Sparks.

Past Matron's Club Meets

The Past Matron's club M. Alpha Chapter met at the home of Mrs. E. V. Carter on the Boulevard Wednesday evening, September 28, with Mrs. Carter and Mrs. J. H. Turner acting as hostesses. There was an unusually large attendance.

Plans were discussed for a series of dances to be given in the Masonic hall during the winter. A business session was conducted, followed by a pleasant social hour, during which the members of the Past Matron's club listened to the radio program of the Ashland Lithians, broadcast over KMED Medford. At a late hour the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

Those present were: Mesdames A. Schurman, A. E. Kinney, S. C. Williamson, F. F. Whittle, D. W.

Farm Hints

The practice of sowing wheat on a deckage free basis is gaining in favor in Oregon and other states as being the only fair system, say grain specialists of the experiment station. Under this system the farmer who produces clean wheat receives more for his grain than the one who takes less care in growing or threshing the crop. Some small mills and elevators are reported to be testing samples for grade before deckage is removed, which practice gives an incorrect test weight.

Important Books Reviewed

"The End of a World" By ALICE ROHE (Reviewed for United Press)

All the social acclaim which sheds it halo about first families and all the romance which sheds a tragic appeal about a vanishing people is combined in "The End of a World."

Everybody seems to like the prestige of first families—and here in this new novel of Claude Anet we have one of the very first. Family trees can reach no further without being accused of Darwinian tendencies. "The End of a World," is published by Alfred A. Knopf and is translated by Jeffery E. Jeffery from the French.

While it lacks the adventurous thrill of Conan Doyle's "The Lost World" it deals with a fanciful utilization of possible facts. Now that even school children are conversant with the Cro-Magnon race there is nothing to remote about the subject Claude Anet has chosen. Every body who has visited museums knows just what the Cro-Magnon man looks like and just what his early steps toward art utility were. His drawings still survive, and his modeling in flint and bone give a fascination to occasional finds in Central Europe.

The story is of the last days of No and his people in their struggle for survival. Starvation—hunger is their greatest problem. The changing climate which marks the end of the ice age cuts off their food supply. Other enemies—besides nature are relentless. The "Round Heads" with their hunting dogs are upon them. Superior numbers and superior methods finally wipe out the struggling Tribe of the Bear. The novel is filled with interesting atmosphere which Claude Anet has fictionalized from anthropological discoveries. Magic, witchcraft, ritual rites and customs of a primitive people are sketched in.

The stream of books on Questions and Answers continues. The latest two to appear are "Who and What," edited by Samuel Hopkins Adams, author of "Revelry" and "Is That So," edited by Oliver D. Keep and associates.

"Who and What" contains questions by such prominent literary folk as Will Irwin, Charles C. Norris, Percy Hammond and Sherwood Anderson. The reader is given a paragraph of data on some person or thing and is expected to name the person or thing referred to. Keep's book gives 1,000 questions of curious information relative to sports, science, war, literature and general information.

Recipe, Cabbage, Pineapple Salad

4 quarts shredded cabbage
1 can shredded pineapple (No. 2 1-2 size)
2 packages dates lettuce.

Soak the shredded cabbage in cold water until crisp. Drain thoroughly. Cut the pineapple into small wedge-shaped pieces. Pit the dates and cut into slices with wet scissors. Moisten with salad dressing. Toss all the ingredients together until blended. This salad may be served as a relish with cold meats.

Makes 36 servings.

County Health Notes

Infantile Paralysis

Mild cases of infantile paralysis may resemble common colds. The source of infection is in the discharges from the nose and throat of a mild case or a carrier. A carrier is a child who is immune from the disease but harbors the active germ in his nose and throat. Should your child appear to have a common cold, keep him home from school and all places of amusement and public gatherings. Should your child have a fever in conjunction with a cold, consult your family physician at once. Early diagnosis of the disease will, in many cases, prevent the paralysis that usually follows severe cases.

FARMERS WILL JUDGE

A committee of three farmers will be named by C. J. Read, general chairman of the Fall Festival Committee, to judge window displays to be made by local merchants in connection with the affair. A prize is to be awarded the winner.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 28.—(AP)—

Fifty persons were injured in a collision between the Brussels-Anwerp express train and a freight train. The accident occurred near Mechlin, Belgium.

Some fruit growers have already built the simple type of apple washer for removing spray residue.

Designed by specialists at the Oregon Experiment station, and find that it can be built on practically any farm for less than $100. The machine has proved so simple and effective and has aroused so much interest that it has been made the central feature of the experiment station booth at the state fair this year.

U. of O. Will Play With Jap College Team

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Sept. 29.—(Special)—The basketball team of Wasenden University of Tokyo, Japan, which will tour this country from December until February will meet the University of Oregon tonight in a one or possibly two game series late in January it was announced today by Jack W. Benefield, graduate manager of Oregon.

Wasenden has one of the best basketball teams in the Orient, and as ranking highest in Japan it was the first to represent that country in the last summer Olympics in Shanghai, but as the university is making a trip through this country it will not participate in the Olympics.

Said Elmer Wood to Frank Stone while on a hunting trip in the Canadian Rockies.

Martin Johnson, Famous African Explorer, writes:

"While trailing big game in Africa, I have never been without my Lucky Strike Cigarette. Once on the Abyssinian border my shipment of them from America missed me, and I was miserable until the natives followed our tracks across the Kalahari desert to Nairobi and my precious cargo of Luckies. After 4 years of smoking Luckies in wildest Africa, I find my voice in perfect condition for my lecture tour in America."

Martin Johnson

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

Many Families Settle In City

Ashland is proving attractive enough to bring many new families to this city, according to records at the office of the city recorder.

Sixty-two new families have moved to this city so far this month. This is a record, however, and is partially due to the great number of families moving to this city with the opening of school.

A LIFE CLOUDED WITH PAIN

Her life clouded with rheumatic pains, lumbago, and stiff, aching joints, Mrs. J. E. Stevenson, Emporia, Kansas, finally rid herself of torment by taking FOLEY PILLS diuretic. "Nearly every day some one asks me what I took that helped me when I was so crippled up and could scarcely walk. I tell them gladly of FOLEY PILLS, diuretic, and how they cured my pains and lifted the clouds from my life." A reliable valuable medicine. Men and women everywhere use and recommend it. Satisfaction guaranteed. Sold everywhere.—No. 2.
