HALL AND THE RECOUNT

From authoritative sources, the Voter learns definitely that no announcement concerning a recount demand will be made by Senator Charles Hall until after the official canvas of the primary election returns has been made.

REASON GIVEN FOR JAIL BREAK IN BUTTE COUNTY

OROVILLE, Calif., June 17.—One of the five escaped prisoners from the Butte county jail, captured late yesterday and behind the bars again today, gave information to Sheriff J. B. Webber that the jail-break, engineered from the outside, was designed primarily to remove from custody, Daniel Cannon, chief prosecution witness against George Alvia, indicted recently for the murder of Charles Conroy, wealthy Chico cattleman, in Dead Horse canyon on May first.

SHRINERS MEET MANY FRIENDS AT DEPOT HERE

Quite a number of local people met friends among the Shriners who passed through the city last week. Among those who met old friends were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hoath of Terrace street, who saw Mesdames Root and Stearing, both of Cleveland. Mr. Root and Mr. Stearing were on the train, but the Heaths failed to find them, so took the ladies for a drive around the city and over the high drive during the hour they spent in the city.

THOROUGHbred PIGS SOLD TO HORNbrook STOCKMAN

W. L. Moore, of the Bellevue district, who combines orcharding with the raising of thoroughbred Poland-China pigs, has sold a number of his fancy hogs to Marshall Horn, a well known stockman, of Hornbrook, Calif. Mr. Horn already had a large number of fine hogs, but being always on the alert to better his stock, he decided to buy some of the best hogs he could find, and located them in Ashland.

GOLD HILL IS BECOMING POPULAR WITH TOURISTS

Motoring days are here and the paved road in both directions from Gold Hill are as thick with cars as robins in the trees. The Pacific highway in Oregon is now in splendid condition. Summer paving operations are hindering the fullest enjoyment of motor travel, but this early in the season the detours are not nearly so bad as later, and thousands are taking advantage of this fact to reach their destinations in the north, south or east before the roads are cut up where the travel is shunted off the main highway. With few exceptions the route between here and Portland is a boulevard.

SAWMILL NEAR GOLD HILL CHANGES HANDS

The Herman Brothers sawmill at the forks of Sardine creek, built and put into operation about the middle of March, has changed hands. After the fatal accident resulting in the death of Charlie Herman's little girl by burning, the bereaved parents could not stay at the scene of the fatality, and the mill was offered for sale to R. W. Dusenberry, who took full possession Thursday. The mill is in full operation under the management of Mr. Dusenberry, who is employing three men in the mill. The lumber cut is estimated at present at about 3000 feet per day. The timber is all right at the mill, and the overhead expense is very low. Rough lumber only is cut. The market is strong and the future of the mill looks very good.—Gold Hill News.

MISS MARTHA LUTTRELL WEDS ARCHIE L. NORTON

YREKA, June 16.—In the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting couple Miss Martha Elizabeth Luttrell became the wife of Archie Lewis Norton, Wednesday, June 14, at 11 a. m. The ceremony took place at the residence of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Luttrell, at Fort Jones, Rev. Ray W. Smith of the Methodist church officiating.

DEATH OF PIONEER WITH LARGEST HEAD IN CALIF.

REDDING, Calif., June 17.—Arthur Hale Sprague, 74, died in Still-old town of Shasta in 1852, and was a son of the late Chief Justice Royal T. Sprague. The decedent was noted as having the largest head of any man in California. He wore an eight and one-half inch hat when he could get it. Of late years his head had been growing larger abnormally. The last few years he was totally deaf. Sprague lived in the old town of Shasta nearly all his life. A daughter and two sons are left.

SCANDINAVIANS GATHER FOR THEIR NATIONAL PICNIC

The Scandinavians living in and around Ashland, and in fact, those throughout southern Oregon, are going to hold a big gathering next Sunday, and it is confidently expected there will be the largest number of descendants of the Norsemen present that has ever been brought together in this state. It will be in the nature of an all-day picnic and will be held at the mouth of Foots creek near Elliot's service station on the Pacific highway between Gold Hill and Rogue River.

Legend of Pocatello

About 50 feet beyond the kitchenette in the auto camp ground is a seat built from stones in the form of a grave. Dick Posey has woven the following legend about this spot, and, some day, when Ashland has discovered the advertising value of such legends and monuments, it will be fitted with a headstone and a cross, with a small pouch receptacle on it to hold a little pamphlet of this legend. People would carry it away with them as an interesting memento of the Ashland auto camp, and the word of mouth advertising thus engendered would amount to thousands of dollars in value to Ashland.

POCATELLO (By Dick Posey)

Would you hear a tale that would touch your heart With its sweet simplicity? Would you sweep the chords of a human soul And list to its melody? 'Tis only a legend, it might be true, And perchance it is only a dream, But truth that is woven from fancy's skein Is the fairest truth, 'twould seem.

On a summer day in the misty past, On a day like this, my friend, At the torrent's side in this canyon deep Where the shadows and sunlight blend, The friendly tribes of a savage horde Had gathered in friendly throng, To bask in the shade of this forest deep And list to the torrent's song.

They loved this spot as we do today, For its kindly and sweet repose, Where the air seems touched with the tang of wine And the gentle zephyr blows; Where medical waters springing up From fountains we know not where, Gave faithful promise of lengthened years And vigor those years to bear.

The warriors talked in muffled tones And they had strange things to tell, How an alien folk had entered their land, Their own loved land to dwell. These people had faces pale as milk And were mighty and strong in war, And their weapons flashed and thundered And slew the game from afar.

And soon the battle was raging Where rests our Ashland fair, And the maiden stood on the hill top A constant sentinel there; And off the vicious bullets Came hissing around her form, But she stood like cased marble In the fury of a storm. She watched the tide of battle In its fitful ebb and flow, And signalled her faithful warriors

Where lurged the hidden foe; And the hearts of white and savage Grew cruel with bitter hate, While the shuttle moved relentless In the growing web of fate.

And ever the fight grew fiercer, And ever their hate more strong, But the maiden stood undaunted Cheering her braves along; Then her lover sank down dying, Waving a last goodbye. She pressed a hand to her breaking heart, But her courage did not die.

And just as the sun was sinking To its billowy couch of rest, A shot from the hated paleface Sank deep in the maiden's breast; She cried as her slight form yielded To the bullet's cruel kiss, 'Tis sweet to die for my father's tribe And a beautiful land like this.'

They buried her here in this winsome spot At the rushing torrent's side, And they heaped great stones on her tender breast, Her beautiful form to hide. We have fashioned those stones in this rustic seat, By the side of this rushing stream. (This is doubt but a legend; it might be true; Perchance it is only a dream.)

HUGHES GETS HONORARY UNIVERSITY DEGREE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 19.—The honorary degree of doctor of laws was bestowed upon Secretary of State Hughes at the University of Michigan commencement today. Secretary Hughes, in delivering the commencement address, declared that international negotiations cannot be successfully conducted in the face of a fire of criticism from a "clamorous public." He asserted that the old European diplomacy of intrigue was discredited by the world war. He insisted, however, that a certain amount of secrecy is necessary even in America's "open diplomacy." Premature developments in the press or in public forums, he said, may prevent the accomplishments of the most enlightened aims, and gives opportunity for the insidious efforts of selfish interests, as well as favoring opposition abroad.

SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS WEDNESDAY JUNE 21 AT 8 A.M.

The practice school for the students attending the Ashland summer normal school will open Wednesday morning of this week at 8 o'clock in the morning and will continue during the forenoon to 11:45, but there will be no afternoon sessions. It would seem there has been considerable misunderstanding in regard to the opening of the practice school and Mr. Briscoe asked that the statement be made definitely at this time, in order that all students who wish to attend, may come prepared to go to work Wednesday. The normal school started out in fine shape this morning, there being a total of 70 registered to begin the course.

TEACHERS TAKING STATE EXAMINATIONS THIS WEEK

Forty-three Jackson county teachers and prospective teachers are writing the state examinations for teachers at the court house at Jacksonville this week. Out of the 43, all but four are women. Eleven of the number are from Medford, five from Central Point, three each from Applegate and Gold Hill, and eight from Ashland, while nine other schools furnished one or two each of the number. The eight from Ashland who are taking the examination are: Pauline Cliff, Cecile Moore, Mabel Moore, Bertha L. McKinney, Mrs. J. D. Perrine, Kathleen Silver, Elizabeth Wade and Maud York.

PIANO RECITAL GIVEN AT METHODIST CHURCH

A piano recital was given last evening at the Methodist church, by Miss Berna Haight and her piano pupils, and a large audience turned out to hear the fine program. This is Miss Haight's third annual recital, and each program has been better than the one the preceding year. There was a total of 16 pupils who took part in last evening's program and the selections rendered varied from simple melodies by the younger pupils to difficult classical scores. Every one present seemed to be delighted with the recital.

FIRE CHIEF ASKS THAT ALL DRY GRASS BE CUT

Fire Chief Robison, in speaking of the fire works in connection with the Fourth of July celebration, says that all dry and dead grass should be cut and destroyed before that date and thereby remove any chance of a fire being started by a spark from any kind of fire works. Many fires are started every Fourth by fire works landing in some unguarded spot, and with dry grass on every hand, a spark might become a blazing forest destroying thousands of dollars worth of timber and perhaps causing the death of many people. The dry grass should be cut and burned under the watchful eye of some responsible person who would be able to keep the blaze under control and possibly save his property from injury by fire through some other person's carelessness.

WEDNESDAY CLUB HAS DELIGHTFUL MEETING

The Wednesday club of the Presbyterian church held a delightful social meeting this week at the beautiful home of Mrs. J. L. Harner on upper Almond street. The church china was on display at the meeting, and a large number of plates were paid for by the ladies and presented to the church. The musical program, which is to be given June 26 was brought up for discussion among other business matters. The hostess was assisted in serving delicious refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, by Mesdames Maxey and Greer. The meeting marked the end of the season, and the club will not gather again until fall.

MODERN WOODMEN TO INITIATE LARGE CLASS

The Modern Woodmen of America have another class of 20 candidates to initiate at their regular meeting Monday night. A degree team will be organized and other matters of interest to the order will be discussed at this meeting. The district deputy also has another class of 40 candidates ready for initiation. This will take place in Medford on June 29, and members from all over the Rogue River valley will participate at this meeting.

PALMER-CHAMBERLAIN RANCH SCENE OF PICNIC

Mount Ashland chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, ended its year's work with an all-day meeting at the charming Palmer Chamberlain home. The guests began arriving at 11 o'clock, and spent the time before lunch in admiring the house and grounds. The beautifully appointed tables were placed on the long screened porch, and the members were grouped according to their birth states. The chapter officers were given a table of honor at the end of the porch, where they could overlook the valley to the south for many miles. At the close of the lunch, Miss Chamberlain, in behalf of the chapter, presented the retiring regent, Mrs. MacCracken, with a beautiful silver cakeplate.

A short business meeting was held in the afternoon. The regent appointed her committees for the next year's work and suggestions for the course of study to be followed were given. Our new regent, Mrs. Dodge, presented the chapter with a block and gavel of most interesting history. The gavel is of solid brass, a very heavy piece of workmanship, and the block a square of wood inset with a brass disc. The two pieces were made from the cannon of Admiral Montejos's flagship, the "Reina Christina," which was sunk by Admiral Dewey in Manila bay in 1898. Needless to say that the chapter appreciate the gift very highly.

The social hour following the business meeting was devoted to games and the singing of patriotic songs in keeping with the spirit of flag day, after which Miss Palmer grouped the guests on the lawn for several pictures. The chapter had as its guests, two visitors from other chapters, Mesdames Littlechild and Kelting; two prospective members, the Misses Poley, with their house guest, Miss Nielke, and Mary and Ellen Galley, who ably assisted the hostesses in serving and entertaining. With this most enjoyable meeting the work of the chapter ends until the September meeting.

BUDGET COMMITTEE MUCH ENCOURAGED BY RESPONSE

The budget committee canvassing this morning consisted of Chairman C. H. Pierce and L. F. Ferguson, the amount secured in the morning's canvass being $280. The following new subscribers were secured: W. H. Day, Provost Brothers, E. R. Isaac & Company, Kay & Morrison, W. H. Hodgkinson, Kruggel Brothers, White House Groceria, Miss Biede, and the Ashland Tidings. Mr. Pierce says the response from those solicited has in most instances been most gratifying, some being especially interested in the July 4th celebration, while others are more for publicity, normal school, and other activities of the chamber of commerce. The total is to date $1883. Many of the large subscriptions have not yet been canvassed and it is hoped that some who are interested and have not hitherto been subscribers will call up Mr. Pierce, Mr. Ferguson or Mr. Ninger of the committee.

WAGES RAISED VOLUNTARILY IN WEED MILLS

WEED, Calif., June 19.—The Weed Lumber company has posted bulletins around the plant announcing an increase of the wage scale of 2 1/2 and 5 cents an hour. With a few exceptions, all employees of the company share in the increase. This is the first increase granted by the company for some time, the revisions lately having been uniformly downward. When the company changed to a ten-hour basis lately, the daily wage was increased, but the hourly wage decreased. Former Ashland girl, Miss Isabelle Helman and E. T. Pedranti were married the early part of the week at Sacramento. Mrs. Pedranti is a former Ashland girl, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Helman and a sister of Mrs. Harold Prose of this city. Mrs. Pedranti has been a clerk in the post office at Petaluma, Calif., for a number of years, but resigned her position there recently. They will make their home at Petaluma, where Mr. Pedranti owns the Hill Plaza garage.

PICNIC PARTY IN HONOR OF CHICAGO VISITORS

A picnic party was given in the park last evening by a number of local people for the Misses Mae, Rose and Clara Kofran, of Chicago, who are here visiting with their sister, Mrs. Ed Coovling. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed and fun and mirth provoking acts stored away for years were brought to light, and together with the latest jokes of the season, caused the party to hold forth the gay session until nearly midnight. Those who participated in the picnic were: Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Galley, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coovling and daughter Adeline, Mr. Alfred Beck, the Misses Claudine Cox, Mae, Rose and Clara Kofran, and Olga and Fanny Jordan.

NO MAN'S LAND MADE SAFE BY PARK SUPT. DEAN

"No Man's Land" is again a safe place in Ashland. Park Superintendent Dean has taken hold of the situation with the idea of making Lithia park a place of beauty from every point of view, and is leaving no stone unturned to make the park more attractive as time goes on. The strip of land along the park on Granite street, familiarly known to the citizens of that section of the city as "No Man's Land," has been cleared of grass and weeds which have stood since early spring. The tract now presents a more dignified appearance, for which the residents of that neighborhood are truly grateful. The walks in the park have all been cleaned off and are now in fine condition. They will be kept clean of weeds, leaves and the like all during the summer. The grass and flowers are getting their share of attention and are both responding nicely, and with frequent irrigation should continue so. The grass along the creek has been cleaned out, and one may approach the water at any point in the park without fear of getting lost or of stepping into some unseen water hole. Various other improvements are also being made from time to time, all with the one purpose in mind, that of beautifying Lithia park to such an extent that it will be ever remembered by all who see it.

COME HERE FROM FOSSIL TO SPEND THE SUMMER

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reed, son and wife, with their little daughter, arrived in Ashland Thursday evening from Fossil, Oregon, and are guests at the H. H. Leavett home on Chestnut street. The younger Mrs. Reed, who is a teacher, and her sister will attend the normal school here this summer. Mr. Harry Reed will return to Fossil in the near future to attend to business while the other members of the family will remain here during the summer months.

MEDFORD ROSE SHOW HAS MANY BEAUTIFUL EXHIBITS

The Medford rose show has the most beautiful exhibit of roses ever collected together in that place, according to a number of people who attended the show yesterday. The judges on the exhibits were, Mrs. M. A. Alford, Mrs. Lincoln McCormack and Prof. F. C. Reimer, and the winners of the various prizes were announced at the noon hour yesterday. The ladies of the Greater Medford club and others interested in the work are responsible for complete success of the show and deserve a great deal of credit both for the success and for the hard work that was necessary to get everything in order.
