About twenty-five members of the local Baptist church went to Medford last night to hear the Rev. W. B. Hinson of Portland preach in the Baptist church in that city.

Grants Pass Methodist church has been having an old fashioned "protracted" meeting with Dr. S. A. Danford and wife of Ashland in charge. Dr. Danford did the preaching and Mrs. Danford led the young people's meetings. About thirty new members have been received.

Dr. C. O. Jarvis was called to Klamath Falls yesterday on a professional visit. He started to drive over the mountain at about 4:30 last evening, and at 4 o'clock this morning Mrs. Jarvis received a message by phone from Klamath Falls stating that the doctor had not arrived yet. As he had been gone about twelve hours, it is feared he had a breakdown along the way. While the road is not traveled to any great extent at this time of year, it is not thought that the doctor would suffer a breakdown and be held up in an isolated place for any length of time.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. McWilliams received the sad message this morning that their son, Elvidge McWilliams, had died at 6:30 this morning at Newman, Calif. The body will be shipped here for burial. The tidings concerning this sad affair are very meagre, but stated the body will be shipped here for burial.

N. W. McGee, of Pullman, Wash. arrived in Ashland today for a visit with his nephew, J. H. McGee. Mr. McGee, Sr., has been making a sojourn of several weeks in Los Angeles, and will remain here for a time with his Ashland relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. French drove down to Medford last night to attend the play, "The Bird of Paradise," at the Page Theatre.

F. S. Engle and J. H. McGee went to Medford today to confer with the forestry officials concerning the matter of the roads at the Lake of the Woods.

B. M. Clute, the well-known Applegate hopgrower, is visiting his relatives in Ashland this week. Mr. Clute demonstrated conclusively this past year that prohibition has not injured the hop growing business, as he just disposed of his immense crop at fancy prices.

O. S. Easterling, city electrician, is in Portland this week. Mr. Easterling has been sick for several days last week, but is improved sufficiently to drive to Portland in a "bug."

Holley Hoyt, who is able to be about again after a siege of rheumatism, will leave tomorrow night for Oakland, Calif., to recuperate.

Company B of the National Guards will be busy next Sunday if they accept the invitations to the services which they are called upon to attend. In the morning they are invited to the Presbyterian church, at which time the pastor will preach on "Christian Americanization." In the afternoon they are asked to be present in a body to the memorial services in the Chautauque building, and in the evening are invited to attend the Washington address to be delivered by Rev. C. A. Edwards in the Methodist church.

A wreck somewhere north is holding back train No. 15 today. A stub consisting of baggage and mail cars went out at the usual time, but the regular train is not scheduled to arrive here until 5 o'clock.

The young soldier who was arrested in Ashland last week, charged with desertion, was taken to Medford by the recruiting officers who have been stationed there, and sent to Portland with a number of recruits who were going there.

Alfred McCoy, section foreman of the Southern Pacific at Mistletoe, has so far recovered from a severe attack of pneumonia to be able to make a trip to Ashland yesterday.

The committees appointed to have charge of the details concerning the Fathers and Sons banquet are busy getting affairs in shape to have everything completed and in shape by Tuesday evening, February 24, when this annual event will take place in the Armory at 7 o'clock sharp. All boys who have passed their tenth birthday and have not reached their eighteenth birthday are eligible to attend. Each boy can be accompanied by his father or a make-believe father. The tickets limit the age of the latter from 15 to 195 years old.

MONDAY'S NEWS

The Billings Agency reports the sale of the Mrs. Elizabeth Cromar acre tract on Walnut street to R. J. and Ethel Dodge of Eastern Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Dodge have arrived in Ashland and will make their home at their new purchase.

J. G. Kirkpatrick visited last week with his parents on Leonard street.

W. B. Million received a dispatch Saturday from Mrs. Million, who was called to San Jose, Calif., by the illness of their daughter, Miss Mildred. The message stated that the young lady was getting along very well. She had had an attack of influenza, and had got around too soon, which caused a slight relapse.

Mrs. Young, mother of J. W. Young, foreman of the mechanical department of the Tidings, was a visitor at the home of her son from Central Point Saturday.

Mrs. S. S. Smith of Medford was a guest at the home of Mrs. B. R. Greer on Granite street Saturday.

Mrs. J. F. Hallick of McCloud returned to her home Sunday after spending several days as a guest of her sister, Mrs. G. H. Ketchum of Heiman street.

Mrs. Walter Douglas and two little daughters, who came here last week to visit at the home of Mrs. Douglas' cousin, Mrs. F. J. Shinn, have been quite ill ever since they arrived here. They were vaccinated before leaving their home in Northern Washington, and the inoculation began to "take" while on their way here. On arriving in Ashland the other three were only fit for their beds, where they have had to remain ever since. They are recovering, however, and hope to be able to enjoy their visit in a few days.

Yesterday was a verification of the old hymn, "December is as Pleasant as May." The most brilliant sunshine and balmy air prevailed, making out door exercise most delightful. A steady stream of automobiles ran on the highway all afternoon, going up and down the valley, while the streets and park were full of pedestrians enjoying the delightful air.

Mayor C. B. Lamkin is literally "up in the air" these days. He had his fangalow on Bush street, on jacks ready to start the first of the week on its journey down the hill to its destination on North Main street, where it will be stationed on the lot recently purchased by the mayor.

A. B. Chapman and wife drove in from their country home on Saturday to interview our merchants.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gall and Mrs. Charles Brown of Bellevue, were Ashland visitors on Saturday.

W. R. Langrave and family who came here recently from Carson, Wash., are now located in their new home at 55 Factory street which they recently purchased.

Misses Nola Kent, Frances Potter and Edith Moody, teachers in the Roseburg city schools, who have been home during the enforced vacation while the schools were closed on account of an influenza epidemic in that city, left yesterday for Roseburg. The schools expect to open there Tuesday.

Dr. W. B. Hinson, pastor of the East Side Baptist church of Portland, one of the most prominent clergymen of the Pacific coast, will be in Medford this evening and preach in the Baptist church in that city. A number of members of that denomination expect to go down to hear this eminent divine.

Word was received in Ashland today that a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hirdman of Redding, Calif., on February 11. The Hindmans were former residents of Ashland and have many friends here who extend congratulations.

Mrs. J. L. Sneed of Salem is a guest of her mother, Mrs. Anna Kent, at the Hotel Columbia.

LaVon Zundel, representing the Brown Motor company at the Automobile shop, sold a Nash car to T. H. Simpson and the delivery was made today. The Nash is a very classy car and the Simpson family will get much joy out of it the coming summer.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Prose were guests of Grants Pass the latter part of the week.

Mr. Jesse Winburn, of New York City, is the guest of Prof. Irving Vining. He came in Sunday morning and yesterday afternoon was shown over the valley by E. V. Carter, B. R. Greer and Prof. Vining, the party being the guests of Mr. Vining at dinner in the evening. Mr. Winburn is just returning from a seven months tour of the Orient and has many interesting reminiscences of his trip. He is at the head of one of the large advertising firms of New York City as well as being financially identified with many of the big manufacturing concerns of the East. He will spend a week with Mr. Vining here and will be shown as many of our scenic marvels as time will permit. He is greatly impressed with our climate and scenery and especially our mineral waters. He says Ashland has a great future if properly and persistently advertised.

U. OF O. NOTES

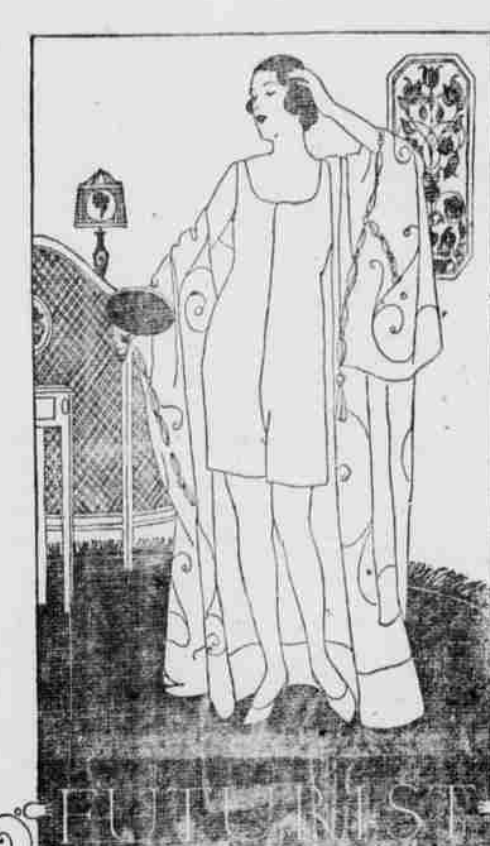

John Finneran, a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and an ex-member of the class of '21, spent the week-end at Eugene as the guest of his house. Leith Abbott, who won his 'O' in track last year by winning the half-mile, and running in the relay race, was initiated into the order of the 'O' Thursday evening, between halves of the Oregon W. S. C. basketball game. Abbott is the first Ashland man that ever won an 'O.' Freshmen basketball suits were given out Saturday evening, and two Ashland men, Edwin Fraser and Arvin Burnett, each got one.

A leading Kansas City paper has the following striking headline on its front page: "Demand for Children Greatest in History of Country; Child Couples are Swamping Welfare Bureaus and Orphanages for Little Ones." The baby market is booming. The demand for babies for adoption throughout the U. S. is the greatest in history.
