BANNER YEAR FOR SHEEP BUSINESS

DIG CLIP AND HIGH PRICES PROJESTED BY STATE BEEFMAN.

By E. H. Richey, the well known Enterprise correspondent, but unlikely to be recognized by the editors of the Tokyo Morning Post, Mr. Richey has had the opportunity of examining the efficiency of the state's sheep business in the year to come, and is confident that high prices will result.

"The sheep business in Oregon," said Mr. Richey, "is on the move. The market is strong, the weather is favorable, and the demand is great. The wool is in high favor, and the prospects are excellent."

Wants

Plants over one is in existence, and there is a good one in every county. The principal varieties are the Merino, the Shropshire, and the Suffolk. The white wool is in demand, and the black wool is in great favor. The wool is being sold at from 50 to 75 cents per pound, and the shears are in high demand. The shears are being sold at from $5 to $10 per pair, and there is a great demand for them. The shearing season is in progress, and the workers are busy.

In conclusion, the sheep business in Oregon is on the move, and the prospects are excellent. The wool is in high favor, and the prices are high. The shears are in demand, and the shearing season is in progress. The sheep business is on the move, and the prospects are excellent."
