ORANGE BLOSSOMS

Symbols of Love
Poppies are gay and gaudy
And flaunt their gold to the sun;
Lilies are pale, foreshadowing death
When life's last race is run.

Haffodds gleam with a golden glow
And about the news of Spring;
The morning glory greets the day
New life—new hope to bring.

Violets whisper softly
Nestle the shade of sheltering trees,
But a pansy smiles the liveliest day,
With its laughing face to the breeze.

The red rose pleads for passion,
It's beauty—without peer,
The aster and the golden rod
Hint autumn's days are near.

But oh, the orange blossoms,
Rare gift from God above,
Sweet perfume—everlasting;
Pure whiteness—like a dove.

Of all God's fragrant flowers,
Most exquisite, most rare—
Of love, the sweetest symbol
Are orange blossoms, fair.

tie J. Hopper, Mrs. H. B. Hinthorn and Miss Caribell Morehouse were present to help and contribute to the fun making.

Those young people of the Go-Getters who participated in last evening's party were: Lois M. Dodson, Mamie Biller, Moran Gilmore, Mollie Ewing, Mabel Erickson, Maude Simmons, Robert Gilmore, Lucile Beavick, Ada Mark, Ella Biller, Leta Brown, Margaret Rice, Luella Woodruff, Cleona Incho, Ray E. Metcalf, Caroline Radd, Ella Beeler, Doris Woolfolk, Lila Ludwick, Lola Dysent, Helen Carden, Alice McNabb, Laura Ragusa, Donald Hinthorn, Thelma Rees, Margery Fisher, William Tucker, Beracle Carden, William Vimont, R. E. Oelen and Hugh Gilmore.

Mrs. H. L. Claycomb hosted a charming and most hospitable hostess yesterday afternoon, Wednesday, October 26, when she entertained at a bridge luncheon in the dining room of the Letha Springs hotel on Main street.

At one o'clock the guests were seated at a table perfectly appointed and beautifully decorated. A large, orange-colored jack o'lantern made a pretty and original centerpiece, and surrounding it were masses of autumn vines, greens and laurel berries. The place cards were little ladies dressed up in Halloween costumes. Attached to each lady was an orange and black ribbon running to the centerpiece, and when the guests pulled on these ribbons they each received a package cleverly wrapped in orange tissue paper. Lo and behold! When they opened their packages what should they find but a beautiful silk hand-painted handkerchief.

After luncheon the ladies assembled at Mrs. Claycomb's home on the corner of Maple and Harrison streets, where they spent the afternoon playing bridge. Mrs. H. G. Enders, Jr., held high score and Mrs. J. H. Hardy held low. The guest list included the following named: Mrs. Earl Crow, Mrs. Domingo Provost, Mrs. John Enders, Mrs. Andrew McGee, Mrs. P. R. Hardy, Mrs. Henry Enders, Jr., Mrs. J. H. Hardy, Mrs. O. A. Paulserud, Mrs. Clyde Malone, Mrs. C. J. Read and Mrs. P. S. Provost.

Alpha Embroidery Club Meets—Approximately sixteen members were in attendance at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Alpha Embroidery club, held Tuesday afternoon, October 25, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Masonic hall.

The time was pleasantly spent doing fancy work and in conversation until late in the afternoon when the hostesses, Mrs. J. D. McRae and Miss Elsie Alexander, served tasty refreshments.

The next regular meeting of the club will occur on the afternoon of Tuesday, November 8, the names of the hostesses to be announced next Tuesday evening at the Eastern Star meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Peters Jr., Entertain—

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Peters, Jr., on Iowa street, this city, was the scene of a most enjoyable affair last evening, Wednesday, October 26, when they entertained a group of friends at a delicious three-course supper, the main course being venison steaks. The meal was served at seven o'clock, covers being laid for twelve guests at a table decorated with a color scheme of orange and black, effectively carrying out the Halloween idea. A bowl filled with marigolds graced the center, on each side of which was placed a bright yellow taper candle. Clever little orange and black nut cups and place cards finished the attractive effect. A profusion of yellow and orange flowers and greens filled the rooms of the Peters' home.

Following supper, the remainder of the evening was spent in conversation and playing cards, bridge being preferred. Three tables were in play. Mrs. V. D. Miller won the ladies' first prize and Mrs. Dan Kay was awarded consolation; Mr. Russell Cripe held high score among the gentlemen and Mr. Dan Kay received the gentlemen's consolation.

Those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Peters were: Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cripe, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Young and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dunn.

Missionary Tea Wednesday—The Women's Missionary society of the Baptist church held a missionary tea Wednesday, October 26, at the home of one of its members, Mrs. O. F. Carson at 782 Iowa street. There was a splendid attendance and everyone declared the afternoon to be a most enjoyable one.

Mrs. V. O. N. Smith was in charge of the devotionals. Two or three songs were sung and prayer was offered. Mrs. Essa Dally of Medford, associational secretary, gave an instructive talk, the subject being "Waiting Tasks." Mrs. Dally is a very charming and well educated woman and members of the local organization greatly appreciated the opportunity of hearing her. Mrs. O. F. Carson told a beautiful story of the characters in the bible in her usual interesting and pleasing manner. The last number on the program was a vocal duet given by Mrs. H. P. Holmes and Mrs. D. E. Swedling.

A refreshments committee, composed of Mrs. B. H. Hinthorn and Mrs. A. Segsworth, served tea and delicious frosted cakes on which were little-candy flowers. Sunday, October 30, will be "Rally" day at the local Baptist church.

Elks' Ladies Resume Parties—This afternoon, Thursday, October 27, the Elks' Ladies Card club resumed their regular semi-continue throughout the winter, monthly card parties, which will on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. The mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of Elks should attend these parties and enjoy a pleasant afternoon of cards, fancy work, and conversation.

Pharmacy Students Study In Portland

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 27.—Elizabeth Stearns of Ashland, freshman in pharmacy, visited the plant of the Blumauer-Frank Drug company in Portland last week-end with 100 other members of the O. A. C. Pharmaceutical association. The school of pharmacy arranges a field trip to inspect the drug firm's establishment every year. Officials of the company and officers of the association gave talks after a luncheon served the visitors.

RAT IN A DRAFT — THEN SUFFERED

It's never safe to sit where a draft of air strikes the kidneys. Painful congestion, severe back-ache, and a disturbed urinal flow are usual results. Mrs. C. L. B., Petersburg, Va., says: "I was so stiff and sore I could not stoop over nor rise up without great pain. Now, since taking FOLBY PILLS diuretic, I have none." A reliable, valuable medicine, constantly in use over twenty-five years. Take them whenever irritations of the kidneys and bladder, and an irregular urinal flow cause distress and discomfort. Satisfaction guaranteed. Sold everywhere.—No. 2.

FOR WITCHES' EVE THIS PARTY

Fortunate indeed is the lucky person invited to a fortune party on Halloween! For who of us does not enjoy a glimpse or two into the future?

All sorts of surprises await the guests and the fun begins with the invitations. These are written in the form of an acrostic:

Hall, my good friend!
And how would you
Like by way of diversion to
Lead a few hours
Of your life to the learning of
Wonders that only the
Eerie folk tell truly?
Even so, come to my house on the Night of Oct. 31st, 9 o'clock
sharp.

All of the games played, deal in some way or other with the good or ill that the fates have in store. Start the fun with a fortune hunt:

Fortune Hunting
Hide in different parts of the room a ring, money, a thimble, a toy automobile, and other similar objects, one for each guest. The player who finds the ring first will be happily married, the one who discovers the thimble will be a spinster, etc. When one thing has been found the search must stop so that each one may find something. It may be well to place some identifying mark on the various trinkets. After every one has found something the hostess asks, for instance, who has the automobile, and then tells what it means. The different things may be chosen appropriate to the particular group of people you are entertaining.

Fortunes With Cards
Fortune cards can be purchased with the fortunes written on them so that each guest may read her own future. Or, if preferred, one who is skilled in the gypsy art of reading cards, may take each guest in turn and interpret the hidden meanings.
Decorations and Favors
The tablets at which the fortunes are told should be decorated for the occasion in orange and black, the chosen colors for first wrapped with narrow strips of orange crepe paper. Then cut and bend into arms and legs. One leg should be made sufficiently long to permit bending it into a spiral shaped base.

A realistic witch made of a Halloween cut-out and fringed crepe paper is tacked behind a partly opened door. The effect is startling when first you behold her joining the party.

The favors are ruffs of orange crepe paper gathered onto a narrow ribbon. Tied to one end of the ribbon is a large pumpkin cutout bearing the number of the table at which the wearer is to sit.

There are always innumerable ways to use fortune verses. Here is a set that may be written on slips of paper and concealed in favors or Jack Horner pies and then read aloud at the table or in any other way that may fit into your particular scheme of things:

Lucky one!—as I unravel
Your life's web, I see you travel;
Travel, travel everywhere,
Land and sea and through the air.

Round the corner you will meet
One for whom you've waited
Long, in secret; hurry, then,
Lest you be belated!

Work, hard work,
Struggling and contending;
But wealth, joy and love,
Is the happy ending.

Hallowe'en. Cover each table with a large square of light orange crepe paper. Around the edge of this cover paste a Halloween border of witches and cats. To number the table, make a little pumpkin man of wire and cut-outs. The wire is

Ribes would evade you
Staying where you are;
But you'll make your fortune
As a Mayle Star.

Once, twice, thrice,
You will be married;
Last time to the altar,
You will be carried!

You will plod and prosper
Without fear or harm,
And you'll end your peaceful days
On a poultry farm.

Old cats, young kittens,
Need no longer roam;
For you will find, for their delight,
A lux-u-ri-ous home.

Cheer And Song Leader Elected

Lee Boyd was elected cheer leader at the high school and Letha Myers was elected song leader at a student assembly meeting held yesterday. Several tryouts preceded the election, with Boyd, Dick Joy and Duane Malone as candidates for cheer leader and Lillian Olsen and Letha Myers candidates for song leader. The newly elected leaders will be in charge of pep meetings which are to precede each football contest.

SPOKE AT KLAMATH
J. A. Churchill, president of the Southern Oregon Normal School Wednesday evening spoke before the Commercial Club at Klamath Falls.
