Japanese Posters Announce Date Of Junior High School Operetta

The beginning of this week gay colored Japanese posters will be seen adorning the windows of the prominent business places, announcing the date of the coming Junior high three-act Japanese operetta, "Yanki San" to be presented in the Senior high school gymnasium.

The cast, composed of 65 little tots, have been working very industriously for the last few weeks preparing themselves for the first operetta ever presented in the Junior high school here.

Miss Ellen Waters, physical education director, is preparing a delightful drill to present between acts. The High School orchestra, under the direction of W. Y. Croft, will furnish music before the operetta and between acts.

The scenery is exceedingly beautiful. It is a Japanese tea garden, lit up by many beautiful Japanese lanterns, strung here and there and surrounded by lattice work, arches, etc., and covered with green vines and a beautiful assortment of hand made paper flowers.

The costumes, although nearly all Japanese, furnish a great variety of style and color, even more than in the operetta presented last year by the senior high school.

The synopsis of the story is as follows:
 "Prince Tote was banished to the island of No Man. His daughter, Yanki San, is born on the island. She is beloved by the court, but hated by her seven sisters, the seven Roses of Old Japan. The sisters bribe the Wolf Witch of the island to cast its spell over Yanki San.

AGED WOMAN WRITES POEM

"Ode to a Rose" Work of Mrs. Sadie Bagley, 80 Years of Age

Mrs. Sadie Bagley, 80, who makes her home in this city has recently written the following bit of poetry, entitled "Ode To The Rose."
 There's never a rose, without it's thorn
 Yet we welcome them as they bloom in the morn;
 So God in his goodness, from ro m day to day,
 Scatters the beauties along our way.

So in your moments of toll and care,
 Remember the roses that bloom everywhere,
 They bloom for our pleasure, then fade away
 As the sunning leaves us at close of day.

God save you, your babies; with faces so sweet,
 The sweet human flowers make your joys more complete.
 Parents—lead the Christ life every day,
 And by so doing it will teach them the way.

The thorns of life are hard to bare,
 But the roses and flowers have no thorns over there
 So when our joys and sorrows cease,
 Let us hope to enter the realms of peace.
