Local and Personal

TUESDAY'S NEWS

The Jackson county high school and principal's club which met in Jacksonville last Saturday adopted resolutions favoring the passage of the proposed two mill tax measure to be voted on at the May election.

Among the company officers selected from the senior class at the Oregon Agricultural college military tournament held there, appears the name of Morris C. Kael of Ashland, who received a commission of second lieutenant.

Mrs. Anne Stephenson, who has been spending several weeks with her son, George Stephenson, near Grants Pass, has returned home.

County Treasurer Myrtle Blakeley has tendered her resignation to the county court, to take effect as soon as possible. She has done this to accept a position with the Beaver Cement company at Gold Hill, and expects to resume charge of the company's office the latter part of this week. Mrs. Blakeley is serving her second term as county treasurer, the expiration of which will not occur until next January.

The Talent Farmers' club will hold a get-together meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall at Talent next Friday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. County Agent C. C. Cate will talk on matters pertaining to the county farm bureau. Prof. F. C. Reimer will tell about agriculture in China, George A. Mansfield, president of the county farm bureau, and Miss Pool, county home demonstrator, will interest the women of the community with a talk on her department. The directors of the Talent irrigation district will make a detailed report on the status of the district, and refreshments will be served by the ladies of the Talent Community club.

This section of the valley has been receiving considerable snow and rain for the past three or four days which is going far towards thoroughly wetting the ground and proving a great blessing to the farmers. The fact that snow has covered all the mountains and foothills out of the city on the mountain roads report water running down the roads in torrents, showing that the snow and rain in the mountains has been great within the past week. The only fear is that the rain and snowfall has come so late in the season it will not do the good it would had it fallen early in the winter.

The Conro Fiero orchard north of Central Point has been sold to Lieutenant Paul Scherer, of Pasadena, for a consideration of $22,000. Lieutenant Scherer is now in the U. S. navy, but will be discharged in May, after which he will move to his new ranch.

Mrs. Harry Silver, who was called to Cottage Grove a couple of weeks ago by the illness of her daughter, Miss Madeline Silver, who is one of the corps of teachers in the public schools there, returned home last evening, accompanied by her daughter. Miss Silver will remain at home until she is fully recovered from her attack of influenza.

Mrs. Larkin Grubb of the McGee's drygoods clerical force, is among the sick today.

Mrs. W. J. Wallace, who was called to Seattle some time ago by the sickness of a sister, has returned home.

The electric sanding machine that has been employed on the floor of the Ashland Armory has finished its work and the floor is now ready for a dressing of oil and wax which will soon put it in shape to be one of the finest dancing floors in Southern Oregon.

Mrs. S. C. Cavin is reported to be very ill at her home on Iowa street, suffering with neuralgia of the head. She was a little better today.

Addison Helms, aged 11, is proving himself a full-fledged financier. Last spring Addison took advantage of the offer the banks made to school boys and girls, and borrowed $5 from one of the local banking institutions with which he purchased a pig. This he raised until a short time ago when he sold it for $30. He then worked his dad for an additional sum with which he purchased a Shetland pony which he has been hopeful of possessing for a long while.

Union Sheridan Bowman, a teamster of Talent, died there this morning, after an extended illness, due to hemorrhage of the brain. The deceased was 59 years of age and is survived by his parents and several brothers. The funeral will be held at Talent Thursday and interment made in the cemetery there.

Miss Elsie Larson is unable to attend to her work in the store on account of a severe cold. Her sister, Ida Larson, is taking her place.

Grace and Beauty

How to Have Beautiful Hair
The main essential for beautiful tresses, whether golden, auburn, chestnut or black, is good health. Fresh air and sunshine will do wonders for the hair under certain conditions. Any woman can supply these conditions without expense and with little trouble. Of course, she will have to devote a little time and patience to the task and she must not wait until years of neglect have robbed the hair of all its natural vigor.

I advise the average woman of modest income to be her own beauty doctor. Shampoo the hair when it is necessary. Use soft water if possible. A little salt in the water is good. A non-alkaline soap should be used. When the weather permits it is always best to dry the hair in the sunshine. Light hair is always prettiest when fluffy. Dark hair should be glossy and smooth, unless that style of coiffure is too trying. Careful brushing is beneficial. A careless wielding of the brush will break off more and more of the hair until it becomes, in general, very uneven. If it is too dry and brittle use a little olive oil—just a very little—rubbed into the scalp each night with the tips of the fingers. Dandruff should never be permitted to form. The scalp pores must be kept open and circulation stimulated.

Worry and anxiety will do more to destroy the beauty of the hair in a week than the average person can cultivate in many weeks. A bad state of nerves will cause the hair to drop and often to fall out. And here we are, back at the only firm foundation—health.

If your hair begins suddenly to get thin, coming out in great quantities, make haste to apply promptly and lavishly a good quinine tonic, preferably one prescribed by your own doctor or druggist who will take a personal interest in seeing that no harmful ingredients are included in the compound.

There are many old-fashioned, home remedies always within reach if one cares to use them. Salt, soda, cornstarch, eggs (when they are not a dollar a dozen), vinegar, kerosene, sage, walnut, borax, sulphur and many other articles found in the average home, all have their uses and, when applied with judgment in the particular cases for which they are suited, seldom fail to produce beneficial results.

Priscilla Dean

Mrs. M. B. Riley, who recently returned to Ashland from Texas, has purchased the old Bagley homestead on High street and will make that her permanent residence. Mrs. Riley formerly lived in Ashland and on her return there she had spent the past five years in five different states trying to forget Ashland, but the ties drawing her back here were too strong, and she finally returned to spend the rest of her life.

Labor Jury "Acquits" I.W.W.'s

(By United Press)
TACOMA, March 16. — The Montesano Labor Jury "acquitted" all the I. W. W.'s last night. The Labor jury voted there had been a conspiracy among the Centralia business men to raid the hall of the I. W. W.; that Warren Grimm was a party to the conspiracy, and that the defendants failed to get an impartial trial.

Farm women today like up-to-date clothes, and fashion shows in their locality always bring out a good crowd. There are fashion shows and fashion shows, but the kind put on by demonstrators, sent out by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural colleges, where good-looking clothes within the purses of those present are shown, are on the increase. A fashion show of this type is usually held at some central hall. The "models" are members of the local clothing centers or clubs. The clothes exhibited by the models are those that have been made in club work under the instruction of the local leader and the state specialists.

Oftentimes, especially if the results have been unusually good or the idea novel, the garment is a "made over."

What They Think of Our Camp Ground

Washington, D. C.

March 16, 1920.

My Dear Mr. Greer:

I was interested to note the plans of the American Automobile Association to get out a book on camping for motorists. While I am not soliciting advertisements for them I thought you ought to know about this as perhaps Ashland's splendid park should have something of a notice. I am sending you along some circulars in regard to this.

The A. A. A. is co-operating very nicely with us and plans to definitely locate the National Park-to-Park highway by a path-finding trip which will take in all of the national parks, their route, of course, passing through Ashland.

One of their illustrations in their new book, in order to exemplify the community free camp grounds, was taken at Ashland. The book, I believe, is going to be published within the next few weeks so prompt action is necessary if you decide to do anything.

I hope the time will come when all through the cities there will be as beautifully located camping spots as the one to which you have devoted so much of your time and energy.

Yours sincerely,

STEPHEN T. MATHER.
