AN ENCOURAGING WORD FOR THE HOTEL AUSTIN

Editor of the Tidings: Words of praise and appreciation can never be more appropriately uttered than during Christmas tide when the festivities of the family, as well as the individual, are on the high rising tide.

Mr. A. Austin Chisholm, a second time manager of the hotel, is particularly well suited for the post he fills and with him is associated a genial and enterprising spirit in the person of Miss Kopp, who represents New York financial interests in making the most of the contemplated changes and improvements in the structure itself.

Mr. Mefford, a recent addition to the working force, can be depended on to take scrupulous care of all business coming his way when Ashland citizens at large are committed to the task of seeking that nocturnal rest that is vitalized and carry them through the labors of another day.

May the Hotel Austin continue to pursue the even tenor of its way and in due course establish itself as a feature of the most attractive of mineral and tourist cities on the entire Pacific coast.

H. G. GILMORE.

Yuletide Observed At Local Church

Christmas tide was happily kept by the Presbyterian church and Sunday school.

An old-time Christmas was celebrated by the Sunday school, Friday evening, with a crowded house. The Misses Patterson and Russell, assisted by Mrs. Winter's class of girls had developed a beautiful decoration scheme of greens and bells and stars. The musical numbers were well presented. A vocal solo by Miss Nellie Hake and a piano selection by Miss Lollita Pierson and a number by the orchestra deserve special mention, and of course the primary exercises were delightful.

The closing number, a little play, "The Children's Dream," was a charming portrayal of the innocent joy of children at Christmas. Santa Claus appeared and distributed the usual treat to the members of the school.

The Sunday morning service was the coming of the reverent joy of the child of the Christ. The choir rendered several beautiful selections.

McNAIR BROS.

The Rexall Store

The sermon on the theme of "They Brought Unto Him Gifts," led the thought of the congregation to God's unspesakable gift and the spirit that should inspire our gifts. Three young girls gave their confession of Christ and their allegiance to His church at the close, while four other were received by letter.

The Communion service followed. Rev. Dr. Burkholder, of Seattle, assisting.

The evening was given up to a Christmas program by the choir. No one number could be praised above another as the whole was beautifully given under the directorship of Mrs. J. H. Fuller, with Mrs. J. R. Robertson, organist, unless it be the violin solo by Leonard Pettit and the duet by Mrs. Jacobs and Miss Allen.

Gifts recorded to benevolence for the day were, China Famine Relief, $123; the Sunday school gift of $51 for Armenia; the gifts to the Women's Schools of the Orient, $21; besides other private gifts by members to these causes. The free spirit of the gifts seemed to record the happiness of the day.

Aged Resident Gone to Reward

Mrs. Anna Satterfield, an aged resident of this city, died at her home on Granite street last evening, after several weeks' illness. She was 87 years of age, and had lived for many years in Ashland. She was a life-long member of the Baptist church, and had devoted her time and attention to the services of that church as long as she was able, seldom being absent from her place in the service, and only then when ill health compelled her to remain away.

Services will be held tomorrow, Tuesday, afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock from the Baptist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Walter L. Evans, and burial will be made in the Ashland cemetery. One niece, Mrs. Terwilliger, of California, survives Mrs. Satterfield, and has been in Ashland during the latter's last illness, giving the care and attention necessary for her comfort.

TAILORING SHOP MOVES TO NEW EAST MAIN HOME

Chas. Drew, Proprietor of the Drew Tailoring Shop, Moves to Newly Remodeled Shop on East Main Street—Formerly Was Located at 81 Oak Street.

The building located at 337 East Main street has been remodeled inside and out, and fitted to be the future home of Chas. Drew, the tailor. The transfer was recently made whereby Mr. Drew became the owner of this building, and he immediately commenced the remodeling of the building to fill his needs. A new floor and practically a new front was put in.

The building was formerly owned by Mrs. Lottie Paulson, and occupied by the Fix-it Shop. The new proprietor has a floor space for his business of almost nine hundred square feet. The painting of the building, which was well along, has been held up because of the inclement weather.

Mr. Drew is the active manager as well as the proprietor, and besides himself, employs one tailor, W. S. Stacy, who is at present with him, but expects to leave shortly for California.

EDUCATED ANIMAL KEEPS BOSS IN OAT BIN OVER NIGHT

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill.—County Auditor Frank Troeckler of Edwardsville was down on his country place at Mitchell the other day and was made a prisoner all night in an oat bin by a pet horse.

Troeckler went out to the barn to feed the stock and went to the oat room with a measure. He was followed by "Spot," the pet horse. The animal has been taught to open and close doors, and while Troeckler was in the bin the horse shut the door and latched it, manipulating the latch with his teeth and lips.

CHRISTMAS O'ER THE WORLD.

Any country may have its Thanksgiving—The Equator, the U. S., the Poles—Where'er or when they're thankful, On land, or where the deep sea rolls. And New Year may be feted in Iceland. Or in Jerusalem far away. Where'er a land has come to its own, It claims its natal day. And so with most of our holidays; They belong to the country you claim. Each celebrate as they wish to do, Their particular cause or aim. But do you know, my dear little children, O'er the world there's but one Christmas day? A babe was born, a King proclaimed, To reign o'er the world for aye. And today in the heart of each baby, And adult breast He's born. Our sorrows we leave down at the "Yan." All hail! 'Tis Bethlehem's morn!—ELIZABETH YOCKEY, Ashland, Ore., Dec. 18, 1920.

IN THE SCHOOL ROOM.

Teacher—"Johnny, your mouth is open."

Johnny—"Yes, Teacher, I know it. I opened it"—Cornell Widow.

Teacher—"You've been a naughty boy. You must stay after school."

"All right, Miss Jones, if you aren't afraid of the scandal I'm not!"—Jack Canuck.

Teacher—"Who can tell me what 'unaware' means?"

Little Mary—"Unaware is what you put on first and take off last."—Cleveland News.

Teacher—"Where was the Declaration of Independence signed?"

Bright pupil—"At the bottom, mum."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Teacher—"Do you know the population of New York?"

"Not all of them, ma'am, we've only lived here two years."—The American Boy.

Teacher—"Swarms of flies descended upon the Egyptians, but there were no flies on the children of Israel."

Smart Boy—"These ain't now, either."—Cleveland News.

Teacher—"Give me a sentence from a dead language."

Pupil—"What are you going to do?"—Boston Traveler.

Teacher—"Tony, form a sentence using 'disarrange'."

Tony—"When my father goes to light the stove, he says, 'Damma disarrange!'"—Washington Times.

Teacher—"Johnny, can you tell me what they raise in Mexico?"

Johnny—"I know what you want me to say, ma'am, but maw told me not to talk rough."—American Legion Weekly.
