ASHLAND DID NOT 'TRICK' SISTER CITY

Latest returns from over the county show that the removal of the court house bill lost in the county by 157 votes short of the 3600 or the sixty per cent necessary to carry.

The loss of the removal of the court house is blamed to Ashland by Medford in a story appearing in today's Oregonian, which claims that Ashland double crossed Medford when the latter promised to trade votes favoring the election of E. V. Carter for those favoring the county seat removal.

Where such a statement originated is not known in Ashland. E. V. Carter, when interviewed today, stated he absolutely knew nothing about such a deal. He said his candidacy originated in Medford, and he was strongly urged by some of the prominent Medford business men to let his name go on the ballot for representative.

Nothing was intimated to him, he declares, regarding the support of the county seat removal in trade for Medford's support of his candidacy.

Mr. Carter said he publicly and privately advocated the county seat removal whenever opportunity offered. He said that he called attention of prominent men in Medford to the fact that there was a strong adverse sentiment in Ashland against the court house removal and urged that speakers be sent here to answer the arguments advanced by Colonel Sargent of Jacksonville, against the removal, but this was not done.

Mr. Carter stated further that he asked the Medford correspondent of the Oregonian for his authority in making the charge of double crossing by Ashland, and his reply was that "it was a street rumor."

Mayor Lamkin, also interviewed this morning, stated he had attended the Medford Chamber of Commerce forum booster meeting for the removal of the court house, and had stated he was in favor of its removal, but did not pledge any Ashland votes on the proposition in exchange for votes for Mr. Carter.

The Mail Tribune of last night stated there are wild threats of what Medford will do to Ashland's normal the next time it comes to a vote, claiming it has given loyal support to Ashland in every conceivable way from the Chautauque to the camp grounds.

"Judging by talk on the streets, Medford will adopt a different course in the future," it claims.

The last statement in the paper, however, clears up the electricity in the air over the feeling existing from the defeat of the measure by very truthfully stating that the measure would have carried easily if the Chamber of Commerce of Medford had sent good speakers to debate the question with Col. Sargent, instead of letting the colonel have it all his own way.

FREE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU IS OPENED

Morris & Davis, (Ed. and Toad) advertise elsewhere in this issue of The Tidings the opening of their new pool and billiard parlor on North Main street next door to Simpson's Hardware store.

The firm states they will carry a full line of cigars and tobaccos and soft drinks.

In connection with the pool and billiard parlor the firm will conduct a free employment bureau where farmers and others needing help can list their wants by phoning them in or otherwise and the same will be listed on a large blackboard in a conspicuous place in the billiard parlor.

This will be a great help to those seeking help and the service will be absolutely free to the employer and the employee. When help is secured the employer will be informed by phone and he can call at the billiard parlor and make the further necessary arrangements if he so desires.

UNITED STATES HAS 7,000,000 HUNTERS

This is a nation of nimrods. There are 7,000,000 hunters in the United States, according to the chief United States game warden in the biological survey, United States department of agriculture. This estimate was made from reports on the number of game licenses issued by the various states.

In 1919, 3,600,000 state licenses were issued, and in addition it is estimated that 3,500,000 hunters are exempted under various state provisions. The returns to the states from licenses was approximately $4,500,000, all of which was expended by the states in the protection of game. This sum permits the employment of approximately 2000 salaried state game wardens and 600 fee wardens. The congressional appropriation for federal game warden service for protection of migratory birds is $142,500, which permits the employment of only 29 salaried wardens.

At its recent meeting in Ottawa the International Association of Fish, Game and Conservation Commissioners adopted a resolution calling for the issuance of federal licenses for hunting migratory birds. The recommendation called for licenses in the form of special stamps to be issued by postmasters and attached to state licenses. It was estimated that the revenue from such licenses would amount to between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000, which could be used for the protection of game.

Thursday night, sent to Medford for an orchestra, and the result was that one of the happiest gatherings of the season danced away the evening until 11 o'clock, the going home time that gives the club its name, was struck. The invited guest list Thursday night included: Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Barron, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McGee, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. G. At the age of 14 years young Harding completed his work at the village school and entered the Ohio Central college of Iberia, now defunct. As did many of the other Ohio youths, Harding worked his way through the college, being forced to quit his work at intervals to replenish his treasury by doing odd jobs, working in the fields or on the section gang of the railroad.

When he was 19 years old, the family moved to Marion, O. There has never been a strike or a threatened strike in the office of the Star. Mr. Harding's newspaper, it is stated, and he has solved his own industrial problem by a practice of friendship, square dealing and generosity which has resulted in a corps of workers upon the paper all of whom swear by the "old man." After the paper had become firmly established, Mr. Harding reorganized the concern into a stock company and distributed shares to each of the employees. The company is operated upon this basis at the present time.

In 1891 Mr. Harding was married to Florence Kling, daughter of Amos Kling, now deceased, who was one of the leading business men of the city of Marion. Mr. Harding has been described by intimate friends as a tower of strength to her husband in all of his business relations and political aspirations, and in the fullest sense as helpmate and homemaker.

He has been for years an active member of the Trinity Baptist church of Marion, being a trustee of the church at the present time.

THE SOCIAL REALM

FRIDAY'S NEWS
Mrs. Otto Herbst entertained Mrs. Hubert Morrell of Acme, Wash., and Mrs. Howard Barrett, the former's hostess, at her home on Church street yesterday at luncheon.

Little Symphony Orchestra Pleases. Ashland seems unfortunate in its entertainment engagements, as so many of the companies are held up by train wrecks, making them late in reaching the city. This was the case last evening, when the Little Symphony Orchestra presented the opening engagement of the Winter Lyceum in the army under the auspices of First company, O. N. G. It was close to 9:30 before the company reached the army, but no delay in the opening of the recital followed their arrival. The orchestra was an all-string combination presenting attractive sketches from standard symphonies and leading operas, together with a wide repertoire of the compositions of Mr. Thurlow Lierman, the organizer of the orchestra. Miss Margaret Perry, a well known American soprano, accompanied the orchestra and delighted the audience with her wonderfully charming solo work. A good attendance of Ashland's music lovers greeted this number, and the boys in charge hope to have the support of the people in the coming numbers of the lyceum.

Afternoon Party. Mrs. P. J. Shinn was hostess yesterday afternoon at a party in honor of her cousin, Mrs. Hubert Morrell of Acme, Wash., who has been visiting here for the past fortnight. Those present beside the honor guest were Mrs. O. A. Paulserud, Mrs. Edmund Dews, Mrs. Otto Herbst, Mrs. Howard Barrett, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Thomas Stephenson. The ladies spent the afternoon with their needlework.

Birthday Party. Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Young entertained at a birthday party for their daughter, Eugenia, on Wednesday, November 3, at their home at 116 High street, from 2 to 5 p. m. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in playing games, after which refreshments were served. The table was decorated with Hallowe'en colors, the attractive feature being the beautiful birthday cake with 11 lighted candles. Many beautiful gifts were received. Those present were: Mary Maloney, Sylvia Hach, Rosalind Wias, Edith Plimmer, Helen Moriens, Junior Harrington, Ned and Eugenia Young.

SATURDAY'S NEWS
Enjoyable Dance. Much as Ashland residents like to dance it takes Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Butler to set the ball rolling and get the old Elvora O'clock club a-dancing. This was the case last winter when for the first time since the war Mr. and Mrs. Butler issued invitations to this happy company to meet in Memorial hall and "shake a foot," and the meeting given by those hospitable people was repeated all winter at stated times. This state of affairs was again repeated this year. The club merely waited for "Gwin to do it," before organizing for the coming winter, so Mr. and Mrs. Butler hunted up their old list, issued the invitations for

Millions for a New Stomach

One of the greatest American millionaires said to his physician, "A million dollars, Doctor, spot cash and no grudging, for a new stomach," and the sick man groaned and turned away. All his wealth could not make him happy or contented, for happiness largely depends upon digestion. Without health where does happiness come in? After all the stomach plays a great part in everyday life. Without healthy stomach and good digestion of food is this, watery and poor, and heart action is weak, our liver does not do its duty, and man is miserable as a consequence. Prevent disease by putting the house in order and strengthening the system against the germs of disease. Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel at Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. has years ago understood diseases and the prevention, and he discovered certain herbs which were nature's remedies, and succeeded in putting them in a form that could be easily prepared at the drug store (liquid capsules). This he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This Discovery gives no false stimulation because it contains no alcohol or any narcotic. It helps digestion and the assimilation of such elements in the food as are required for the blood. It gives to the blood the food elements the tissues require. For over fifty years it has enjoyed the confidence of the American public. Try it now!
