Ruins Found In Far South Sea Islands

HONOLULU, T. H.—Ruins said to be the most impressive ever discovered, the famous ones of Central America not excepted, have recently been located in the Marquesas Islands, according to Ralph Linton, member of one of the expeditionary parties sent to the South Seas by the Bishop Museum of Honolulu.

In writing to the museum here of his discovery, Linton said that the ruins in question was that of a gigantic temple, decorated with sculptured heads and full figures in a manner unknown elsewhere in Polynesia, but practiced by the temple builders of Indo-China and Central America. The old temple is on the island of Miva-ou, in the Marquesas group, a French possession.

The figures with which the temple is adorned are from 30 to 40 feet high and are carved from great logs. Their age is approximated at 200 years, although it is believed they are copies of still older carvings.

The Bishop Museum has expeditions exploring in Hawaii, Tonga, the Austral Islands and the Marquesas, and their discoveries have been so important they will be kept in the field for another six months or a year, according to Dr. H. E. Gregory, director of the museum.

the county home nurse and demonstration agent who have charge of the semi-monthly clinic in this city. This latter will take place in the public library the second Saturday of each month, to which all mothers are invited to bring their babies for examinations and measurements, as well as to consult with the nurse on any question that is puzzling them regarding their babies.

John B. Mosier Died Yesterday

John B. Mosier died at his home on East Main street Sunday morning at 2 o'clock at the age of 65 years. The deceased had been a sufferer from paralysis for several years, but for the past two or three years his condition had been critical. Funeral services will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home, with interment in Mountain View cemetery. Mr. Mosier is survived by his wife and niece, Miss Ruth Osman, who made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Mosier.

Death Summons Two Last Night

Mrs. Anne Maude Gardner, aged 22 years, died at her home, 237 B street, at 1:25 o'clock this morning, aged 23 years. Mrs. Gardner had come to Ashland from Salem only about a month ago, and was residing here with her mother and sister. The body will be taken tonight to Salem for interment.

Mrs. Bristow, an aged lady, died last night at a local hospital after a long illness. The deceased is the mother of Mrs. Wm. T. Bookwick, who resides out of town. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Former Ashland Man Dies in Iowa

Mrs. Mary Wilahido is in receipt of a recent copy of the Marengo, Iowa, Republican, containing the news of the death of Lew Marble, a former Ashland resident, who died in that city March 29. Mr. Marble and his wife are well remembered by many Ashland people during the residence in this city, where the former was a prominent photographer. After leaving Ashland Mr. and Mrs. Marble went east, and finally settled in Marengo, Iowa, where he spent his declining years among the scenes of his boyhood. His death was due to erysipelas, and he is survived by his wife and one brother, Charles H. Marble of Brooklyn, Iowa.

Denies Guilt in J'ville Bank Case

C. H. Owen, indicted on a charge of wilfully aiding and abetting in the Jacksonville bank fraud, arrived in Medford Saturday in company with Sheriff Terrill of Jackson county, who had gone to Salt Lake City to fetch him to this county. Owen was taken to a Medford hotel and bonds were fixed at $5,000 by Judge Calkins.

Owen claims to be highly indignant over his arrest, and denies that his relations with the Bank of Jacksonville were anything but perfectly legitimate. He claims his relation with the Jacksonville bank were those of any customer and all in the way of regular financial business. Owen's case will be on docket for the May term of court. He is represented by Attorney Evan Reames.

Johnson Given 10-Year Sentence

W. H. Johnson, former president and cashier of the Bank of Jacksonville, was sentenced Saturday to an indeterminate term of ten years in the state prison at Salem, and left for that institution Saturday night in custody of Deputy Sheriff J. J. McMahon. Johnson was sentenced on one of the four indictments to which he pleaded guilty, the rest being held in abeyance.

Under the state law Johnson can apply for a parole when he has served a third of his sentence. With allowance for good time, Johnson, if he should serve his full sentence, would remain in prison seven years and nine months. He is now 41 years old.

Aged Resident Called by Death

Charles Ramsey died this morning at an early hour at his home, 338 Seaside Drive, at an advanced age. The deceased had been ill for some time, and funeral arrangements have not yet been made, owing to delay in reaching absent relatives, but will be announced later.

Baby Clinic Well Attended Saturday

Miss Florence Pool, county home demonstration agent, was over Saturday and conducted the baby clinic in the library. Ten babies were examined and were found to be getting along nicely under the supervision of

SOCIETY

MONDAY'S NEWS

Birthday Dinner.
Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bechtel entertained at dinner Thursday evening in honor of the latter's birthday anniversary. In the evening music was enjoyed, after which the guests were served with ice cream and a portion of the huge marble birthday cake. Those present at this delightful affair were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bechtel and children, Iona and Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bechtel.

Celebrated Wedding Anniversary.
Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fansteel of Madison, Calif., arrived in Ashland Saturday by automobile and will spend several weeks here, guests at the home of Mrs. Fansteel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Patterson, on North Main street. Sunday was the second anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fansteel's wedding day, and the occasion was observed with a large dinner party at the Patterson home. About twenty participated in the event.

Picnicked on Table Rock.
A party of Ashland people drove down the valley yesterday and held a picnic on Table Rock. After sitting on the summit of the rock, a period was spent exploring that historic scene and admiring the wonderful view witnessed from the elevation. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deardorff and daughter, Tom Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hicks and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Middleton. The storm of the later afternoon overtook them while coming down from the rock, but they gained their automobiles at the valley without much inconvenience.

College Club.
The Woman's College Club of the Rogue River Valley will meet in Medford tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon. Dr. Eva M. Carlow of 26 South Laurel will be hostess. A number of Ashland members will probably be in attendance.

Cinderella Club Postponed.
The meeting of the Cinderella Card Club has been postponed from Monday evening, April 11, to Monday evening, April 18, when the members will meet in the parish house at the usual hour.

Tenacup Club.
The Tenacup Club met for their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Billings. About fifty members and several guests were present. After the business session a Bible contest was held. The hostesses served doughnuts and coffee. This is a social club of the Methodist church, and strangers are most cordially welcome at the meetings, which are held once a month. The assisting hostesses yesterday were: Mrs. J. R. McCracken, Mrs. Carl Pratt, Mrs. Homer Hillings, Mrs. James Lenox and Mrs. Tolman.

Entertained Choir.
After the close of choir practice last Saturday night V. O. N. Smith loaded the members of the Baptist church choir into his big car and drove them to his home on North Main street, where a delightful surprise awaited them in the shape of an evening's entertainment. The company was treated to some splendid music on the victrola, after which Mr. and Mrs. Smith served ice cream and angel's food cake. Beside the host and hostess, the company consisted of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Peters, Jr., Misses Carbel Moorehouse, Helen Walker, Mabel Bay, and Messrs. Gilmore and Gear.

Screen Gossip.
Elsie Ferguson, who is making her latest picture now in the easterns Paramount studio, has always wanted John S. Robertson, who directed "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and "Sentimental Tommy," as director. Her wish is realized in Rita Welman's Saturday Evening Post story, "Footlights," in which Mr. Robertson is now directing her.

Miss Marjorie Daw, who played the leading feminine role of "Lovers in George Fitzsimmons' production of "Experiences" for Paramount pictures, has returned to California after coming to New York especially to play the part.

George Melford's next production will be an adaptation of E. Phillips Oppenheim's "The Great Impersonation," in which James Kirkwood and Ann Forrest have the leading roles.

Gloria Swanson has finished her first starring picture for Paramount, "The Great Moment," which is also Elinor Glyn's first original story for the screen. Sam Wood directed, with Milton Sills in the leading male role.

"The Lifted Veil," an original story for the screen by Henry Arthur Jones is the new picture Ethel Clayton is making under the direction of William D. Taylor.

Wallace Reid, back in Hollywood from a triumphal tour to British Columbia, has begun work on "Tall Timber," Dr. James A. B. Scherer's first original screen story, under the direction of Frank Ursan.

William DeMille has finished cutting and titling "The Lost Romance" from Edward Knoblock's original story, with Conrad Nagel, Lola Wilton, Jack Holt and Fontaine LaRoe in the leading roles. He is now at work on a Rita Welman story.

Betty Compton, who scored such a sensational success in "The Miracle Man," is now at work at the Lasky studio on her first picture, "At the End of the World," with Penryn some one suggested she put down the wood and get some chairs. This broke the ice, and Bonnie was asking the how, when and who of them all. The party was in the nature of her first wedding anniversary, which occurred March 18, but was delayed on account of her absence in California. With the library table heaped high with gifts, Mrs. R. C. Porter, in a speech of congratulation on behalf of the ladies, invited Bonnie to open her packages, and on so doing she found table cloths, dollies, pillow cases, towels, aprons, handkerchiefs and a lovely bedspread. After the presents were all inspected and duly admired, a committee, consisting of Mrs. L. A. Moss, Mrs. E. D. Jennings, Mrs. L. E. Jennings, Mrs. E. C. Payne and Mrs. S. A. Peters, Jr., served refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cake and grape juice. The afternoon was spent by the ladies with their fancy work, and all had an immense amount of fun over the event. Beside the above-named ladies, there were present Mesdames H. O. Butterfield, J. P. Sayles, Emma Pross, N. S. Ballenger, Geo. Hobison, Phoebe Kaegi, Maude Small, E. Cooyling, Goldie Jordan, Bessie Smith, Ruth Quinsinger, Henry R. Pace, D. Y. Davis, Ella Harrell, H. P. Holmes and Vera Hill.

The meeting of the Pinnerella Card Club has been postponed from Monday evening, April 11, to Monday evening, April 18, when the members will meet in the parish house at the usual hour.

Early sowing of broccoli seed seems to be superior to later sowing as far as producing a good plant or concerned. Growers who have seeded the latter part of April, as compared with those who have seeded in May, have ordinarily been better satisfied with plants started in late April. For those growers not having irrigation it is necessary to plant seed when there is ample moisture in the soil, and in late years May has been quite dry. These plants are set out in late June.—O. A. C. Extension.

After prayed meeting in the Baptist church last evening the quarterly conference, consisting of the business of the church, was held, at which the reports of the officers were given. These revealed a most satisfactory state of affairs, and the church is found to be growing steadily. Several spoke of Decision Sunday, which was observed last Sunday, during which a number of the young Sunday school members decided to unite with the church. After the business meeting adjourned, a social hour followed. Miss Bay sang a delightful selection, and T. J. Gow, an old-time magician, entertained the company with an hour of sleight-of-hand tricks, which he performed as readily as in his professional days, despite his 82 years. Mrs. H. A. Spencer, assisted by Mrs. Alfa Sheldon, Miss Ethel Inman and Mrs. H. P. Holmes, served refreshments, consisting of coffee, cake and sandwiches, after which a quartet, Messrs. S. A. Peters, Sr., Gilmore, S. A. Peters, Jr., and W. T. Cochran sang to the accompaniment. About 40 were in attendance, and all enjoyed the meeting to the fullest. The Baptists are making a specialty of these quarterly conferences and social events, which are a means to interest more people in the weekly prayer meeting.

Observed Wedding Anniversary.
Twenty-three ladies crept very silently up the hill toward Mrs. Alfred Moss' residence on Holly street at about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with their arms laden with mysterious packages. It was a surprise, as it was first planned, because on their arrival Bonnie was downstairs after wood, and her face certainly registered surprise as she "saw" the leaders of her house with her arms full of wood. After a hushed moment

Stanley directing. Miss Compton recently signed a five-year contract to star in Paramount Pictures.

TIPS TO SPRING GARDENERS

How to Handle Paris Green in Battle Against the Bug.
The first veteran to be enlisted in Paris Green, who has fought and won many a battle against plant pests, Mr. Green can certainly get action if handled in the right way and for the right things, says the American Forestry Association.

You are wasting time with Paris Green on insects that suck the juices from plants and foliage, such as lice, green, black and white aphids or fly, mealy bug, red spider and scale, by thrusting their proboscis into the leaf or stem, for they are not affected by stomach poisons. They must be destroyed by contact insecticides. Those in powder form kill by closing the breathing pores, the association points out. The best contact insecticide in powder form are hellebore, slug shot and tobacco dust. The best in fluid form are aphine, black leaf 40, fish (whale) oil soap, nicotine (tobacco extract), kerosene miscible oil and lemon oil.

Insects that eat plants, foliage, vegetables, fruit, flowers, etc., whether bugs, beetles, worms, caterpillars or slugs, are more quickly and effectively destroyed with a poisonous stomachic insecticide, such as arsenate of lead, Paris Green or hellebore. These, if applied according to directions, are so diluted as to be harmless to vegetation and to animal life. Less poisonous stomachic and contact insecticides are kerosene emulsion, slug shot, etc.

Paris Green is still a satisfactory insecticide, if its foliage-burning qualities are overcome with the addition of a small amount of lime. Arsenate of lead is more satisfactory material, which seems to meet most of the requirements for an arsenical poison that will not injure foliage, has good adhesive qualities, and if in the powdered form will not deteriorate by drying or freezing. The powdered arsenate of lead is therefore recommended over the paste form, which consists of 50 per cent of water and adds to the cost of transportation.

SHeldon SPEAKER AT FORUM LUNCH

The leading speaker at the forum luncheon by the Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday noon will be Hon. Benj. C. Sheldon, who has recently returned from Salem where he represented Jackson county at the state legislature. Mr. Sheldon will talk on recent educational legislation, which is a topic on which he is well versed, and which is of great interest to Ashland at the present time. Mrs. C. W. Hoyhurst, president of the Oregon State Parent-Teachers Association, will also be in Ashland on that date, and will address the forum luncheon also.

YOUNG EX-SERVICE MAN ANSWERS CALL

Ashland residents were shocked yesterday when the news went forth that John Hoston Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones, was dead. While it was known that he had been critically ill since last Friday, hopes were entertained that, in spite of the fears of the attending physician, he would recover, and the word that this young life was ended was received with profound sorrow by his many friends.

"Jack" Jones, as he was familiarly known by his friends and comrades, was taken seriously ill Friday afternoon with what was pronounced to be ptomaine poisoning, and had never regained consciousness since he was stricken. He had very recently returned home from a hospital where he had undergone an operation, and was making his home with his sister, Mrs. Walter Hash. Up to his last sickness, however, he had been feeling quite well, and hopes had been entertained that he would regain his health, which had been impaired in his service in the army overseas.

The deceased was born in Ashland 25 years ago, and was reared in this city, where he attended high school, graduating with the class of 1917. During his high school life he was a noted football player and also took great interest in all other student activities.

In April, 1917, when the boys of America were called to arms, Jack joined the old First Company, O. C. A., and went with it to Fort Stevens, where he remained with that company until January, 1918, at which time the latter was disbanded, and he was transferred into the Eighteenth company, C. A. C., where he was later made a corporal.

Corporal Jones was again transferred to Battery F, 69th Artillery, C. A. C., in which organization he left for overseas in July, 1918, by way of England, arriving in France September 5, where he remained in training until November 11, 1918. After the armistice he sailed for home February 2, 1919, and was discharged at Camp Lewis March 19, 1919, with the rank of corporal.

On returning to Ashland the young soldier made a valiant effort to take up his life again as he had laid it down before entering his country's service. During the past two years he spent one year in the Oregon Agricultural College, and was employed with the Southern Pacific company in the local baggage room and also in the forestry service. Army life, however, had undermined what had formerly been a strong constitution in a perfect physique, and during the past year Jack had undergone three serious operations, which had left him in a weakened condition to be a prey to the ravages of disease.

"Jack Jones was the finest fellow that ever lived," is the verdict of his comrades in war and former schoolmates. Great-hearted, generous to a fault, steadfast in his friendships, happy and blessed with the faculty of making and keeping friends, there is more genuine sorrow expressed over the death of this fine young man than has been felt over the loss of many others. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jones of Oakland, and two sisters, Mrs. Walter Hash of Ashland and Miss Agnes Jones of Oakland.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow, Thursday, afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Dodge undertaking parlors. These services will be attended by the ex-service men and members of the American Legion and will be semi-military. Taps will be sounded over the grave, and a firing squad from the National Guard will officiate.

When Grandmother Was a Girl

HOOP skirts were worn by those who first asked the druggist for, and insisted on having, the genuine Golden Medical Discovery put up by Dr. Pierce over 50 years ago. Dress has changed very much since then! But Dr. Pierce's medicines contain the same dependable ingredients. They are standard today just as they were fifty years ago and never contained alcohol.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the stomach and blood cannot be surpassed by any tonic and alterative today.

When you feel "all out of sorts"—your vitality at a low ebb—the blood becomes surcharged with poison! The best tonic is called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Dr. Pierce manufactured this "Discovery" from roots and barks without alcohol—a corrective remedy, the ingredients of which nature put in the fields and forests for keeping us healthy. It puts vim, vigor, vitality into the blood.

Try it. All druggists. Liquid or tablets.
