A CHRISTMAS SONNET

For One in Doubt
By Edwin Arlington Robinson
While you that in your sorrow
dear
Service and hope see love and brotherhood
Far off as ever, it will do no good
For you to wear His thorns upon your brow
For doubt of Him. And should you question how
To serve Him best, He might say,
if He could,
"Whether or not the Cross was made of wood
Whereon you nailed Me, is no matter now"

A mother takes care of each cottage, and gives the children under her care love and understanding that is rare in a home where the real mother is not present. The farm is organized into a separate school district with a regular school board and is used as a training center for the Monmouth Normal. This institution is strictly a Christian one, and the relation of the child to God is not a matter of one, but of every day in the week.

Buy a tag today or tomorrow and help swell the fund, which will be used to build a new cottage at the Farm Home.

Though other saviors have in older

lore
A legend, and for older gods have died—
Though death may wear the crown it always wore,
And ignorance be still the sword
of pride—
Something is here that was not here before,
And strangely has not yet been crucified.

"Tag Day" Today and

Tomorrow—
Auxiliary members of the American Legion Post No. 14 are busy today selling tags for the local Women's Christian Temperance Union, who are sponsoring the "Tag Day" program today and tomorrow, Saturday, to raise money for the Children's Farm Home near Corvallis. "Tag Day" was scheduled for Saturday, November 6, but on account of other activities, it had to be postponed.

The tags are being sold for ten cents apiece and everyone in the city should buy one or more and help this work, as the Children's Farm Home is one of the most needed institutions in the state for homeless and needy children. The Home is now taking care of over 120 of these children and applications are being received daily for a great many more, for which there is no room.

Card Party Friday Evening

The High School P. T. A. card party, which was postponed some time ago on account of the infant paralysis epidemic in this city, will be held on the evening of Friday, December 3, in the Civic clubhouse on Winburn Way. Money from each circle of the local P. T. A. was advanced to send the delegates to the convention, held recently at La Grande, and this card party is being given for the purpose of swelling the treasury.

Both bridge and "500" will be played. The clubhouse will be beautifully decorated for the affair and the P. T. A. members are hoping that a large number will attend.

Mrs. F. G. Swendenburg and Mrs. Walter Bevington, two members of the High School circle, are in charge of the party Friday evening. Mrs. Fred W. Hitchcock on Oak street is president of this circle.

No Meeting in December

There will be no December meeting of the D. A. R., as it is so near the Christmas holidays and the members of the organization are busily engaged with other work. The next regular meeting will not occur until sometime in January, and an announcement will be made of the exact date.

Good Attendance At Meeting

A good attendance marked the regular meeting of the Missionary society of the local Congregational church, held yesterday afternoon, Thursday, December 1, at the home of Mrs. A. F. Abbott on Liberty street. Approximately 12 members were present.

The regular routine of business occupied the first part of the afternoon, the rest of the time being spent in making garments for a Missionary home. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Abbott.

On the afternoon of Wednesday,

December 7, a "work" meeting will be held at Mrs. Abbott's home and it is particularly urged that every member attend.

Entertaining Medford and

Phoenix Lodges—
The Ashland Neighbors of the Woodcraft will hold their regular meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall Monday evening, December 5, at which time they will entertain the members from the Medford and Phoenix lodges.

A business session will be conducted, after which the time will be spent in a social way. Refreshments will be served by a committee appointed for this work. All members are requested to be at Monday's meeting and help entertain the visiting Neighbors.

Visiting Members Will

Entertain—
About eighteen visiting Eastern Star members in Ashland are making elaborate preparations for Tuesday evening, December 6, when they will entertain the members of Alpha Chapter No. 1, O. E. S. in the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. C. E. Shinn is general chairman of the affair and Mrs. Lev Hansen is chairman of the decoration committee.

Exceptionally Interesting

Meeting—
Members of the Social Circle of the local Christian church enjoyed an exceptionally interesting meeting yesterday afternoon, Thursday, December 1, in the parlors of the church. Twenty-four members were in attendance.

The usual business session was held and it was decided to hold another meeting next Thursday, December 8, for the purpose of getting the articles ready for the bazaar Saturday, December 10. Mrs. V. V. Callwell presided at a most enjoyable program, after which the time was spent in talking comforts and doing fancy work. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Will Loomis was named chairman of the next refreshment committee, to be assisted by Mrs. O. H. Johnson, Mrs. Ewallister and Mrs. Mabel Moore.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

As I surround the table
On Thanksgiving Day to eat,
I observe the lack of turkey
And so many things that are sweet:
I have laid a plate quite gently
And I tipped a vacant chair,
Now I sit here with hands folded Reading not, that bill of fare.

"Now I ask my Lord to bless me
Take away all grief and care,
Raise my eyes to Him in heaven
Instead upon that plate a n d chair."

Housewives Cook Food Too Long Declares Health Doctor

Probably the greatest sanitary innovation ever introduced by man to protect himself against infection is cooking. Most microorganisms harmful to man are destroyed easily by heat. Cooking has other advantages. It softens food, makes it more tender and enhances its digestibility. One of the most important functions in the preparation of food is to render it savory and appetizing. Food that appears inviting aids digestion by stimulating the secretion and flow of the digestive juices.

Cooking, however, has some disadvantages: there is a loss of mineral and some of the nutritive constituents; there is also a diminution in the vitamin property of food generally. Cooking is an important art, but some foods when cooked lose certain substances called vitamins. These are found in the skin or coating of grain, especially rice, also, in yolk of egg, raw milk, fresh fruits and fresh vegetables such as peas, beans and tomatoes. Some raw or uncooked foods such as lettuce, celery, fruits, and nuts should be used in order to supply the necessary vitamins.

The universal observation by those who have been forced to take their meals several hours after the regular meal hour is that the food is not appetizing. Food that is cooked too long makes the fibers tough and reduces their digestibility. Experiment on feeding rats with food properly cooked and food cooked several hours give the following results: The rats fed with food which had been cooked properly gained much more than the rats fed with large quantities of overcooked food. The latter were always hungry but did not thrive. The destruction of vitamins does not account for the results. Some change in the constitution of the food lowers the food value of overcooked foods.

The quality of the food and not the quantity is the main consideration. Vegetables should be cooked with their skins on as much as possible and the skins eaten whenever convenient. The skins contain vitamins that are too often thrown away. When vegetables are peeled and the water in which they are cooked is

Screen Club Dance Tonight

Costumes of the pioneer period will be in evidence this evening when the dance is held at the Moose hall sponsored by the screen club.

Much interest in the affair has been roused and with real old time music and costumes of the pioneer days in which those who are backing the movie project, place great advertising possibilities, will predominate.

The dance is to follow the holiday opening.

A general invitation is extended to the public to attend the dance. Comedy stunts are also planned.
