REDUCES 150 POUNDS IN PERIOD OF FIVES

ATLANTA—(LP)—Fat women give heed!

Mrs. W. C. English five years ago weighed 300 pounds. Today she weighs 150.

Mrs. English says anyone can do it, and here's how—

She ate only the following foods for the five year period: stale bread, bitter coffee, grapefruit, bran, lemons, and green vegetables. Above all else she never took salt, sugar or starchy foods.

Then exercise had a lot to do with it.

Mrs. English is 53. Every morning, she milked five cows, loaded a surrey with milk, butter and vegetables and peddled the products through Atlanta.

"I am as fit as a fiddle. Don't tell me that you can't reduce. Fat is waste, makes one lazy, uncomfortable and melancholy if weight becomes an obsession. Mrs. English said on the anniversary of her diet inauguration.

GARDNER vs. SMITH BY DOC REID

Twenty-seven years ago today, Oscar Gardner, famed as the "Omaha Kid," scored a knockout victory over the tough Harry Smith of Kansas City in the 16th round of a scheduled 20-round affair at Omaha, Neb.

Gardner had knocked out Patsy Haley, Eddie Santry and Harry Forbes and was being groomed for the featherweight title, while Smith, whose record was not so impressive, was considered one of the sturdiest men of his weight in the game and had never been knocked down in his entire career. The match was of unusual interest to fight fans throughout the middle-west.

or English. The English is printed below the Spanish. It is good practice for an English-speaking person attempting to learn Spanish except that frequently he finds that the two texts do not mean the same thing at all. Something there seems no connection of the point that is expressed in English will not be expressed in Spanish in anything like a form of translation. The apparent reason for this is the fact that some of the American cinema language can not be transferred to Spanish. Spang of course is frequently untranslatable. There is also the fact that totally different means are sometimes used in the different languages to express the same thought.

CELLIST CONTINUES VISIT

Franz Auer, famous cellist, who Sunday evening entertained a group of music lovers at an impromptu concert at the Dr. E. A. Woods home is located at the Ashland hotel while looking over the valley for a suitable studio location. Since his connection with the Boston Symphony Orchestra he has travelled extensively and is now anxious to locate in this valley.

Furniture dealers may not know it but the manufacturers of a certain mouth wash have discovered the reason for twin beds. You guessed it—halitosis. —North Powder News.

Editor Tidings:

I noticed an article in the Tidings last night under "Contributed," where the writer is taking exception to the Southern Pacific putting on buses and making a faint plea for the private owned contraptions. In all probability the writer is short sighted and never rode on a train and knows nothing of the comforts and accommodations given by the corporation. We would like to ask the "contributor" what this country or (his section would have been if it had not been for the railroad. Look at the amount of money they spent in putting the road through. They pay enormous taxes every year that helps to keep up the towns and beautify the parks and make the towns attractive for the tourists. They also spend thousands of dollars annually advertising the towns, etc. Let us compare the accommodations of the two. The private owned concerns probably have an easy seat to sit on but that is all the conveniences one can receive and probably that is the best that "Contributed" ever had the pleasure of enjoying. If he would get into a Pullman or observation car he or she whichever case the writer might be would find all luxuries and accommodations they could wish. Also I would invite the writer to take a trip to the diner and see the courtesies and service given there; he would soon see the accommodations given there were far superior to the ones given by the ones he was pleading for. The S. P. done the right thing by putting on the buses and probably for them to put on freight trucks and in place of the public "biting the hand that fed them" and like Judas betraying his master, etc., the railroad would reap the benefits that they are paying for. The railroads pay the taxes to keep up the roads, etc., and the private concerns pay no taxes and help destroy the

HALLOWEEN PARTY PLANS PERFECTED

Representatives of the Young People's organizations from the Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Congregational and Christian churches met with W. P. Walters Monday evening and laid plans for the Progressive Halloween party which is to be held next Saturday evening starting at 7:30 at the M. E. church.

Enthusiasm for the plan was indicated and an estimate of 300 was given in regard to attendance.

Each church will prepare a stunt and furnish refreshments. Plans were also discussed for the organization of a Union Young People's organization to be sponsored by the Y. M. C. A.

roads that the tax payers have to pay for and do not derive any benefit from them. Would like to ask the contributor to take all these things into consideration and see if he does not look at the situation differently. —W. H. WENNER.

Old Glory Flies at Half Mast At Southern Oregon Normal As Students Puzzle Over the Cause

Whether or not to mourn and to mourn what to mourn for, was a problem which bothered students at the Southern Oregon Normal School Monday.

The flag was at half mast and remained at half mast all day long.

Many conjectures were heard. Some feared two faculty members, Wayne Wells, science instructor, and Walter Redford, "geography teacher" who ought to "know his onions" when it comes to keeping his bearings, might have gotten lost as they scaled Mt. Shasta Sunday. Just what the mourning position of Old Glory might mean was a mystery.

Finally it was explained. The Emblem of the Free got caught on the summit as it was being hoisted at sunrise and it wouldn't go up and wouldn't come down but flew at half mast throughout the day.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY, BROKEN OUT SKIN

Any breaking out of skin irritation on face, neck or body is quickly relieved by applying Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this natural preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.
