AMERICAN LEGION

member of Battery C for many months, was transferred to the regimental band. He sure can play the fiddle.

Next Tuesday night will be our regular monthly meeting, and we expect to have a regular time. If plans mature properly there will be a big bunch for initiation.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS TO ORGANIZE

A unit post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be organized in Ashland during next week. J. Edward Thornton has received the necessary application blanks for a charter and has started the ball rolling. All veterans of the Spanish-American war and of the world war who had service outside the continental limits of the United States are eligible to membership to this new organization.

The American Legion is the largest veterans' organization in the United States, but the Veterans of Foreign Wars goes further afield and includes all the veterans who served in the Spanish-American war, thereby forming two of the greatest co-operating bodies of organized veterans in the world today.

The mutual purposes of these two great organizations is fraternity among comrades, to uphold and defend the constitution of these United States, and to promote good citizenship in every direction.

A post was formed in Medford last Friday evening, and it is our hope and intention to form a similar post here before the end of the week.

If the ex-service men who had foreign service and who are interested in a distinctly foreign service men's organization will communicate with J. Edward Thornton at the Elks club or Don Spencer at the post office, arrangements will be made for the first meeting.

Captain W. R. Gay of Portland is the Oregon department commander, and Colonel John L. May of Portland (or Ashland), is a member of the organization committee. Both Colonel May and Captain Gay expect to make us a visit this fall. They both informed Adjutant Spencer at the state convention of the American Legion that they intended to have a big working organization here in Ashland, but we intend to beat them to it, and have it done before they get here.

Let's go, fellows—all you overseas ginks.

THE LEGION LYCEUM COURSE

The first papers concerning the makeup of the lyceum course program which will be held in Ashland under the auspices of Ashland post of the American Legion, have arrived, and the program bids fair to be even better than we had at first hoped or expected.

The first appearance in Ashland will be during the month of October and will be followed thereafter one each month until the five numbers have been shown.

The following entertainments will be seen here:

The Lillian Ringsdorf Concert company, all specialists.

Ernest J. Powell, lecturer and humorist.

Ethel and Clayton Staples, artists in crayon and sand, and in soap.

The DeMillo Concert company, real artists.

The LaSalle Quartette, all ex-service men and dandy entertainers.

The era of signed contracts and "sure things" is upon us. Recently a Washington university professor tied the matrimonial knot aided and abetted by a written contract. Could it be said that two lives were literally signed away.

CIVIC CLUB ASKS

CITY DADS FOR A

BUILDING SITE

A ninety-nine year lease of city property directly south of the property being used by G. S. Butler in the erection of a memorial building for the Southern Oregon Pioneer association, and having a frontage of 125 feet on Granite street, with an approximate depth of sixty feet was asked of the city council last night at a meeting of that body by the Civic Improvement club. The club plans to use the ground as a site for the erection of a $10,000 club building, which would be operated as a community house with equipment and furnishings for a nursery to be used as a rest room by mothers. The council took the matter under advisement with a promise for a decision at a special meeting of the council Tuesday of next week.

Favored Proposition

During the council meeting, the city fathers seemed to look upon the proposition favorably, calling to mind the great amount of good accomplished by the Civic Improvement club during the past few years, especially commending the club's war-time work. At the close of the meeting at the city hall the council went in a body to the proposed site across from Lithia Park for the purpose of assuring themselves that room existed for such a building as planned by the club. The building considered, tentative plans having been drawn by A. L. Lamb, is of cement stucco construction and would be built in the shape of a letter "H."

About three months ago the council gave permission to the Civic Improvement club for the use of property at the same address to an extent of sixty foot frontage. It was indicated last night that, regardless of any decision made by the council regarding the larger piece of ground, that they were willing to stand by their past concession.

Fund Partially Raised

Miss Grace Chamberlain, president of the Civic Improvement club, who addressed the council, stated that $1000 had already been raised, and that a definite decision from the city was necessary before going on with a publicity campaign for the raising of the complete $10,000 fund. If the requested site was not forthcoming from the city, she said, property would be purchased by the club for their purpose. It is planned, Miss Chamberlain said, to maintain the building by renting the hall and club rooms in a manner similar to that of the Armory, which is about the same size as the projected structure. The building is to be ninety-nine by forty-five feet. It is figured that the annual maintenance cost would approximate five to ten per cent of the original cost.

MAY IMPROVE PARK AUTO CAMP FOR NEXT YEAR

heard of Ashland's camp ground while at Crater Lake.

After making a special trip to this city, they decided to stay a few days. They also were shade enthusiasts. After visiting various southern cities and touring the northwest, inclusive of British Columbia. Mr. De Neul states, "It's a rare treat to be here. All along the road we heard of this camp. It was praised higher than a kite, but we find that it certainly measures up to its reputation among the tourists we met. In fact, we are a bit inclined to add to the story as we go. We will spend the next month touring our way south to Long Beach. As we go, the story of Ashland's auto camp goes with us."

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hart are recent arrivals from Helena, Mont., at the camp grounds. "We like the greenness of Oregon and Ashland," says Mrs. Hart. "In the east things are burnt up a bit and not half so pleasant traveling as it is in Oregon. If all camps were as fine as this one, traveling would be just one continual round of pleasure."

The state highway commission reports that all awarded road contracts will be completed by fall. Oregon is justified in spending a great amount of wealth on her highways that she may supplement to the best of man's ability the great scenic advantages that are yearly attracting more tourists. The improvement and building of roads as a lure for tourist travel means much to Ashland, holding a strategic position as the southern gateway to Oregon. What goes up must come down and Ashland catches the tourist travel both ways. The "full up" condition of the auto camp grounds and tourist accommodations this summer forecasts a bright future. Ashland must always have room for one more. Preparedness is a good motto.

Judging from police reports feminine hoboos are rapidly forming an auxiliary to the Knights of the Road. After being initiated into the sacred rites of the Order of Mulligan Stew, a new school of culinary artists should come from the ranks of the wanderlust victims. If women are the weaker sex this is an age of strong men.

A Portland osteopath has gone to great trouble and marshalled forth much logic to show that the "tobacco heart" is non-existent, the term being a misnomer. In reference to smoke inhalation he mentions smoked products such as are sold at the neighborhood grocery store by way of illustrating the inner man after continued puffing. Under the given circumstances, how long will it take a "ham actor" to become smoked?

History records the shattered dream of Ponce de Leon's search for the Fountain of Youth. He was ahead of his time. Lithia Springs was still in the future.

Fate displays erratic humor. While the Eskimos have claim to the whole north pole as their back yard, the "little brown men" of the Pacific need hobnailed boots to maintain a footing on their island.

Figures don't lie. Quite true—but there are so many figures concerning the government's potential expenditures. Congress wants somebody to get the axe, but isn't quite sure who can swing it.
