Medfordites Missing—

Today was Medford day, and, although not many of the upper valley folk were in evidence this forenoon, it is expected that there will be a full representation as they promised to reciprocate when Josephine turned out en masse for the Jackson county fair last week, says the Grants Pass Courier. There was a good attendance all morning, and the crowds are increasing daily.

Fire Threatens Gold Hill—

Fire, which started on the Galls creek side of the mountain crawled over the summit of Echo mountain and started down the slope towards this city, says the Gold Hill News. The wind was low and it was late in the afternoon, so little damage was done to the scenic background for the city. Had a strong wind whipped the fire along the face of the mountain, grave consequences might have resulted for Gold Hill. Ranger Pierce and a small crew of men went after the fire Wednesday night, and all but a blazing beacon or two that signaled to watchers through the night, the fire was put out.

Those knowing themselves indebted to me, will please settle their accounts at once, or arrange for their payment. I have gone out of business in Ashland and expect to assign for collection all outstanding accounts October 1. Dr. W. E. Buchanan. 16-5

MODEL BUNGALOW TO BE OPEN FOR INSPECTION

Another fine bungalow has just been completed and will soon be ready for occupancy. This building was constructed for Millard W. Grubb, and is one of the finest in the city, both from the point of beauty and from the point of convenience and service. The contract called for first class material and workmanship, and it certainly was filled in all respects; the material being supplied by the Carson-Fowler Lumber company and the workmanship being done by J. H. Thatcher and A. E. McFarland. The house is on the corner of Second and B street and the central location will make it a most desirable home.

This house was made possible by the Oregon state loan to ex-service men. Mr. Grubb elected to take the loan rather than the small cash bonus, and the result is more than gratifying both to himself and to the community in general, for a fine house is a most welcome addition to any city.

On account of the many inquiries to be shown through the house, Mr. Grubb will throw the place open to the public for inspection, although it is but partially furnished at this time. The house will be open from 1 to 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, September 24, and those desiring to give it the "once over," are cordially invited to come during those hours or at any time the building is open the following day.

FORMER ASHLAND BOY DOING GOOD BUSINESS

W. O. Wheeler, a former Ashland boy, who is now located in Portland, is operating what is said to be the largest wholesale doughnut house in the northwest.

Mr. Wheeler started in the business in Portland about two years ago, and contrary to the policy of the greater number of companies of this kind, he did not confine his activities to Portland alone, and the demand became so heavy from points in Washington that he started another plant in Seattle. These two plants supply many dealers within a radius of 100 miles of the two cities.

Mr. Wheeler is a relative of the Robinson families of Ashland and Talent.

GOLD NUGGETS ARE FOUND IN ROAD BY WORKMAN

ARMSTRONG, B. C., Sept. 25.—A road laborer, on new gravel, picked out several pretty pebbles. They later turned out to be gold nuggets. It is believed the gravel came from a municipally owned pit, and prospectors are busy seeking the deposit.

Annual Picnic, K. of P.—

The annual picnic of the Knights of Pythias will be held in Lithia park Sunday, one of the features of the day being the barbecue. Quite a large crowd is expected to attend, as there are approximately 1000 members of the organization in the Rogue River valley, which, with their families and visiting knights, should make a crowd of about 3000. Members from Grants Pass and Hornbrook have assured the committee that they will be present for the day. All knights and their families are invited.

Train Is Late—

Southern Pacific train No. 13, due at 10 o'clock this morning, did not arrive until 2:30 this afternoon, as the result of the burning of a bridge near Harrisburg, a few hours before the train reached there last night. The bridge was about 20 miles north of Eugene.

Visits Friends—

Mr. Goodnight, of Vancouver, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gould of Watsonville, Calif., were guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Detrick. Mr. Goodnight is a banker, and usually spends his time at all stops with the bankers, but decided this time that he would keep clear of the banks. He has now been out four days and has not seen the inside of a bank, but admits that the temptation may be too strong before ten days have elapsed, and he may now break his decision at any time.

Visits in City—

M. Patterson and family, of Spokane, Wash., arrived in the city late yesterday evening and are visiting with the C. I. J. Porter family.

Rev. Hammond Returns—

The Rev. P. K. Hammond has returned from attending the general convention of the Episcopal church at Portland, where he reports having had a very pleasant time. Next Sunday Trinity church resumes its usual services.

Special Train Advertises 1925 Fair in State

An active campaign to interest the voters of Oregon in support of the constitutional amendment to be voted upon November 7, permitting Portland to tax itself for the 1925 exposition is now under way. The latest feature is the sending from Portland to eastern Oregon of an elaborately equipped special train, known as the "Meteor" 1925 exposition special, and carrying 125 citizens of Portland, who are giving their time to advance the campaign. This train will make a trip covering 850 miles, going as far east as Baker and Joseph, and making a stop at the Pendleton Round-Up. At the various points on its itinerary, there will be mass meetings and various "doings" to arouse interest in the exposition and the measure that will grant Portland the right to tax itself to advance the interests of the entire state through creation of the exposition. In various cities entertainments for the visitors are planned on an extensive scale, and the undoubted result will be the greater development of a "get-together spirit" that can only result in good for the entire state. The special train will be out on its trip three days and four nights.

At later dates the "1925 exposition special" will visit other parts of the state.

10-YEAR OLD GIRL IS RECUPER OF ARMY MAN

NEWPORT, Or., Sept. 26.—Lieutenant S. Dahl, of Newport, owes his life to the bravery of Dorothy White, 10-year-old daughter of Adjutant General George A. White.

While General White and his family, accompanied by Lieutenant Dahl, were fishing on the Siletz river, Dorothy separated some distance down stream from the rest of the family, saw a man floating in the river. His head was under water and he was being carried along in the rapid current. She called frantically for assistance, but receiving no response, she plunged waist deep into the swift running stream. Reaching the drowning man, she succeeded, after a desperate struggle in dragging him far enough ashore to get his head out of the water, just as General White reached the scene.

GAME WARDEN GETS FOUR MEN AT KLAMATH FALLS

KLAMATH FALLS, Sept. 21.—Deputy Game Warden Marion Barnes and H. E. Meads have rounded up four alleged violators of the state game laws within the past few days, all of whom were charged with hunting without license. They were: Jim Stafford, E. H. Holcomb, Chas. Schumire, and T. E. Barry. All were fined $25 and costs in the justice court with the exception of Stafford, whose fine was suspended on his showing that he always carried a gun while herding sheep, and that on that occasion he had not been hunting.

BUSINESS SESSION IS HELD BY CITY COUNCIL TUESDAY

The city council met in regular session last evening and went through the regular routine. Irving Finley, who was appointed to fill out the term of Councilman Shinn, was present for his first session with other members of the council, and demonstrated by his actions that he was capable of the work that goes with the position.

Many gutters at cross streets are in bad order, and it was voted by the council to repair these at once.

E. V. Carter has taken the responsibility for paying the painting of the fountain at the Plaza, and stated that he would keep it in condition as long as he lives.

City Attorney William Briggs asked and received permission to have certain abstracts brought up to date in order to protect the city on certain property against which the city has liens, should the same become delinquent.

The electric light department reported that they are engaged in building the sub station at the corner of First and C streets.

The water in Ashland creek is running lower and lower and should the dry spell continue for two weeks the lawns would probably have to be cut off from water, according to the report of Superintendent Hosler. The Neil creek project was taken up and it was voted to have an engineer run the lines and see if it was feasible to bring the water from that creek into Ashland creek and to report the results as soon as possible.

SLIGHT AUTO ACCIDENT RESULT OF HEEDLESSNESS

An auto accident, in which the rear of Dr. Buchanan's car was slightly damaged, happened last evening in front of the Golden Rule store, when two ladies walked out from
