

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

MONDAY'S NEWS

Visiting at Portland—Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Bergner are visiting friends in Portland.

Patriotic Writer—The Tidings has an interesting article in today's paper by Mrs. Home-wood, which shows unusual zeal of patriotism.

Her line of ancestors came from the fighting stock of the revolution and dates back to the landing of the French Hugonots. Her people were with the north during the civil war, although Alexander Stevens was closely related to her mother's family.

Mrs. Home-wood's father was a veteran of the civil war, having served with the Thirty-sixth Iowa Infantry. Her son was with the Fourth Engineers in France, and spent eight months in Germany.

Motor to Rogue River—Misses Nina and Hazel Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Emery, daughters Ruth and Maxine, Mrs. George Watson, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lane com-posed a party who motored to Rogue Elk, where they spent Sunday.

Road Work Interest High—G. A. Gardner, county judge of Jackson county, accompanied by M. Fisher, secretary of the state tax commission, arrived here this after- noon from Ashland to transact busi- ness with local people. Judge Gar- dner, stated that he and the two Jack- son county commissioners, James Owens of Eagle Point, and Victor Bursell of Central Point, were much interested in the completion of the connecting links of the Green Springs Mountain road between Ashland and Klamath Falls, which was started three seasons ago. By fall 17 1/2 miles will be finished and the con- tracts let for the macadamizing of 7 1/2 miles of roads west from Keene creek, which will make it an all ma- cadamized road from the Pacific highway. The section between Keene creek and Pinehurst, six miles in length, will be open for travel in two weeks.—Medford Mail Tribune.

Aviator Forced to Land—A private airplane under the guid- ance of Pilot E. Tanner, of San Francisco, made a forced landing yester- day evening on the old Christy farm, west of the city. Mr. Tanner stated that he was running short of fuel and that he mistook Grants Pass for Ash- land, where he was headed. He was flying from the south, coming yester- day from Weed and evidently flew over the Jackson county town. He will return to Grants Pass in a few weeks to make commercial flights. He left Saturday morning for Ash- land. No attempt was made to land on the local aviation field because of the ditch running through the middle of it.—Grants Pass Courier.

Big Irrigation Project—On Tuesday July 12, an election was held in Siskiyou county to deter- mine whether the "Klamath-Shasta Valley Irrigation District" should be established. The election resulted in a vote of 15 to 1 for the project. This is one of the biggest projects on the coast. It is estimated that it will cost ten million dollars.

Return from Business Trip—William Wehrli and family have returned to their home here after a two months business trip to Elgin and points in Eastern Oregon.

Mr. Citizen of Ashland—Do you feel any interest in the maintenance of one of Ashland's in- stitutions which has existed for nearly thirty years and which has given Ashland much prestige and publicly by bringing here the lead- ing artists, orators and public men of our country. The attendance this season has not sufficed to take care of the financial obligation, but there is yet time for a final rally in this respect, and a large attendance on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings will assist materially. Will you help? Directors Chautauqua Association.

SATURDAY'S NEWS Former Medford Woman Dies—The body of Mrs. Clara Colvig Reames, a former Medford woman who died at Seattle, Wash., yester- day from asphyxiation, will be shipped to Medford for burial. Mrs. Reames is well known in Jackson county, hav- ing lived in Medford for a number of years. She was the daughter of Judge William N. Colvig. Mrs. Reames was apparently overcome by escaping gas while making toast. An investigation is expected to be con- ducted to determine whether or not Mrs. Reames committed suicide.

Big Apple Shipments—The Southern Pacific company an- ticipates the valley will ship in ex- cess of 1000 cars of apples from Gold Hill to Talent, Josephine coun- ty will add more than 100 cars to this total. Fire which broke out on the Bing- ham ranch, two miles north of Ash- land at 7 o'clock yesterday evening, swept 200 acres of land clear of grass and brush, menaced the Bing- ham barn and several acres of grain before it was stopped at the Louis Werth ranch by volunteer fire fight- ers after burning three miles of fence. It is estimated that about 200 men engaged in fighting the fire. The cause of the brush fire is not known. A chemical fire engine was called to the fire from Medford. The fire was stopped before any dam- age had been done.

CORNER STONE OF NEW MOVIE STUDIO AT CRATER LAKE IS LAID TUESDAY

CRATER LAKE, July 14.—The corner stone of the new Kiser stu- dio at Victor Rock, on the rim of Crater Lake, was laid Tuesday by Will Steele, the "father of Crater Lake." There was a crowd of 100 people gathered about as F. P. Sel- ter, the contractor, and h's men, swung the lava block into place and Fred H. Kiser himself took a motion picture of the ceremony. The stu- dio will be a story and a half build-facing the lake, built of stone and timber, with a veranda across the front and a large plate glass window framing a vista of the lake between two fir trees.

It will be the headquarters for Mr. Kiser's photographic expeditions in this part of Oregon, as well as the studio-saleroom for his well known hand colored pictures of Crater Lake and the Northwest, for post cards and photographic supplies, and for such literature as may be available about our scenic beauties and en- couraging their preservation.
