STREETS BEING MARKED FOR PARKING PURPOSES

The city council some time ago voted to change the parking ordinance of the city so as to require all cars to back to the curb...

However, due to a misunderstanding between the mayor and the painter, quite a number of spaces were marked for cars to back to the curb before the mayor was apprised of the fact that the marks were different from what he ordered.

When seen last evening, Mayor Lamkin said that owing to the ease with which the change was made, the painter would be instructed to paint the balance of the streets for parking purposes...

DEDICATION FOR CLUB BUILDING HELD SATURDAY

NEARLY 300 REPRESENTATIVE WOMEN OF SO. OREGON PRESENT

MAIN ADDRESSES MADE BY LEADERS IN STATE

Mrs. Ida B. Callahan and Mrs. Saldie Orr Dunbar Principal Speakers; Miss Chamberlain Presented with Token from Club Members.

Formal dedication of the Civic club building took place Saturday afternoon, when some 250 ladies and a few men gathered in the auditorium of the beautiful new club building to show their appreciation for the earnest endeavors of the ladies and the help given by others in the interest of the completion of the building.

Twenty ladies of Medford and five from Grants Pass showed their appreciation of the new structure by their presence and were high in their praise of the completeness of the club house.

The dedicatory prayer was offered by Rev. P. K. Hammond, president of the Ashland branch of the Red Cross. This was followed by a vocal solo, entitled "To A Hilltop," by Miss Roberta Ward, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Knapp.

Mrs. Ida B. Callahan, president of the State Federation of Clubs, delivered a short talk, praising the ladies of the community for their efforts and the generosity of the citizens of the community, who gave so freely and made the completion of the club house at this time possible.

In speaking of the activities of the state Federation, Mrs. Callahan took up the subject of scholarship loan funds, stating that there was more than $12,000 in the fund at the present time, the greater share of which is kept loaned out to girls who lack money to complete their education...

In closing her address in relation to the activities of the state federation, Mrs. Callahan said, "Our purpose is to make this county stronger, to make Oregon stronger, and to make this nation the strongest and best in the world."

A vocal solo by Mrs. J. C. Knapp, of Grants Pass, who is instructor in voice at the Ashland Conservatory of Music, was next on the program.

Mrs. Saldie Orr Dunbar, who has charge of the department of public welfare of the federated clubs, spoke for a short time along the subject of health education. In opening her talk, Mrs. Dunbar said, "I came here more for the real joy of being present at the dedication of this beautiful building than of saying anything myself."

"The building and furnishings are very elaborate and complete in every detail. Too much credit cannot be given Jesse Winburn for this splendid gift, which is one of many that he has bestowed upon the town which is proud to call him one of her citizens."

"The Women's Civic club broadcast is an invitation to the world to be present at the dedication Saturday, and invites you personally to enjoy the hospitality of the club house, and the city's scenic beauties, auto park and mineral springs."

Mrs. O. Winter was then called on for a brief history of the early days of the Civic club, and a general outline of what was accomplished by the early members.

Miss Chamberlain was presented a beautiful bouquet of roses and a platinum bar pin, by members of the

FIRST COPY HERE OF NEW OREGON BOOK

First copies of "Homespun," a book of poems by Grace E. Hall, Oregon newspaperwoman and poet, brought out by Dodd, Mead & Co., were received here today.

"Homespun" is entirely a native book, its author's writing experience having all been gained in this state. But because her poems have the unusual combination of clarity and mental depth, Grace E. Hall's book is turning the eyes of the literary east to Oregon in an unusual way.

Besides her mother, she leaves one brother and two sisters in Ashland, and another sister in Minnesota.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL REDEEM WHITE FOOTBALL TICKETS

Notice has been given by high school authorities that all adult tickets purchased for the Ashland-Medford football game, which was cancelled at the last minute by Medford, will be redeemed, if presented at Rose Bros. confectionery.

A large number of the purchasers have mailed their tickets to the high school, while others have torn them up, showing they are back of the school and willing to help out when it gets caught in a financial situation over which it has no control. It is thought that very few persons will take advantage of the generous offer of the athletic department of the high school, since nearly $300 was spent by them in bringing the officials for the game here from California, besides other expenses contingent on arrangements for the day.

Civic club in recognition of her untiring efforts toward obtaining the building.

The Civic club song was sung by Mrs. J. C. Knapp, assisted by some of her pupils in the conservatory, this being the first time that the song has been rendered in public.

A playlet entitled "The Winburn Way," was then put on to thank Jesse Winburn for his help in completing the new structure.

The playlet was written by Mrs. John Dill and was put on under the direction of Miss Isabella Wattenbarger, Miss Zippora Blumenfeld and Miss Leona Marsters. Those taking part were: Josephine Barber, representing the "Spirit of the Community Club House"; Elbert Greer, as the "Club Woman"; Dortha GeBauer, as "A Lecturer"; Mary Louise Gill as representative of the baby clinic; Jack Nims and Evelyn Miller, as tourists; Jemette Ballis, as the business girl; Gladys Hamaker, as a Red Cross worker; Oma GeBauer, as an elderly lady; Gale Hamaker, as a mother; Ellen Galey, as a W. C. T. U. member.

All of the characters came to the platform and offered a word of praise for the fine new building, after which four little girls, representing butterfies, came on the platform and danced about to show their appreciation. The butterfly girls were Jane Sugg, Yvonne Shepherd and Miriam and Portia Conover. At the completion of the dance by the little folks, each one taking part in the play presented Mr. Winburn with a bouquet of carnations.

Mr. Winburn responded when called on for a speech and showed that he was greatly affected by the praise which was heaped on him. He said: "I never was so happy in all of my life, and am only sorry that I did not do more."

Miss Hazel Handy, society editor of the Oregon Journal, was called on for a few words and responded by giving great praise to this community and said that in the future she would never hesitate to boost for Ashland.

This brought the dedication to an end, but all were invited to stay for tea, which was served in the dining room. The building was opened to the public in the evening.

OREGON CAVES MAY HAVE HOTEL BUILT IN FUTURE

PORTLAND, Dec. 4.—As a result of the tremendous numbers of motor tourists visiting the Oregon caves of the Siskiyou national forest, which followed the opening last season of automobile roads there, Fred Cleator of the Oregon office of lands left Portland last night to see about utilization of state lands in that region for recreational purposes. His work will be mainly the detailed plotting of sites suitable for a proposed resort hotel, which several interested capitalists desire to erect. It is expected that a flat eight miles from the caves, but easily accessible, will be selected.

Evidence of the popularity of the caves was given during the last season when as soon as the automobile roads were completed the seasonal attendance jumped from 1100 to more than 10,000.

Josephine County Grapes Praised By California Expert

Ninety-five per cent of the grape acreage in Josephine county has been signed up in the recently organized Josephine County Grape Growers' association. County Agent H. B. Howell assisted in bringing this organization about and has since rendered some aid to the management in planning the marketing of this year's crop, which consisted of about 20 carloads, says the O. A. C. Extension News.

Josephine county grape growers, the assistance of the grape committee of the Grants Pass chamber of commerce, and the office of County Agent Howell, were recently granted a 22 per cent reduction in freight rates on grapes to Northwest points. This year's crop is being marketed through the Pacific Fruit and Produce company, which will place Josephine county grapes in all Northwest markets. It is figured that growers this year will realize about 15 cents per box more through the association plan of marketing than otherwise would have been possible. This saving will amount to approximately $3,500.

The local chamber of commerce is co-operating with growers in every effort to increase production of grapes in Josephine county and improve marketing conditions. Recently the grape committee of the chamber gave material assistance in making arrangements for a grape tour, which was attended by 125 individuals. Prominent visitors in attendance were F. B. Bioletti, chief of the division of viticulture and fruit products at the University of California; Vice-President McCormick of the Southern Pacific company; and Jules Alexander, prominent banker of Susanville, Calif., and a leading figure in California development work.

Dr. Bioletti was greatly impressed with the quality of grapes grown in the Southern Oregon district and upon his return to California prepared a lengthy article for publication in Josephine county, covering the impressions he received while there. He stated his conclusions regarding grape culture in that section of the state as follows: "The Rogue River valley can produce as fine Tokay grapes as can be grown in any country, but production will be profitable only if a wise selection is made of soil and situation and careful and skillful handling methods adopted."

"HOME TALENT" SHOW WILL BE OFFERED SOON

News comes to the Tidings to the effect that the local company, O. N. G., have been quietly working on a "home talent" minstrel show for some time past.

It seems that the committee on entertainments had planned a show of this kind and in looking around for material, it developed that the Ashland high school band had also been planning an entertainment of like nature, so it was decided to join forces and make the show that much larger and better.

ELDERLY LADY IS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. William Hardy, of Ashland street, passed quietly away Sunday evening. Although she had been declining in health for some time, her death came as a shock, for she had walked to the home of her daughter for dinner on Thanksgiving day. Mrs. Hardy was born in Steuben county, New York, about 76 years ago, and was the mother of James H. and T. F. Doran. The remains are being held at the Stock undertaking parlors pending the arrival of a grandson, Vernor Doran, and a granddaughter, Mrs. C. C. Cole, of Oakland, Calif.

Though born in the extreme eastern part of the country, Mrs. Hardy was of pioneer instincts, and moved to the frontier, then in Minnesota. Later, the call of the west was heard and she and her husband came to the northwest. She had been a resident of Ashland for the past 15 years.

PRESBY. PRAISE MEETING WELL ATTENDED SUNDAY

The praise meeting of the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church was well attended last evening. Dr. Woods, wife and three sons furnished two beautiful orchestra numbers.

The anthem by the choir, "I think when I read that sweet story of old," was most effective, and Mrs. Angell's address on "What shall I render unto God for all His benefits to me? I will take the cup of salvation." She developed the thought of to whom shall I take the cup, and why, and how, illuminating her theme with many illustrations.

A great student of world affairs sees the world conditions as a triangle; either it will soon be a western modernized heathendom, or a paganized Christendom, or a saved world. Which it shall be depends upon you and me who have the word of God. The responsibility is ours whether we face it or not.

Miss Margaret McCoy, president of the Christian Endeavor; Mrs. Fred Wilson, president of the Guild; Mrs. J. Ross, president of the Women's Missionary society, and Mrs. Lamkin, vice-president, all had part in the service. The offering goes to gospel work of the Women's Board.
